ROOKS DEFEAT SHS IN CLOSE CONTEST

CORVALLIS, Jan. 28.—(AP)—The Oregon State Agricultural college rooks defeated the Salem high basketball team 30 to 26 here today in a contest that was not decided until the last minute of play, with both teams alternating in the lead throughout the game.

With but a minute and a half to play, Ecker, Salem guard, put his team in the lead. MacLeod then tied the count for the rooks on a foul, and Ballard boosted the Orange babies into the lead. With but a few seconds left to play, Mack, rook forward, dropped the ball through the hoop to clinch the count.

Duffy, Salem forward, was all over the floor, shooting from every angle. His speed however, did not help much as his shots were erratic. Lyons of Salem and Ballard of the rooks were tied for high points with five goals each.

REPRESENT UNITED STATES IN OLYMPIC GAMES

Here is the Augsburg college hockey team of Minneapolis (Minn.), that has been chosen to represent the United States in the Olympic hockey games at St. Moritz, Switzerland, next month. The Augsburg team, with the five Hanson brothers in its regular line-up, is considered one of the fastest playing college sextets in the country. In the photograph are shown, left to right, Pat Larson, Merrill McInerney, Joe Hanson, Julius Hanson, Emil Hanson, Moore Swanson, Oscar Hanson and Louis Hanson.

LOCALS WILL ENTER BOWLING CONGRESS

Salem will send a number of expert pin smashers to the North-west International Bowling congress at Portland, April 14-21. It was said yesterday by Virgil Stotler, proprietor of the Winter garden academy.

The congress will be held at the Oregon bowling alley, 86 Broadway street, and will be the sixteenth of its kind.

More than 125 participating teams are expected.

The annual assembly of bowlers has grown rapidly. In 1913, there were only 49 teams participating, but when Seattle entertained the meet last year, there were 120 teams from Oregon, Washington, Idaho, and Montana.

There will be a California invasion this year, with Los Angeles, San Francisco, and Oakland sending teams to compete. Prizes will be offered.

Salem bowlers recently defeated the crack Portland team and stand a good chance of coming off with some of the honors.

DEL MONTE, Cal., Jan. 28.—(AP)—George Von Elm and George Ritchie of California, defeated Dr. O. F. Willing and Frank Delp of Oregon, four and two on the 34th hole today in the California-Oregon interstate golf matches. Von Elm, former national amateur champion, was shooting one of his greatest games. He went out in 31. On the second he made a two for a double eagle on a par five hole and birdied the third, fifth, sixth and seventh holes.

The northerners held matters even however, when H. Chandler Egan and Rudie Wilhelm of Oregon defeated Jack Neville and Dr. Paul Hunter of California, 6 and 4, winning on the 32nd hole of the match. Sensational putts by Egan, Medford's two-time national amateur champion, brought victory to Oregon team.

The Athenians have been weakened by the loss of their center, Steelhammer, who was disqualified because of playing on other independent teams, and the Ducks are conceded a victory Thursday.

WILLAMETTE LEADS CONFERENCE TEAMS

Team	W.	L.	Pct.
Willamette	2	0	1.000
Whitman	1	0	1.000
Linfield	1	1	.500
Puget Sound	0	0	.000
College of Idaho	0	0	.000
Pacific	0	3	.000

Willamette tops with northwest conference pile with two victories and no defeats as the result of the victory last night over Linfield college. Whitman is also undefeated and has recorded one victory over Pacific university. Pacific is definitely in the cellar with three losses and Puget Sound and College of Idaho have yet to play conference games.

Either Puget Sound or Whitman will go into the defeat column after the two game series at Walla Walla Wednesday and Thursday. The Loggers hold a victory over Washington, and Whitman has defeated University of Oregon, and comparative scores indicate that the games will be closely contested, with no favorites.

Whether Willamette is in a class with these two teams will be indicated by its showing against University of Oregon here Tuesday. The Bearcats start the tour of Washington and Idaho next week, playing two games against the Missionaries, February 9 and 10, one game with La Grande, February 11, and two games against College of Idaho, February 13 and 14.

Keene will take nine men on the trip and use substitutes almost entirely against La Grande to give his regulars a rest in the strenuous five game schedule.

ARMY-NAVY BREAK GROWS STILL WIDER

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Efforts of interested members of congress to obtain a renewal of football relations between the naval academy and West Point appeared tonight to have been fruitless.

Following a visit by Representative Britten, republican, Illinois, and Representative Fish, republican, New York, to the White House during which the break was discussed, Britten announced that he hoped President Coolidge might act on at least express his views on the disruption which threatens the annual navy-army clash.

The attitude of Major General E. W. Winans, West Point superintendent, was characterized as "high handed" by Fish, who condemned Winans' refusal to meet Rear Admiral Nulton, naval academy superintendent, in New York to discuss a compromise.

OREGON FROSH 5 LOSES GAME

EUGENE, Jan. 28.—(AP)—The University of Washington freshman basketball team defeated the Oregon freshman, 32 to 24, here tonight. The game started out as a listless affair, neither team showing very much either offensively or defensively, but after a slow first half both squads lived up and staged an exciting 20 minutes of competition. By this time, however, the Washington hoopers had gained sufficient of an advantage to safely go through three different short-lived rallies of the Oregon yearlings.

Woodward Archer, forward, on the yearling quintet was one of the headiest players on the floor. Archer, teamed with Stoddard in the second period, was leader of the final spurt which came nearer than any of those previous to evening the score.

Parrish junior high has two games at home this week, Mollala, Wednesday evening, and Roosevelt junior high of Eugene, Friday evening.

