THOUSANDS VIEW HOLIDAY PARADE

HOPE FOR PERMANENT PEACE

Engles, Salem General Hospital and Valley Packing Co. Win Cup

Salem is not one of those un fortunate communities whose people have become so effete that patriotism and its expression on patriotic holidays has fallen into disrepute. The thousands of people who turned out on Armistice day for the parade and the memorial exercises, were ample proof that the people of Salem and the surrounding territory, are not ashamed of their patriotic feel-

Two things are to be said of the Armistice day parade; it started promptly, and it was the most elaborate procession ever held here on such an occasion. The exercises in front of the courthouse, too, were thoroughly appropriate to the day. The keynote of Armistice day was sounded by Jay H. Upton, state senator from Bend, who in the address of the day declared that this holiday is not observed to honor the millions of soldiers who returned nor the hundreds of thousands who failed to return, but is a yearly reminder of the stupidity and futility of wars, and an expression of thanksgiving Cranor, leaving his hospital cot that the great war has ended and that there is hope for a cessation plan to attend and complete in the
