

TELL TALE WHISPER BRINGS HEAVY FINE

Two Daughters of St. Louis Brewer To Put Up Sum of $57,000

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—(AP). A tipster's tell tale whisper in the ear of a treasury department agent cost the widow and two daughters of Adolphus Busch, St. Louis brewer, a $57,000 fine today. The fine was for bringing undeclared clothing and jewelry into the country.

The women had made arrangements to be rubbed through the customs without baggage inspection because of the illness of the 55 year old widow.

Instead of being allowed to leave the dock at once, with their 14 pieces of baggage, the younger women were searched by women inspectors and their baggage thoroughly examined. Nothing was found on their persons, but so many undeclared articles were discovered in bags and trunks that all their possessions were seized and sent to the appraisers' store for valuation.

Although little definite information could be gleaned concerning the manner in which the names of Mrs. Bush and her daughters happened to get on the treasury department suspect list, it was reported on good authority that a traveler returned ahead of them and had been the informant. The tipster will be eligible for a reward of $14,000, and his, or her, identity will not be revealed by the officials.

TRACKED "FIDGET" TO ITS LAIR

After three months in Samoa, studying the "Fiji Fidget," dance novelty, which promises to be the rage the coming winter, Miss Vera Gillogley, of San Francisco, has returned to the United States, bringing with her a "Meke" (pronounced Mickey) costume, made of grass and coconut threads.

SIDELIGHTS OF THE STAGE AND SCREEN

ELSINORE THEATRE
The most romantic period in the history of California, the years just preceding the discovery of gold when the dons of Spain ruled the land and estates were measured in hundreds of miles, lives again in "Rose of the Golden West," now at the Elsinore theatre.

It was then that Russia, United States and other powers sought possession of California, and this screen tale, depicts the dramatic love affair that counted heavily in the outcome of the international intrigue.

Practically every scene of the picture was filmed by Director George Fitzmaurice on the exact spot where the original action took place 71 years ago.

Monterey, the first capital of California, and four of the famous California missions from the background of the story.
Mary Astor appears as the heroine and Gilbert Roland, descended from a long line of Spanish adventure lovers, is the hero. Montagu Love, Gustav von Seyffertitz and Flora Finch also are featured in this First National picture tale.

CAPITOL THEATRE
Bligh's Capitol will offer Singers Capitol Musical Comedy company today, afternoon and evening. This company has been enlarged with a new chorus, one of the features with the show is Helen Rodolph who just recently joined the company. Mr. Singer, the comedian different, is still winning new friends, he does mostly all rube parts in the show, commonly known as "Bozo." Special stage lighting and scenic effects will be used with the show today. On the screen will be Beesie Love and John Gilbert in "St. Elmo."

FIELD AGENT PLAN

OREGON EDITORIAL ASSOCIATION TO HAVE WORKER

Announcement of the selection of a field agent who will operate under the direction of the Oregon State Editorial Association, probably will be made within the next six weeks, according to Hal Hoss, secretary of the organization.

Mr. Hoss explained that while the employment of the field agent was contingent upon raising sufficient funds, a large amount of the money necessary to operate the department already has been pledged. It was said that newspaper publishers of Oregon would be assessed an average of $3 per month.

Employment of the field agent was authorized at a meeting of the executive committee of the state editorial association at a meeting held at Corvallis recently.

The field agent would serve in an advisory capacity, and would take over much of the work of the editorial association now handled by Mr. Hoss.

Methodist Church Ladies Give Dinner for Society

INDEPENDENCE, Nov. 18.—(Special).—The ladies of the Methodist church gave a dinner in the dining room of the church Wednesday evening for the benefit of the Ladies Aid society of the church. A large crowd participated and a considerable sum was raised. A feature of the evening was the entertainment of the five hundred club by Mrs. B. F. Swopes. There were about forty members present. They afterwards repaired to the home of Mrs. Walker for an evening of cards.

Ben Smith, manager of the Spaulding Logging company's office, was a Salem visitor Thursday. Glen Smith, assistant cashier and bookkeeper of the Farmers State bank, made a business trip to Valest Thursday.

Mrs. M. A. Young of Hoskins was transacting business in Independence Thursday.

Ross H. Nelson of the Iris theatre was a Portland business visitor Thursday.

