

LILIES OF FIELD DELIGHTS AUDIENCE

Double Love Story Proves Diverting As Presented By Moroni Olsen

By Rosella Bunch
Lilies of the Field, brilliant comedy drama, by John Hastings Turner, was presented last night at the Capitol theatre by the Moroni Olsen players...

The audience which packed the theatre enjoyed every minute of the double love story which developed in an engaging manner...

The plot concerns a highly amusing English vicar who has twin daughters, one of whom is 13 minutes older than the other...

The man appears regularly at the grandmother's home in London, as do also the crinolines. A new style in dress is started as a result...

The play receives its name from the text of a sermon amusingly repeated by the vicar.

The leading role, that of Miss Elizabeth Head, the elder twin who poses as the mid-Victorian, was taken by charming Dorothy Adams...

Byron Folsger, playing the leading male part, the Reverend John Head, quaint and unostentatious father of the twins, completely captivated the audience...

Marion Clayton received much attention as Catherine Head, the rolicking, flapper twin. Miss Clayton is new to the players this season.

The work of Moroni Olsen needs no commendation.

The stage settings for "Lilies of the Field" were most attractive and an unusually attractive diversion from the ordinary.

The first act took place in an English country vicarage and the remaining two acts in London. The furniture for the sets was copied and manufactured by an expert from authentic styles.

The Moroni Olsen players will appear in Salem again this season when they present "The Detour," "A dramatic cross section of truly rural life" by Owen David.

Musical numbers were given between acts by W. C. Thompson, organist at the Capitol theatre.

MOROCCAN SULTAN DIES

FEZ, Morocco, Nov. 17.—(AP) Mulai Youssef, sultan of Morocco and son of the Prophet Elmer the Fakhral, died today and laid in state in his native city of Fez.

Four brothers, two sons, and hired official weavers were the only companions in the death watch over the Moroccan ruler, who passed away suddenly at 3 o'clock this morning at the age of 46.

From the top of the minarets of Islamic mosques the song of the muzzin could be heard tonight: "Allah is great and he called our father to him."

Mourning in Fez—the western capital of the Moslem world—is deep and sincere, but already the tribesmen are gathering and the calds or chiefs are assembling to elect his successor.

PEKING, China.—To safeguard the age-old morals of China, Marshal Chang Tso Lin issued a mandate that feminine knees must be banished from view on the street, and any offenders who, whether by accident or otherwise, expose their knees to public gaze, must pay a $10 fine.

The first victim was a little ivory-colored miss, while crossing a street, stumbled and fell.

On August 30th the U. S. S. Tuxes became the flagship of the United States Navy, replacing the U. S. S. Seattle on its retirement to the Brooklyn Navy Yard after 22 years of service, according to an agreement made in Liberty.

SIDELIGHTS OF THE STAGE AND SCREEN

Elisnore Theater
One of the largest casts in recent years used in a motion picture not dealing with the war was drafted for the filming of "Rose of the Golden West," Georgia Fitzmaurice's epic of California in the romantic days before the gold rush when it was under Spanish rule.

More than 3,500 persons appear in the scenes of this story, a coming to the Elisnore today which tells of the love affair that turned the tide in the battle of fratricide between several world powers for possession of California. Five location trips were led by Director Fitzmaurice from the First National studio in Burbank, California, to various historical spots throughout the State.

The featured players in "Rose of the Golden West" include Mary Astor as the heroine, Gilbert Royland as the hot-blooded youthful hero, Montague Love, Gustav von Seyffertitz and Flora Finch.

An interesting vaudeville bill is scheduled for the Capitol today. The featured players in "Rose of the Golden West" include Mary Astor as the heroine, Gilbert Royland as the hot-blooded youthful hero, Montague Love, Gustav von Seyffertitz and Flora Finch.

An act that combines beauty, physical grace and a high standard of aesthetic value in Weston's Models D'Art. The three Westons, possess a cultivated appreciation of the artistic, otherwise they could not express so powerfully those things that sculptors of the world from the time of Grecian art to the present day have striven to put into marble. The Westons' Capitol theatre orchestra have been endowed by nature with rare physical beauty but their act is far more than display of shapely bodies. Their poses have the quality of spirits, inspiration and poetry.

Mr. Weston's "Marathon Pose" is grace and suggested swift movement in its most beautiful expression. Two of the poses which suggest movement in all its beauty are "Forward" and the "Call to Arms." The "Gladiator" is a noble portrayal as is the "Spartan Mother," "Music" and "Apollon" are poetic in character. With the exception of "Marathon," all the groups are presented by the three artists. The effectiveness of the act is greatly increased by the specially arranged music and lighting. Weston's Art Models embody a certain educational value; they stimulate the appreciation of beauty as well as affording the best kind of entertainment.

Gus Erdman is a song jester. Seated at the piano he tickles the risibilities of the audience with snappy jokes and catchy songs. Erdman is a real "classical act." He is an accomplished pianist who displays marked ability in his several song numbers, which are interspersed with witty stories. From start to finish he is a scream.

Tudor Cameron and Ruth Davis have an offering put together for laughing purposes only, consisting of comedy talk, songs and eccentric comedy dancing of high order. It is full of smart sayings that reach the risibilities of an audience immediately, together with comedy action and situation that universally please the most fastidious of theater-goers. A burlesque mind reading bit is the means of gathering laughs aplenty. That has all the requisites of the ideal vaudeville act—comedy talk, clever songs and unique dance steps.

