

U. OF CAL. TO GET MILLION AND HALF

Italian Born of Poor Parents Gives Income For Year To School

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 23.—(AP)—A. P. Giannini, born 57 years ago in a humble rooming house in San Jose, Cal., of poor Italian parents, today placed his 1927 income, $1,500,000 as president of the Bancitaly corporation, at the disposal of the University of California.

Announcement of the gift was made by James A. Baccigalupi, president of the Bank of Italy, major enterprise of the Bancitaly corporation, in behalf of the corporation's executive committee.

Due to his modesty Mr. Giannini left town last night for New York to avoid effects of local publicity incident to the endowment.

The action, Mr. Baccigalupi said, was taken after Mr. Giannini had declined to accept five per cent of the 1927 profits of the Bancitaly corporation as his share of the earnings and expressed the wish that the money be used to aid the agricultural interests of the state. It also was taken as a means of honoring the founder of the Bank of Italy, fourth largest banking institution in the United States. The Bank of Italy has 289 branches in California and the Bancitaly corporation, which he also founded, has stock in many other banks over the country.

Under the terms of the gift $1,000,000 will go toward the establishment of the Giannini Foundation of Agricultural Economics and $500,000 will be used for erection of a building on the university campus in Berkeley, dedicated to ways and means of relieving and improving the economic condition of farmers, dairy and livestock men and fruit growers in California.

Mr. Baccigalupi said the gift was in recognition of the support accorded to the Bank of Italy corporation by the people of California and was also particularly appropriate in view of Mr. Giannini's long association with the people it will benefit most directly.

YOUTHS COMMITTED

STOUTENBERG AND SILLS TO TRAINING SCHOOL

Raymond Stoutenberg of Dayton and Macel Sills of 555 Center street, Salem, will be transferred from the Marion county jail to the state training school today as amateur criminals and members of a group that indulged in depredations in automobiles here for several months. Commitments for the pair were handed down in juvenile court here yesterday.

Of Stoutenberg the court finds that he "persistently refuses to obey family discipline, is growing up in idleness and crime, and did take from different automobiles, one kodak, one coat, one sweater and seven flashlights." Stoutenberg is 15 years of age.

The charge against Sills is similar, asserting that he "persistently refuses to submit to family discipline, is growing up in idleness and crime, and did take, steal and carry away from automobiles parked around town, two dozen pearl handled knives, one sheep skin coat, one red sweater and one flashlight."

Ten Recent Normal Grads Given Teaching Positions

OREGON NORMAL SCHOOL, Monmouth, Jan. 23.—(Special)—Through the services of the appointment bureau at the Monmouth Normal school ten students have secured teaching positions and begun their work this month, according to the secretary of the bureau.

Six of these students who graduated from the Normal in December, are now teaching in the following schools: Mrs. Florence Steele Stewart at Elkton; Marjorie Lord at Toledo; Margaret Armstrong, Silverton; Dorothy Rodman, Seilo; Clarice McConnell, Rainier and Theoda Gribble, North Bend. Others accepting schools this month are: Naomi Huggins, Eddyville; Ruth Cochran, Hood River; Arlene Kennedy, Marshfield and William Harvey as principal of a four-room school in Columbia county.

POWER BIG FACTOR

PORTLAND CHAMBER MAN ADDRESSES LUNCHEON

The greatest development of the country in the future will be based on electrical energy, and Oregon has that potential power, George H. Wisting, director of the Industrial department of the Portland chamber of commerce, told members of the Salem chamber of commerce yesterday.

Portland and surrounding area have a market of 3,450,000 people within its area, and can serve more than one million more people to better advantage than can other cities of the Pacific coast. Goods from Portland can be delivered to San Francisco at less cost than they can from Los Angeles, Mr. Wisting declared.

Four basic elements must be considered by a city in deciding whether it is a suitable location for industrial plants, according to Wisting. They are transportation facilities, labor conditions, availability of raw materials, and scope of markets. Officials of industrial concerns pay attention to these four things in determining their locations for factories.

The department of commerce has been prevailed upon to make an unbiased study of trade conditions in the Portland area, which when completed will be used in sales talks to get manufacturers to locate here.

In its zeal to advertise the state as a scenic playground with wide expanses for incomparable golf courses, Oregon has overlooked setting the easterners know its industrial advantages, Wisting stated. When the easterner thinks of the Pacific coast in a business sense, Seattle comes into mind because of the tremendous quantity of silks handled through there from the orient. Oregon must be put on the map in a business way if it expects to attract investing capital, Wisting concluded.

YOUTHS GOOD COOKS

SILVERTON, Jan. 23.—(Special)—The Kennell-Ellis photographic studio here has been reopened by Miss Catherine Gaylord, who has been away for several weeks, while the studio was closed for remodeling. The studio is now permanently open and ready for business, and is located in the Masonic building.

TROTSKY PROTESTS EXILE FROM PARTY

Bolshevik Leader and Companions Make Appeal for Reinstatement

BERLIN, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Leon Trotsky and his exiled companions have made a formal protest and appeal to the communists international for reinstatement in the party.

The appeal, which was not permitted publication in Russia, is published in the socialist newspaper Vorwaerts here. The document lengthily sets forth Trotsky's view and complaint. It says: "We, old bolshevik party workers, have been sent to the uttermost parts of the Soviet union by a gajpayou decree, without any charges brought against us with the sole purpose of severing us from the sixth communist international congress."

"We submit to force and leave our party work for a purposeless exile, but we are confident that we shall reappear in the coming great battle."

Trotsky and his companions assert that the important principle now at stake is the dictatorship of the proletariat and that the communist international all along has been having accomplished facts placed before it without reasons being given for the measures taken by those now in power.

The appeal admits justification of repressive measures, but only as they are directed against the enemies of the proletariat, and continues: "The deportation of us soldiers of the October revolution and brothers-in-arms of Lenin shows how far the process of class mutation and the trend towards opportunism have gone."
