

FINE VAUDEVILLE COMING TO CAPITOL

Orchestra To Present Numbers; Feature Picture on Program Also

Tudor Cameron and Ruth Davis have an offering put together for laughing purposes only, consisting of comedy talk, songs, and eccentric comedy dancing of high order.

Kiku and Yoshie son and daughter of Nippon will present a characteristic Japanese novelty that combines all the various phases of acrobatics and equilibristics, under the modest title of "Japanese Novelty Equilibrists." This exceedingly clever duo exhibit in a most astounding program of feats, including an aerial perch postal contortion bill with the woman as the understander.

Gus Erdman is a song jester. Seated at the piano he tickles the risibilities of the audience with snappy jokes and catchy songs. Erdman is a real "classical nut." He is an accomplished pianist who displays marked ability in his several song numbers, which are interspersed with witty stories. From start to finish he is a scream.

Marjorie Tait and Jay Zelle are French performers billed as Les Deux Alouettes. "The Two Larks." Their act is announced as being one of the best music, singing and dance acts of the season. With accompaniment by a young lad pianist. The duo present a group of clever dances, including adagio, tap toe and eccentric Black Bottom. In addition Mr. Zelle offers a violin number. Miss Tait does a twinkling Irish song, and the pianist introduces a solo in a ravishing tempo.

The Weston's Models D'Art in "Reproductions from Famous Galleries" will complete this wonderful vaudeville bill. Their act embodies a certain educational value. They stimulate the appreciation of beauty as well as affording the best kind of entertainment.

Vicja Veccler Holman and her Capitol orchestra will be featured, and on the screen feature pictures for Friday afternoon and evening.

New Street Cry Thrills People Through London

NEW YORK.—In a dispatch from its Detroit bureau the Wall Street Journal says:

"In view of recent announcement of Ford Motor company that its assembly lines would start in a few days, the Ford cars now undergoing tests on the roads adjacent to the Ford engineering laboratory are doubtless the finished product.

"What first strikes the observer is the eye appeal of the new cars. The colored bodies and beauty of design plainly indicate that Ford has definitely abandoned his utility purposes alone. The sharp angles, height, 'thrown together' look and drabness of the old Ford have been supplanted by curves, stream lines, symmetry and variety.

"From a performance standpoint the new Ford does not lack in acceleration, fleetness and silence. The new coupe model did about 60 miles an hour with the apparent ease of a high-powered car. As it passed, the sound of the Ford motor was not distinguishable. From standpoint of performance and eye-appeal, the new Ford is not even distantly related to the 'flivver.'"

COMING TO CAPITOL THEATER

"Out All Night," Picture at Capitol

REGINALD DENNY in "OUT ALL NIGHT" A UNIVERSAL SUPER COMEDY

The Hollywood Trio, boys who play the banjo and guitar and do a little singing, get over in fine style with their snappy program.

Kube comedy and singing is offered by the Arkansas Duo. They have a number of rural songs that are clever and possess any number of verses all with the same little clever endings. A good act.

Anna Lavaska sings classical airs. She seems a bit out of place in this bill of comedy and dancing, but just the same her very fine voice brings her plenty of applause.

The Studio review features two singing and dancing girls and a chap who knows how to play the piano. He sings, too, making it a full house of songs.

Zyker and Tiger do some more singing.

NICOL AND MARTIN TO HAVE HOLLYWOOD

"Doc" Nicol has bought a half interest in the Hollywood theater with Jack Martin and from now on watch Doc and Jack go. Doc is well known throughout the state of Oregon and has a host of friends who will welcome him back to Salem. For their opening bill today they are presenting Renee Adoree in a Metro-Goldwyn production "The Flaming Forest" with this they will run a comedy news and Felix. The prices of admission will remain the same, always twenty-five cents and kiddies a dime.

"The Flaming Forest" is a Northwest Mounted Police story, full of drama, heart interest and thrills that has never been staged on the screen; one such as you have often wished for but seldom found. Monday the Tiffany Stock company appears at this theater.

His Advantage
The New Orleans man eased himself into the chair and called for a shave. The little barber was of a swarthy complexion that indicated that he might be of Latin American blood. As he stropped his razor he opened the conversation with:

"What's your opinion of this Nicaraguan situation?"
"Same as yours."
"But how do you know what mine is?"
"Don't matter. You've got the razor."

Philadelphia is a great coffee-drinking city. That's the only way folks can stay awake nights.

"Out All Night," in which Universal is starring Reginald Denny is a picture that is certain to satisfy the most ardent admirer of good clean, smooth running farce comedy.