On the screen—Monte Blue in "The Bush Leaguer" also Viola Holman's Capitol theatre orchestra have been endowed by nature with rare physical beauty but their act is far more than display of shapely bodies. Their poses have the quality of spirits, inspiration and poetry.

ENJOY OPEN HOUSE

MANY FROM PAPER MILL ATTEND SPORTS FEATURE
About four hundred Oregon Pulp and Paper company employees and families attended the "open house" for them at the Y. M. C. A. last night, and took advantage of all the facilities the Y had to offer.

There was swimming, diving, basketball, indoor baseball, wrestling, volleyball, and boxing to claim attention of the visitors, and a rousing time was had. R. Carter, H. Watson, Victor Ahat, and Bob White put on some excellent boxing exhibitions under direction of Stanley Frye, the Y boxing instructor.

In the swimming and diving group were Abelt, Elliott, Beatty, Harvey, and Burgess. The mechanics defeated the yard crew at volleyball; the finishing room took the long end of a 7 to 4 score from the beater room, and A. Blankenship outwrestled Bill Burgess.

Bob Boardman, physical director, acted as umpire of the sporting events, and Carl White, foreman of the yard crew, was chief announcer during the evening. The paper mill board of directors announced that they would pay half the membership fee of any employe wishing to join the Y, and indications are that many will take advantage of the offer.

Everett Marlow, 26, Gully of Manslaughter at Spokane
SPOKANE, Nov. 17.—(AP)—Everett Marlow, 26 year old mountaineer, was found guilty of manslaughter this afternoon by a superior court jury that heard his trial on a charge of murdering his father, Joe Marlow in their home on Mica Peak, in this county last September.

The elder Marlow was killed by his son with a shotgun while the two were alone in the house. The defendant claimed the gun was discharged accidentally after he had taken it from his father, who had threatened him after a three day moonshine debauch, and then had attacked him with a knife. The Marlow family has been involved in several shooting and liquor trials in recent years. The jury retired yesterday evening.

MODERN LAW PREVAILS

Old Indian Usage Goes by Board in White Man's Court
ANTLERS, Okla., Nov. 17.—(AP)—Modern law of the white man prevailed today over the old unwritten code of the Indian when Major Victor M. Locke, Jr., 51, former chieftain of the Choctaws, was sentenced to ten years in prison for killing Abner Battiest, a young tribesman.

A jury in Pushmataha county district court found him guilty of manslaughter, deciding he was not temporarily insane the night of September 16, when he took a rifle and walked to Battiest's home and shot him. Tribesmen had called upon Major Locke, high in the councils of the tribe, to uphold an Indian chief's pledge to protect womanhood, accusing Battiest with mistreatment of tribal girls. On the witness stand, Major Locke said he failed to remember the shooting of a boxing program here tonight.

BROOKLYN, N. Y.—A young woman from Brooklyn applied for annulment of her marriage to a man because, she testified, she thought him a tatty and candy manufacturer in Detroit, when she married him! Purpose to Prevent Large Companies Evading Taxes
WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—(AP)—An amendment to the revenue law designed to prevent holding corporations from evading the tax on corporation incomes was approved today by the House ways and means committee for incorporation in the tax bill, which it is now drafting.

Chairman Green said that the committee after considerable discussion approved a provision that would materially strengthen section 330 of the present act, which deals with the tax on incomes of corporations that fail to declare dividends to stockholders.

One Officer and 18 Men Killed in Fight in Mexico
MEXICO CITY, Nov. 17.—(AP)—Eighteen soldiers and one officer were killed when a large group of bandits attacked a passenger train between Palmyra and Agua Calientes, dispatches from Agua Calientes state.

FLOODS MENACE AGAIN

Devastated Section of Northern Vermont Threatened
Burlington, Vt., Nov. 17.—(AP)—Northern Vermont, still counting the cost of one disastrous flood, faced a second menace of its rivers tonight. Just two weeks from the day when a downpour of rain had set moving the worst flood in the history of the state, another rainstorm today threatened to swell the rivers to another danger point.

With the prospect of a 24 hour rainfall, the Red Cross tonight sent up the Winooksi river valley, where the floods exacted their heaviest toll of life two weeks ago, warnings of possible new trouble to come. At the behest of the weather bureau in Washington, Montpelier, Barre, Rutland, Saint Albans, and other centers also were notified.

VAST QUAKE REASON

GEOLOGICAL PHENOMENA EXPLAINED TO REALTORS
A terrific earthquake, the magnitude of which can never be fully estimated or appreciated, shook Oregon some time in the dim ages and formed the block mountain system, east of Klamath falls, the greatest of its kind in the world, causing the earth to sink in one place and leave a sheer cliff 3900 feet high, according to Professor Florian Von Eschen, head of the chemistry and geology department at Willamette university, who addressed Salem Realtors at the luncheon yesterday.

Professor Von Eschen compared the tremor with that which occurred at Long Pine, California, in 1872. There, a drop of 300 feet in the earth's crust resulted. Ninety-nine of the 104 people living in Long Pine were killed outright. One of the five survivors with whom Professor Von Eschen talked had both of his legs broken by the sudden upheaval. "If such damage resulted from a 300 foot drop, what a tremendous shaking the earth received when the 3900 foot drop was made near Klamath Falls," said the professor.

That there is oil beneath the earth's crust in Oregon was the belief expressed by Professor Von Eschen. The formation is practically the same as that in the large California oil fields. He expressed the hope that those drilling the well at Eugene would continue to the 5,000 foot mark before stopping the operation. The well drillers are now down 3300 feet, with no oil discovered.
