

Conference Season on Home Floor Opens for Willamette U. Saturday

BEARCATS FACING TWO STIFF GAMES

Two stiff games face the Willamette Bearcats within the next five days, both in Salem. The Linfield Wildcats come Saturday night, and the University of Oregon Webfoots are scheduled for next Tuesday.

Coach Keene's team has improved with every game, and last Saturday against Columbia received a close-checking defense which kept the Cliffdwellers from a single goal in the second half. The percentage of baskets converted was a bit low as Cardinal missed several crumples.

A feature of that game was the capable manner in which Fleisher, guard, performed. Fleisher is playing his third year on the squad and has shown improvement each year. Cardinal's performance has largely in Keene's starting line-up been creditable in every game played. Others who will figure are Hauk, DePoe, Ledbetter, and Litchfield.

The loss of Robert Ashby from the squad has been offset to an extent by the addition of Dwight Adams, former Salem high star. Adams scored 21 points for the freshmen in a tilt against Hill Military Academy Wednesday night and has earned a place on the varsity squad.

Ashby was forced to quit school on account of his work downtown. The Wildcats are bringing to Salem a stronger lineup than in any previous year. Coach Larry Wolfe has only two lettermen on his team, but despite this handicap has built up a combination which has won five consecutive victories over Reed, Pacific college, Pacific university, Albany college, and Chemawa Indian school.

The two Wildcat lettermen are "Pill" Warren, forward, and Bern, Martyn, substitute. "Hump" Agee, though not a letterman, was elected captain of this year's quintet.

Coach Keene is taking the game seriously in keeping with his plan to "win one game at a time." The game will be preceded by a game between the freshmen and a Portland high school.

Great interest is attaching to the Oregon-Willamette game Tuesday evening. Salem high and the Oregon Frosh will play the preliminary, and one of the largest basketball crowds in history of the sport in Salem is expected to turn out. In previous years, Oregon has been doped to win by a wide margin, but not so now. Willamette's showing against the Webfoots in two early season tilts, has encouraged the local fans to believe that the Bearcats may score an upset on the local floor. At any rate, it will be a torrid game.

LOSE TO SCRUBS, BEAT VARSITY LOGGERS RATED FASTEST QUINT BOARDMAN RECALLS FRANK LUKE

By Victor D. Carlson
"If University of Washington uses its first string against us tonight, we will beat them, but if the second string men play us, I don't know."

This, in effect, was what "Cac" Hubbard, Puget Sound mentor, wrote to Coach "Spec" Keene at Willamette just the day before his team played the first game against the Huskies.

A startling observation to make; one might even label it nonsensical.

Yet, what happened? Washington played its second and third string players throughout the game and the Loggers lost 31 to 20.

What happened three days later? The Huskies, fearful of the strength evidenced in the first string, started the first string. And the Loggers smothered them under a 35 to 21 score with their fast breaking offense.

"Psychology," Coach Keene says.

Puget Sound, playing in Washington's immense pavilion with thousands of Seattle fans cheering for the Huskies; and humbled at the fact that it merited opposition only of Washington's poorer players, lost.

The Loggers, playing in their own gymnasium with the crowd behind them, instilled with the belief that "Washington wasn't much after all," got "hot," and won.

It wasn't a fluke victory. George Varnell, prominent Seattle sport critic who officiated at the game, has this to say: "Any team would have a hard time beating Puget Sound."

Roscoe Torrance, former assistant graduate manager at University of Washington, vouchsafed this: "Puget Sound probably has the strongest team in the northwest this season."

And the remarkable fact is, that "Cac" Hubbard predicted his own defeat and his own victory.

Whether the Loggers' strength is mythical or real will be an interesting revelation next Wednesday and Thursday at Walla Walla when they meet the Missionaries. Both aggregations will exert utmost efforts for the games are conference games and the title may hinge on their outcome.

Ken Williams, Grants Pass home run star, is now a full-fledged member of the Boston Americans. He mailed his contract, duly signed, last Tuesday. Ken was traded to Boston by the St. Louis Browns some time ago, but his contract arrived only recently. The contract stipulated even better terms than he had with the Browns, so Ken had no time in signing it. No definite date has yet been set when the Boston team will be called to start spring practices.

The exploits of Frank Luke, Jr., "the brave, mad filer of Arizona," as they now are appearing in serial story form in the Liberty magazine, are known firsthand by Robert Boardman, physical director at the YMCA.

Boardman was assistant football coach at Phoenix, Arizona high school, when Luke was playing brilliant football there.

When Luke joined the aviation corps and went "over there," to do his bit by bringing down German aces, Boardman was at the same army camp.

Luke's exploits, which Boardman believes are highly colored by the author, Norman S. Hall, were many and varied.

He attempted, while yet a school boy, to jump from the top of the new high school building with a large wagon umbrella for a parachute.