This newest production of one of the greatest comedy stars on the screen is now at the Capitol Theater today. Not only does "Out All Night" give us plenty of good clean fun and laughs by the carload but it has some of the most thrilling incidents ever screened worked into the plot. It also offers a pretty romance and is based on a story that is entirely plausible.

Denny, as John Graham, a wealthy young bachelor falls in love with Molly O'Day, leading lady in a current musical comedy. He fails to see her after the show but later meets her in the automatic elevator of his apartment house. The elevator breaks down and when it is repaired the next morning, John and Molly step out and into a taxi headed for the marriage license bureau.

This is just the beginning of one of the funniest farce comedies ever filmed for after the wedding Molly discovers there is a clause

EDUCATION SUBJECT

SOME CHURCHES TO HOLD "TEACHERS' DAY" SERVICE

Teachers' day of National Education week will be observed today, with some of the churches holding special services in honor of the event.

There are now 192 teachers in the Salem public schools.

Oregon was eighth of the 48 states in percentage of teachers attending summer school, and Salem ranked as one of the three leading cities in the state in summer school attendance.

Schools attended were O. S. C. U. of O. U. of Washington, Willamette, Oregon Normal, Ashland Normal, California school of arts, Ashland school of arts, Belingham Normal, California teacher's college, Columbia university of Wisconsin and University of Nebraska.

Salem for a number of years has been one of the leading cities in percentage of teachers belonging to professional organizations such as the National Education association, Oregon state teachers' association, and local organizations.

Special opportunity rooms for students requiring individualized attention are provided in Salem schools, and the teachers use new progressive methods.

Throughout the week, the various schools in the city have been visited by parents to inspect the work done by their children, and the conditions under which they study. It was estimated that about 500 people attended the "open house" at Salem high school last Tuesday.

OPERA SINGER AIDS COMMUNITY CHOIRS

Only Seventeen Cities in United States Where Concerts Given Regularly

NEW YORK (AP)—Although the American people annually spend a billion dollars for music, there are only seventeen cities in the United States in which opera is given regularly and supported as a civic proposition, according to a musical survey just completed.

Government figures show that $7,000,000,000 is spent each year for music including instruments, photographs and records, and it is estimated that radio brings this total to a billion dollars yearly.

With these facts in mind to support a belief of many years, Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink will endeavor to spread the influence of music as a national institution, following her retirement at the end of the season. Her plan is to aid in the establishment of community opera and choral societies in every American community.

Choral societies are to be found generally scattered over the whole of the country, while 90 per cent of the country is practically virgin territory as far as opera is concerned, believes Mme Schumann-Heink. Traveling road companies furnish a few performances in many cities but west of the Mississippi, all on the Pacific coast.

A tabulation of 90 cities showed last season there were 650 opera performances and nearly twice as many concerts, the actual number being 1250.

During her 28 years in America, Madame Schumann-Heink has been a close observer of the American people. Excellent voices are to be found in every community, the singer has found. She herself has given auditions to hundreds during her visits in various communities.

REMOVE SOCIAL BARRIERS IN SWEDISH SCHOOLS

Program Advocates Specialization in Certain Lines of Endeavor

STOCKHOLM (AP)—All social barriers in the Swedish schools have been removed and the road to higher education will be open to any intelligent pupil, regardless of family wealth and tradition, because of a newly introduced school reform sanctioned by the Swedish Riksdag.

The program, which has many features similar to the American school system, also calls for fewer subjects on the curriculum. It advocates specialization in certain lines of study at an early stage.

The new system includes years of compulsory elementary schools, common to all classes of people; then a four-year optional secondary school, and finally a three-year "gymnasium." At the end of this, entrance examinations admitting the student to the University follows.

The chief promoter of the education reform is Verner Rydén, Minister of Education in the first Socialist Cabinet of Sweden from 1917 to 1919. Mr. Rydén is a primary school teacher from the southern province of Scania where his father was a farmer. Mr. Rydén is now working on the improvement of school books. He recently began a new History of Sweden. He feels that the peaceful advance and the cultural growth of the country has not been stressed sufficiently in the past and intends to make his work a document of constructive progress rather than a description of autocratic kings and devastating wars.

Many Americans Visit Grave of George Eliot

LONDON (AP)—George Eliot's grave is being visited this year by many American visitors.

The novelist, who died in 1850, is buried in Highgate cemetery, a fact unknown to most of her own country people. Her grave was overgrown with weeds and left un-tended for years until two ladies from Baltimore paid to have it resorted and planted with flowers.

Americans, in fact, are the principal pilgrims to honor the great novelist. Many of them pick a flower or leaf and carry it in their guide books as a souvenir of their visit.
