

College Rooks Defeat Salem High 22 to 13, Overcoming Early Lead

DRAGER HELPS BEAT FORMER TEAMMATES

With Lyons, Salem center, dead on his feet from playing a rough game at Independence the night before, Salem high school dropped a basketball tilt to the Oregon state college rooks last night, 22 to 13.

The Red and Black basketball marksmen led throughout the first quarter by six points but when the half ended the score stood tied at eight-all. The Rooks opened up in the second half and goaled three times from a corner play, Ballard slipping under the basket for cripples. Salem never again held the lead, manking to toss only one basket in this frame.

Bob Drager, who played on the Salem high team last year, helped to down his former team mates with three field goals and a free throw.

Another player on the Rook team well known to Salemites was Anderson, a guard, who has played in the state tournament here several times for Medford high school.

The Rooks played a modified percentage style and after building up a slight lead in the second half began to stall with the ball to draw out Salem's defense. When an attractive opening presented itself, the men broke quickly for the basket.

Coch Anderson made only one substitution, sending in Kafoury for Charles Kelly in the fourth quarter. Kafoury "hawked" the ball well and the Salem players made a concerted attempt to score in the last few minutes without success.

The two teams play again next Saturday evening at Corvallis. With the line-up strengthened by the addition of Tom Duffy, all-state forward, the Salem team has a better chance for victory.

BEARKITTENS BEAT MILITARY ACADEMY

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 25.—(Special)—The scoring power of Adams, forward, enabled the Willamette university freshmen to defeat Hill Military academy on the Coliseum floor here this afternoon, 36 to 23, in a fast, well-played game.

Adams was able to connect from almost any position on the floor and rolled up a high total of 21 points.

At half time, the score was 18 to 8 for the freshmen. The cadets then staged a brilliant rally which brought them to within three points of the Bearkittens' total. Then Willamette got under way again and romped away with the score.

WHITMAN GETS COOS HOOP STAR SMALLER SCHOOLS STRENGTHENED

By Victor D. Carlson

Whitman college slipped a clever or one over on Oregon institutions when it reached out to Marshfield and enrolled Kenneth Norberg. This lad, who has unusual inherent and developed ability to cage the oval, played for Marshfield in the state tournament here last March. He was the "it" of the Coos boys players. In the first game against Franklin high of Portland, he collected 17 of his team's 34 points. In the consolation tournament game with Medford, which the southern Oregonians won 29 to 9, Norberg scored five of the nine points.

Under the tutelage of "Nik" Borleske he has made great strides this year, and has been high point man in almost every game Whitman has played. He will be a part of the great strength Willamette must face at Walla Walla early in February.

The smaller northwest colleges, particularly the three which have "Nik" Borleske, "Spec" Keene, and "Cac" Hubbard at the helm of their physical education departments, have rivalled their larger brothers in going after basketball players this season. That the three schools have teams superior to many of the coast conference teams goes undisputed.

Whitman dropped Oregon, and Puget Sound trampled on Washington, doped as northwest section winner. Willamette showed Oregon a good time at Eugene, and plenty of Salem fans are willing to wager that the Bearcats defeat the Webfoots here next Tuesday evening. They point out that Cardinal was not in condition to play at Eugene on account of his injured ankle. He did go into the second game, it is true, but only with instructions from Keene not to break for the basket, as is his wont, for the fear that he would injure his weakened ankle again and keep him out of the conference clash with Pacific.

An unusual feature this season is that these three schools have a competent array of substitutes. In past years, the coaches were content to find five men who could play, develop them into a team, and use them in every game. If one of them were injured, the chances of the team to win generally dropped heavily.

At Walla Walla, Borleske is playing Woods, high point man in the conference last year, at forward. Woods comes from Clarkston, Washington, and this is his third year on the team. Norberg of experience gained has enabled the Staters to wipe out the red ink score since their return. The Staters meet Washington at Corvallis Friday, January 27. Below are the average scores per game for the seven leading tally gainers.

