Interesting Beethoven Program Given at Meeting of Salem Woman's Club

One of the most interesting meetings of the entire club year was held Saturday afternoon by the Salem Woman's club. The program which featured the life and works of Beethoven was presented by the Fine Arts department of which Mrs. Carl Gregg Doney is general chairman.

Mrs. Doney introduced the speaker of the afternoon, Miss Frances Virginia Melton, head of the piano department of Willamette University. Miss Melton read a highly entertaining paper entitled, "The Genius and Musical legacy of Beethoven."

"Although the centennial of Beethoven's death was observed last March, he still ranks as the world's greatest composer," said Miss Melton.

"Three great passions ruled his life: love of women, love of nature, and love of country. Each found expression in his music. His greatest achievement was the perfecting of the sonata of which he wrote more than thirty. Beethoven founded the sonata in its infancy, nurtured it, wrote it in perfection and crowned it with immortality," said Miss Melton in describing the life and works of this foremost composer.

Musical numbers added greatly to the pleasure of the program. Miss Iva Clair Love, violinist, accompanied by Miss Evangeline Hall, played two solos, "Romance" and "Scherzo, F Major, Sonata," Miss Betty Corskie played the "Moonlight Sonata" as a piano solo.

At the business session which followed the program it was decided to hold a reception for the new club members on Friday afternoon, January twentieth, at the clubhouse. The committee in charge includes: Mrs. Karl Becker, Mrs. John Rand, Mrs. Harry Love, Mrs. C. F. Hamilton, and Mrs. Harry J. Weidner.

One hundred and six dollars, half of the amount arised in the bazaar sponsored in the fall by the hospital department of the Salem Woman's club, was turned over to the Salem General Hospital to be used in furnishing the children's ward.

The following resolutions were passed for Mrs. O. E. Price whose death occurred last week:

Whereas, we desire to record our appreciation of the late Mrs. O. E. Price, a valued member of the Salem Woman's club, who so efficiently served as treasurer to any call in which her services might be of assistance.

Resolved: that, we greatly feel the loss to our organization of so capable and gracious a member, and that her memory will be an inspiration throughout the year;

Resolved: that, the above resolutions shall be spread on the minutes of the club, that a copy be sent to her family, and a copy be forwarded to the press.
