MERCHANTS PEEVED REFUSE TO USE LIGHTS WHEN TAXES LEVIED PARIS, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Angry merchants of Boulogne Sur Mer have stopped using electric lights in their shops to spite the city government for imposing a long string of new taxes on them. For two nights—and night falls at 4:30 o'clock these days—the places of business and butchers, bakers and candle stick makers have had the sombre air they knew 100 years ago with flickering candles and dim coal oil lamps supplying the illumination.

ATLANTIC CITY, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Fake universities dealing in fraudulent degrees, sold principally to glibble clergymen, can be reached and eliminated most easily through the publishers of their misleading advertising, W. E. Humphrey, chairman of the federal trade commission said in an address prepared for delivery today to the Association of American colleges in session here. Characterizing these "diploma mills" as fakes, frauds and pirates, Mr. Humphrey declared they were libels on education and a travesty upon honesty and fair dealings. The only requirement for graduation from these schools, he said, is cash.