Points	Avg.	Gms.
Bill Burr 218	11.47	19
Carl Aase 79	4.16	19
Bud Wascher 78	3.90	20
Don Hartung 75	3.57	21
Mush Torson 70	3.50	20
Tommy Mathews 68	3.40	20
Jack Savory 62	3.26	19

From the super-varsity of last season, there are Periske and McKenny, guards.

Puget Sound is at a disadvantage this season as games against the two great rivals, Whitman and Willamette, are all played away from home. The only conference games Puget Sound has on the Tacoma floor are two against Pacific. The Loggers play Gonzaga at Spokane, January 30, and Whitman at Walla Walla, February 1 and 2. The Loggers appear in Salem February 17 and 18.

Others on the Webfoot freshman team who may play Saturday night are Elbert Betts and Elmer Pahl, both of Pendleton; Cordis Barber, Bend; Bill Yeast, Salem; DuFoy Montgomery, Myrtle Point; Ed Dvorak, William Pittman and Max Rubenstein of Eugene and Jerry Lillie, Frank Andrews, Ted Parker, George Will, Paul Walgren, and John Yerovich, all of Portland. This game will be a preliminary to the varsity contest between the two schools.

GORDON NOT ABLE TO FIGHT HERE STN

Matchmaker Harry Plant late yesterday afternoon received word from Seattle that Willie Gordon would be unable to fight here February 8, on account of a sudden postponement of the fight in Tacoma. The Tacoma fight is now set for February 9, and it would be impossible, of course, for Gordon to appear here the night before.

The army will not be available February 13 to the 25, on account of the Better Homes week exposition, and the charity show the week following. Rather than delay having a show until after this period, Plant plans to line up another head-liner for a card here February 8 as originally planned, and hold the Bayes-Gordon set-to at some future date, probably two weeks later.

Plant is considering a bout between Battling Slim and the Eskimo, Cleghorn, from Biddy Bishop's stable in Seattle. Cleghorn isn't much on science but is a wicked slugger and would show Battling Slim plenty of action for the crowd's entertainment.

HAROLD OLINGER FROSH REGULAR

EUGENE, Ore., Jan. 25.—(Special)—Although the game against the Washington freshmen here Saturday night is only a few days away, Spike Leslie, coach of the Oregon yearlings, has not yet selected his starting lineup. The Webfoot freshmen played three games last week on their first road trip and won all. They defeated Ashland high school 37 to 21, Medford high, 25 to 19, and Klamath Falls American Legion, 44 to 25.

The most effective combination consisted of Albert Makinen of Astoria and Woodward Archer of Medford, forwards; Gene Eberhart, Eugene, center; and Harold Olinger, Salem, and Cliff Horner, Eugene, guards. Winsor Calkins of Eugene also did well and may play part of the time against the Husky babes.

Others on the Webfoot fresh-

OVERTIME PERIODS GIVE PARRISH WIN

TURNER, Ore., Jan. 25.—(Special)—Parrish junior high school romped away with victory over Turner high school here tonight, 35 to 32, in a game which required three overtime periods to settle.

The regular play ended with the score tied, 29-29. In the first overtime period, neither team scored; in the second, each got a basket; and in the third, Kitchen was fouled in the act of shooting, so got a basket and converted two free throws to swing the victory. Turner got only a free throw in this period.

The Turner boys played with abandon in an effort to avenge the 14-0 football defeat Parrish handed them last fall, but could not down the junior high players who were on a scoring spree. James, Parrish guard, played an exceptionally fine game.