Without previous experience as a ring brawler, he knocked out in one round, Battling Haney, a third rate gin-mill pugilist from San Francisco.

He was expelled from school for shaving the heads of a number of freshmen, scions of prominent families, but later restored to good grace at the almost unanimous request of townspeople who wanted to see him play football.

On borrowed money, with another fellow, he opened a dance hall, and gave dancing lessons to ore-footed miners.

He slammed his way for a touchdown in a game against Flagstaff after his right arm hung uselessly from a broken collar bone.

In France, he had a devil-may-care attitude which led him on sundry occasions to absent himself from camp without leave. Once he was on the verge of being court-martialed.

Had he been discrete, he might have escaped untimely death. As it was, he was forced down with his plane inside the German lines when his gasoline supply became exhausted. Instead of surrendering at the Germans' approach, and going to rest in some prison camp, until the war ended, he opened fire with his pistol. Shots from German guns soon brought him down.

home of Mrs. Irene St. Helens, captain of the drill team. Mrs. Norma Terwilliger and Mrs. Rachel Reeder assisted the hostess.

The evening was spent with games and music. Later the gifts were presented to Mrs. Fuhrer.

In the group were Mrs. Jacob Fuhrer, the guest of honor; Mrs. Terwilliger, Mrs. Reeder, Miss Florence Allport, Miss Ellen Allport, Miss Nina Cole, Miss Ruth Cole, Miss Nettie Williamson, Miss Lottie Keefer, Miss Bessie Shanks, Miss Glenna Russell, Miss Frances Randall, Miss Maude Roulen, Miss Nellie Harpole, Miss Marie Kurtz, Miss Louise Lehman, Miss Helen Ficke, Miss Vida Stewart, and the hostess, Mrs. St. Helens.

R. N. A. Sewing Club Entertained on Tuesday Afternoon
The Royal Neighbors Sewing club was entertained on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Pearl Lickler, Mrs. Lickler, Mrs. Sarah Nelson, and Mrs. Bertha Reeder were hostesses at the meeting.

Twenty members of the club were in attendance. Mrs. Arnold, Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. Junior Ackley, and Mrs. Hartwell were special guests.

The members responded to roll call with quotations and short readings.

Refreshments were served at the social hour which followed the business session.

The next regular meeting of the club will be held February 14 at the home of Mrs. Charles Ellis in Dallas.

Woman's Bible Class of First M. E. Church Will Meet
The Woman's Bible class of the First Methodist church will meet at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at the home of Mrs. M. S. Savage, 233 Fourteenth street.

This will be a combined business and social meeting. Every member of the class is urged to attend.

JOIN SALEM CHURCH
ROSEDALE, Jan. 26.—(Special)—Mr. and Mrs. Canoy and family became members of Leslie M. E. church of Salem last Sunday.

E. Canoy and Ormal Trick attended the brotherhood meeting at Dallas Wednesday night.

SMITH FACTION ACTIVE
NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—(AP)—The possibility of a ticket headed by Alfred E. Smith for president and Jesse Jones, of Houston, Texas, for vice president, was discussed in democratic circles today.

WASHINGTON SEEKS REVENGE ON AGGIES

OREGON STATE COLLEGE, Corvallis, Jan. 26.—(Special)—When University of Washington basketball team slips into Corvallis Friday to do battle with the Orangenemen a few men on the Husky team will have a chance to make up for an old injury suffered in the final game between Washington and the Orange last year.

Washington invaded the Beaver camp last year in a tie with University of Oregon for the northern division championship. It meant that if Washington downed the Orangenemen the Huskies would battle it out with Oregon the following night for the honor and glory of representing the northern division against California for coast honors. The Orangenemen used the dope by walloping Washington and automatically presented Oregon with the championship.

Seven of the Huskies who played in this memorable game which ended with the score 31 to 27 will invade the Orange campus Friday seeking revenge and four of the Orangenemen who helped down the Husky will be here to meet them. Monty Snider of Washington who was second high point man of last season and who made 10 points in this game will shake hands with Captain Bill Burr, Orange cageman, who was high point man for the Beavers in the same game. Snider and Burr will stage a horse race for the customers. The coming game is considered the most important for the Beavers this year.

Here are the probable starting lineups:

Washington Oregon State
Snider.....F..... Burr
Bolstad.....C..... Mathews
Dalquest.....F..... Aase
James.....G..... Hartung
Berenson.....G..... Wascher

ZAMLOCK'S IDEA WILL BE TRIED

OREGON STATE COLLEGE, Corvallis, Jan. 26.—(Special)—Arrangements have been made between Jack Benefiel and Carl Loddell, general managers at University of Oregon and Oregon State college respectively, to play two exhibition baseball games under the Zamlock plan as proposed by Carl Zamlock, baseball coach at University of California. One game will be played at Eugene and the other at Corvallis. Dates have not been decided on yet.

