

CROWD EXPECTED AT SNIKPOH PLAY

Famous Broadway Success To Be Given Tonight At S.H.S. Auditorium

Unusual interest has developed over tonight's production of the famous Broadway comedy success, "We've Got to Have Money," by Edward Laska, to a great extent because the popular play is being staged by the Snikpoh dramatic club of Salem high school which has sponsored highly successful plays in past years.

Indications are that the auditorium will be filled when the play starts at eight o'clock for the title and fame of the play have started a lot of favorable comment. The hero of this rollicking comedy, played by George Beecher, is a snappy young fellow whose guardian and fiancée in the South believe he is studying hard at Columbia university. Actually, however, he is doing his college work by proxy. He has switched names with his roommate, a penniless but gifted young man whose expenses he is paying. In this arrangement, the earnest student gets a free education and the sport gets a diploma and honors in classical subjects—while leading a jazz career on Broadway and acquiring a branch of promise suit.

The guardian and fiancée arrive unexpectedly at commencement—a process server hands Dave a summons in the breach of promise suit, and the beans are spilled. Good-bye sweet affection! Good-bye, liberal allowance. The young man sets up in business as a promoter of geniuses—people with invention and ideas, but no money. He has no money, either, but has lots of nerve and bluff.

Before long, the youthful financier has revolutionized the shoe business and the paint business, and has brought his guardian to terms by saving him from a crooked deal. After that, it's a simple matter to acquire ownership of the girl who threw him down.

Maxine Myers plays the part of "the girl," and the characterization of Tom Campbell, the poor but gifted young man, is taken by Alden Reeder. Others in the lengthy cast are Lawrence Marquis, Frank Shafer, Marvin Headrick, Milo Ross, Gerald Simpson, Roy Maden, David Eyre, Olin Bowes, Charles Bier, Carlton Roth, Raymond Busick, Ivan Kafoury, Eleanor Wright, Julia Creech, Caryl Braden, and Virginia Page.

George Lloyd is manager, Carlton Roth is stage manager, and Homer Smith handles the props. The play is coached by Miss Letha Johnson, assisted by Billie Cupper.

WETS HAVE SCHEME FOR EVASION OF LAW

(Continued from page 1) distribute to householders in whose hands "nature" might take its course." George L. Winkler, deputy prohibition commissioner for Indiana, gave voice to the opposite view. "This verdict does not change the law one jot or tittle," he said. "It has no legal effect and so far as this department is concerned, no practical effect. We do not know what went on in the jury's mind. Perhaps they did not even determine whether such distribution was lawful. They may have concluded that only that there was no conspiracy among these men. Enforcement will go on as usual."

The overt act charged in the conspiracy indictment against the quartet was the sale of a five-gallon keg of unfermented grape juice of lawful alcoholic content to Miss Helen Arderly, stenographer in Winkler's office. This keg was placed in a room of normal temperature, its contents exposed to the air, and frequent tests made of its mounting alcoholic content. After twenty-five days, Winkler said at the trial, the samples taken from the keg showed 12.85 per cent content of alcohol by volume.

G. O. P. GATHERS FOR SELECTION OF CITY

(Continued from page 1) congress may not have adjourned when the convention opens. In all, a dozen cities are after the convention. Early discussion also tended to place the date for the convention at about June 12. As usual it is expected to be held before the quadrennial meeting of the democrats.

Murtaugh Pleads Guilty Attorney General Learns

John Murtaugh, who recently was returned to New York on a charge of failing to support his wife and minor child, has pleaded guilty, according to information received at the offices of the attorney general.

Following his arrest in Marion county Murtaugh demanded an extradition hearing, on the grounds that he had contributed liberally for the support of Mrs. Murtaugh and her child. Governor Patterson ruled against the prisoner and issued papers authorizing his return to New York. Murtaugh later sought his release through habeas corpus proceedings filed in the local courts. Judge Percy Kelly, who heard the habeas corpus proceedings, affirmed the action of Governor Patterson.

3 YOUTHS PAROLED

JUVENILE COURT CASES FACE NEW COUNTY JUDGE

The principal thing that occupied the attention of County Judge John C. Stegmann yesterday—his first day in office—was the consideration and disposal of the cases of four delinquent boys who were arrested by Chief of Police L. M. Barnett of Silverton, Monday, brought here and turned over to Mrs. Nona White, county probation officer. All but one was paroled.

The Chalmers boy was paroled to his father with the understanding that restitution will be made for the money stolen by the lad when the quartet broke into a Silverton bakery and robbed the till of some twenty odd dollars. The Carateson boy, aged 11, was paroled to his sister, Mrs. Fred Lang of McCleary. Ernest Sandberg 13, was paroled to his uncle, John Williams, of Eugene. Mr. Williams has not been consulted about the matter, however, and if he refuses to accept the care of the lad nothing is left but to commit him to the state training school.

Wayne Anderson, 11, has been held over for further consideration of his case. Judge Stegmann wants to avoid committing either him or any one of the boys to a reform school and for this reason is doing all in his power to try to find some other way out. The lad's father has been sent for and will confer with the county court relative to a disposal of his son's case.

Just one sample of this epoch-making automobile was available for display in Salem, but pictures and full descriptions of the other models will be on hand, and the expectant automotive world is expected to throng the Valley Motor Co. garage as no private business quarters have ever been crowded before in Salem.

In order to give the public an opportunity to see and learn about the new Ford car, the management of the Valley Motor Co. has arranged for a public reception today, and invites the people of Salem and vicinity to attend.