The summary:
Parrish (35) Turner (32)
Kitchen (7) (3) Pearson
James (9) (12) Briggs
Dietz (8) C (12) W. Pearson
Burgess (3) (2) Givens
Pettit (8) (3) Enslay

REISELT WINNER BILLIARD MATCH

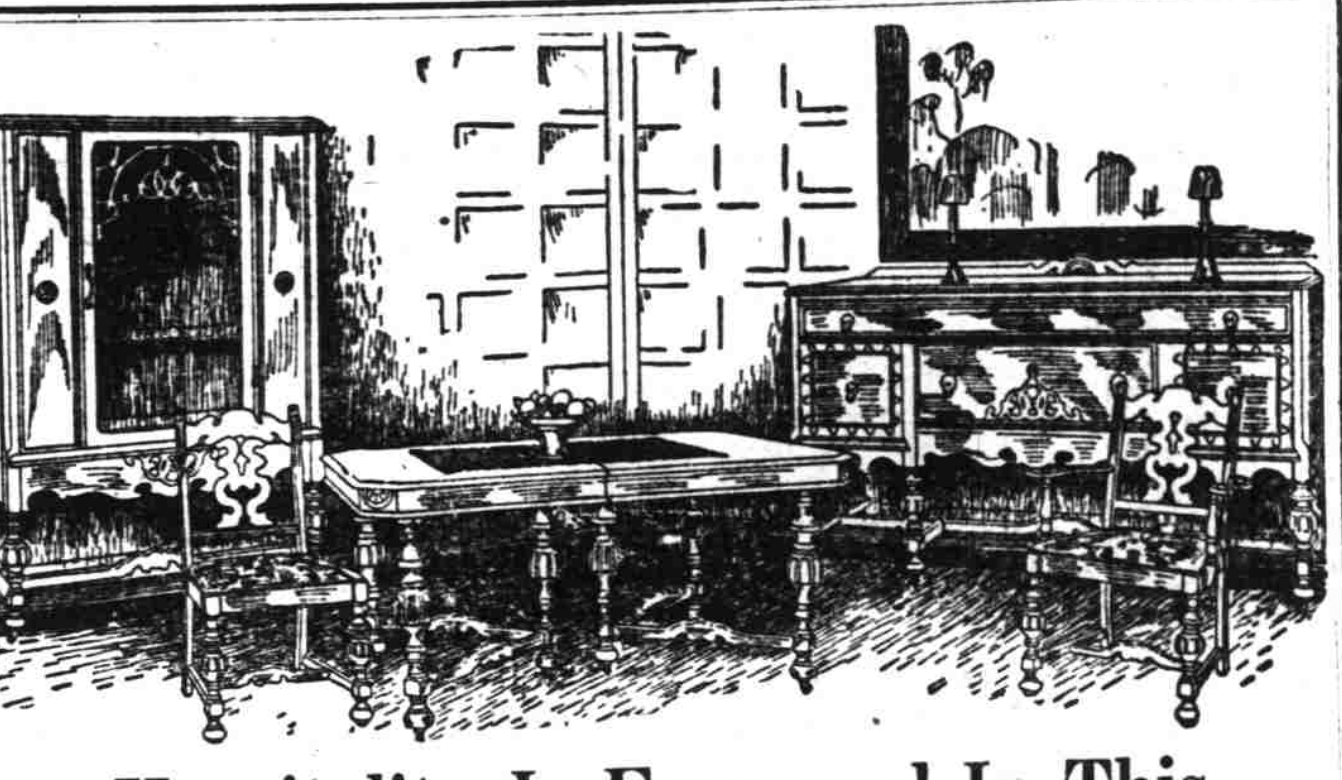

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 25.—(AP)—Playing in brilliant form, Otto Reisel, Philadelphia, defending his world's three cushion billiard title tonight won the third straight block of his 300 point match against Tiff Denton of Kansas City. The score, 60 to 33, gave Reisel a lead of 62 points at the half way mark.

CARD FIVE WINS ROUGH HOOP TILT

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Cal., Jan. 25.—(AP)—In a rough and tumble game in which a total of 32 personal fouls were called and two men were removed from the game, the basketball team of Stanford university defeated the quintet of St. Ignatius college of San Francisco here tonight, 30 to 24.

Principal J. C. Nelson will not be able to attend, but Coach Louie Anderson and Athletic Manager Lyons will motor to Albany for the session.

Coach Anderson wishes to schedule West Linn, Corvallis, Eugene, Albany, and perhaps one or two smaller schools.