The Zamlock plan gives the batter the option of running to either first or third when the bases are clear. If a batter chooses to run to third instead of first the next batters must continue in that direction until the bases are cleared again.

Both general managers and Billy Rinehart and Ralph Coleman, baseball coaches of the two Oregon institutions, think the idea a good one and say the innovation will revive interest in college baseball.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Jan. 26.—(AP)—A bitter controversy between the liberal and conservative press in Managua has developed over the political situation.

The controversy began with a suggestion by the liberal newspapers that former President Chamorro should be deported as a disturbing element. The conservative papers then in turn declared that General Jose Moncada, the former liberal commander in chief, should be deported, charging that he was secretly aiding the rebel general, Sandino, and that he had a son who is a captain in Sandino's forces.

CRASH FATAL
MARSHFIELD, Jan. 26.—(AP)—E. V. Smith injured in an automobile crash near Coquille yesterday was growing weaker today and little hope of his recovery was expected. His pulse late tonight was too weak to count.

BEARCATS TO PLAY LA GRANDE QUINTET

The basketball game against Helix has been cancelled and Willamette will play instead, the M. I. A. team of La Grande, on the way to the conference games at Caldwell with College of Idaho, Coach Keene announced yesterday.

As the schedule for the trip now stands, Willamette will play Whitman, February 9 and 10, La Grande, February 11, and College of Idaho, February 13 and 14, or five games in one week.

Playing on the La Grande team is "Mose" Lyman, the skillful center for La Grande high last year, who rated a berth on the second all-state team, after the tournament.

Colonel Lindbergh Makes Trip Into South America

CARTAGENA, Colombia, Jan. 26.—(AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, fresh from his ten day vacation in Panama today was off again on his good will tour that will carry him to the Pan-American conference at Havana.

The American air hero left France field, Colon, at 9:26 o'clock this morning and four hours and 30 minutes later came to earth at the Boca Grande flying field outside of Cartagena. He estimated the hop at 400 miles.

It was the first time that the people of South America had an opportunity to greet the flier whose exploits in North America, Central America and Europe had thrilled them so often. Nor were the South Americans behind their brethren of the other continents in their enthusiasm for the American airman. Guns boomed, bands played and the spectators shouted in greeting.

As the famous Spirit of St. Louis came into sight over the city at 1:45 p. m., the spectators broke into enthusiastic cheers. Factory whistles and train whistles shrieked and the sirens of the ships in the bay added to the clamor which continued until he landed.

Smiling, the American flier climbed from the cockpit of his plane and was welcomed by the official delegation which had been selected yesterday when it became known that he would stop en route to Bogota, the capital of Colombia.

Walking through the great crowds of spectators, Colonel Lindbergh entered an automobile with the governor of the state of Bolivar and several high public officers. Later he went to the suburb of Isla de Manga where he was the guest of H. O. Ware, an American business man.

The greatest crowds ever seen in the city gathered in and around the flying field. When Lindbergh sighted the multitude from aloft he made several circuits of the field before deciding to alight. When he did land he came down gracefully in front of the governor's box.

Then the spectators broke through the strong police cordon and surrounded the plane, and it was with difficulty that a passage way was cleared so that he might proceed to where the official welcome awaited him.

The weather during his flight from Colon was ideal and a wind at his back helped him to make up once, but the air has oozed out of the balloon.

Jim Mullen, Chicago promoter, feels that he is "in" on the big gray as a result of a promise from Tunney and Billy Gibson that the champ won't sign for a fight under any other promoter's guidance until after Feb. 1, and will give Jim a chance to arrange a battle for the crown in Chicago.

The Tunney camp probably won't make any definite moves before February 1—for the simple reason that Tex Rickard isn't ready to talk business. If Tunney fights for Mullen in Chicago, in June or any other time, it will be after Rickard has tossed in the sponge. Write that down.

If we can believe that Rogers Hornsby was sold down the river by the Giants because he didn't show the proper deference for Judge Stoneham, principal owner of the New York Giants, then there is bound to be a general reformation period in baseball.

WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

Praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound
Mrs. Annie Kwinick of 525 1st Avenue, Milwaukee, Wis., writes that she became so weak and run-down that she was not able to do her household work. She saw the name Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the paper and said to her husband, "I will try that medicine and see if it will help me." She says she took six bottles and is feeling much better.

Mrs. Mattie Adams, who lives in Downing Street, Brewton, Ala., writes as follows: "A friend recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and since taking it I feel like a different woman."

With her children grown up, the middle-aged woman finds time to do the things she never had time to do before—read the new books, see the new plays, enjoy her grandchildren, take an active part in church and civic affairs. Far from being pushed aside by the younger set, she finds a full, rich life of her own. That is, if her health is good.