Jefferson High School's Annual Carnival Success

JEFFERSON, Nov. 18.—(Special).—The third annual carnival of the Jefferson high school was a decided success with receipts of $128 during the day. About 90 will be realized by the high school as clear profit. This is just double the amount made on the second annual carnival.

Each class chose a season and decorated its booths and sold food according to the season. The senior class won a five dollar prize for having the best booth. They chose fall and decorated with fall leaves, corn, pumpkins, fall fruit etc. Cider and popcorn was sold at this booth.

The juniors decorated their booth to represent winter. They sold tamales and chili con carne. The sophomores sold hot dogs at their stand. They chose spring. The freshmen decorated their summer booth with their class colors. They sold ice cream and candy.

The captive girls and girls' league also had stands as well as the seventh and eighth grades.

Benefit Dance Planned For Victims of Blaze

INDEPENDENCE, Nov. 18.—(Special).—A benefit dance is to be given by the Woodmen at the Kent hall two miles north of Independence, for the Reed Wattenberger family, who lost their home and belongings by fire this week.

Tickets are being sold for the dance by members of the lodge. The management of the hall have donated its use, and the Wunden orchestra members are donating their services.

Mr. Wattenberger is an energetic young man, an employe of the Independence Laundry, and the recent fire has been a hard blow to him and his family.

They had recently remodeled their home and had all of their winter supplies in. The house and contents were a total loss.

Brick Building Planned Where Structure Burned

WOODBURN, Nov. 18.—(Special).—John Alguire has purchased of Joe Henzel of Portland the site on Front street where a fire on October 23 destroyed the Yates barbershop and Fowler restaurant. The consideration was $2500 with all city assessments and taxes paid. The size of the lot is 35 by 100 and it is a valuable location.

Mr. Alguire is clearing it of the debris and will construct a brick building for rental purposes. He has several offers from parties wishing to rent, but has not decided to make it one or two rooms.

Schubert Ocotette Billed For Concert At Turner

TURNER, Nov. 18.—(Special).—The Schubert octette of Salem will give one of its fine entertainments at the Turner school auditorium on Friday night, November 22, at 8 o'clock. This group of singers have attracted large audiences wherever they have exhibited their talent. Miss Eleanor Moore, a former Turner girl, is a member of this organization.

HAWAII SUPPLANTS NIAGARA

These five brides and their five brand new husbands formed what seems to be the year's oddest honeymoon party—10 newlyweds passing their honeymoon on the same trip together. The brides who chose a round trip from Los Angeles to the Hawaiian Islands for their wedding journey, are left to right, Mesdames Joseph Horton, A. G. Neff, Matt Binning, Louis Brasch and Herbert Forsch.

Mr. Chenery, in company with Mr. Jack Helwick, vice president and Mr. Gram, chief engineer of the Oregon-Washington Water Service company, visited the Salem properties the first of the week and plants to complete his inspection trip of the coast properties this week and leave for New York on Sunday.

PICKS RASPBERRIES

DALLAS MAN HAS THEM FRESH FOR THANKSGIVING

DALLAS, Nov. 18.—(Special).—Red raspberries, perfectly ripened and colored, are being picked now by C. M. Cahill from vines at his home on south Main street.

The berries are the product of an everbearing raspberry and not the chance product of an open fall. He has picked several boxes recently for market and others will be ripe for Thanksgiving unless a heavy frost comes. The frost of October 31 did not damage the vines.

The evergreen berries bear in the spring at the same season as other raspberries, and later in the summer the new growth begins to produce fruit and continues until freezing weather. Mr. Cahill secured his vines at considerable expense and has dug out his other raspberries in their favor.

PLAN REFINANCING

RECLAMATION COMMISSION LEAVES FOR GRANTS PASS

Members of the state reclamation commission left here last night for Grants Pass where they will hold a conference with the directors of the Grants Pass Irrigation district and the bondholders. The purpose of the conference is to discuss plans for refinancing the district.

It was said that the Grants Pass Irrigation district is solvent, but that additional time is necessary in which to meet its obligations. The bondholders were said to have expressed a willingness to cooperate with the state to the end that the project may be placed on a sound financial footing.

The reclamation commission was accompanied to Grants Pass by Rhea Luper, state engineer, and other officials. There are approximately 1100 settlers in the district.