Coach Frank Brown will be back to take charge of the players this week, after an illness. During his absence, Aubrey Fletcher, football coach last fall, has been coaching the boys.

PACIFIC COAST'S MIDGET PLAYERS

These two basketball players lay claim to the title of the midget players of the Pacific coast conference. They are Ray Luck, left, and Archie Buckley, forwards on the Washington State college quintet. Luck is five feet six inches in height and Buckley five feet seven.

Washington Five Wins Over U. of O. Quintet

EUGENE, Jan. 28.—(AP)—The University of Washington basketball team won its third and the University of Oregon lost its first game in the northern section championship race in the Pacific coast conference here tonight. The Huskies nosed out Oregon by a margin of seven points, 24 to 17, defeating as it did so its last big obstacle in the path of championship aspirations.

The contest was a ragged one, particularly in the first half, but the Webfoots were a little more ragged than Washington. Neither team could score with any degree of regularity, though neither had much difficulty in breaking through the offense of the other. At the end of the first 10 minutes the count stood, 3 to 3. In that time the rival teams seemingly endeavored to find out which could miss the most easy shots, leave more men unguarded and throw more wild passes.

After this long preliminary session of wildness, the Huskies settled down a bit and began to draw away from Oregon. The Webfoots also came down to earth to a certain extent, but still played a much worse game than any shown here earlier this year. The count at the half was 13 to 7 in favor of Washington. In the second period the Husky defense tightened up and Washington for a while played real basketball. Oregon put up a good struggle in the final frame, but was lost in the wake. More than 4000 fans crowded McArthur court.

NEW GOLF COURSE PLANS ANNOUNCED

Salem is to have a golf course before the popular playing season opens which will rank with the best in the Pacific northwest.

Plans for the new course were announced yesterday by Ercel Kay, prominent local golfer.

The course is to be located two miles south of the city limits on the river road on the Frank Hughes property, comprising approximately 134 acres of ideal golfing ground. A creek about 10 feet wide flows through the property to the Willamette river and there is a four-acre lake in one corner. All the ground for fairways, except two, are ready for seeding.

According to present plans, the course will be in the neighborhood of 6300 yards in length with watered fairways and numerous natural water hazards.

The 18 holes have been laid out by Vernon Macan, northwest golf architect, who visited the site a year ago and expressed himself as enthusiastic regarding its possibilities.

Coming from Macan, this is a great statement, for he is known nationally as a golf course architect of ability. He has made a particular study of golf architecture in past years.

The laying of pipe for the water supply, construction of the clubhouse and greens will go forward within the next 30 days. Forty-four local golfers have indicated their desire to subscribe for stock to finance the project. Each member will receive a $250 share of preferred stock, which will return 7 per cent per annum, and also pay dues at the rate of $5 per month.

An expensive club house will not be constructed at present, all the funds subscribed being devoted to building up the course. The new club will be incorporated for $50,000.

WILLAMETTE BASKETEERS

REGINALD DE POE, forward. Born, Sept. 21, 1906. Height 5 feet, 10 1/2 inches, weight 163 pounds. Freshman in liberal arts. Home town, Chemawa. Record:

1923-24—Chemawa Indian School, regular, Coach Downie.

1924-25—Chemawa Indian School, regular, Coach Downie.

1925-26—Chemawa Indian School, regular, Coach Downie.

1926-27—Chemawa Indian School, regular, Coach Downie.

1927-28—Willamette varsity, regular, Coach Keene.

De Poe, lithe, quick in movement, and possessed of unusual natural ability at caging the spindly from difficult angles, is one of the four freshmen this year who have earned a place on the varsity basketball squad, despite keen competition from older, more experienced players. With four years at Willamette, under the tutelage of Coach "Spec" Keene ahead of him, this fellow should develop into a hoopster, the equal in calibre of any on the coast.

UZCUDUN BATTLES AGAINST CHILEAN

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Paolino Uzcudun, Basque heavy-weight tonight expressed confidence that he could win tomorrow's 15 round match with Quinjin Romero Rojas of Chile. A long range return from Romero was that "if Paolino wins he will know he has had a fight."

The fight will be in the bull ring where a stand has been erected in the center of the arena. The public has manifested much interest in the event, but promoters fear the arrival of the French fliers, Dieudonne Costes and Joseph LeBrix may prove a counter attraction that will detract from the fight attendance.

LEAGUE REVAMPING STARTS THIS WEEK

Action will be started this week toward the reorganization of the Portland city baseball league or formation of a new league—just which it will be is more a matter of nomenclature than facts.

It is certain that Salem, Eugene and Albany will be in one league. It is also certain that Fred Oase, president of the city league last year, will assist in forming this new circuit.

But just what Portland teams of the old league will join it, has become in the past week rather a clouded issue, with reports reaching Salem that some of the leaders are bucking the proposition, ostensibly on account of the expense of trips up the valley and similar matters.

The facts are, however, that two leagues are certain to be disrupted if Salem, Eugene and Albany club together into one. Salem was in the city league and the other two were in the valley league.

Manager Leo "Frisco" Edwards is taking a hand in calling the valley baseball magnates together for a meeting, the date for which will be set this week even if the meeting comes a little later.

Meanwhile Edwards is investigating some matters in connection with the Oxford Park ball plant, which may simplify his problem of enlarging the grounds and getting more seating space. It has been understood previously that the left field fence was on the property line, but some members of the Senators' managing committee have reported that there is some additional space available out that way.

The right field fence is the one that is especially close in, so that the grandstand and third base bleachers will have to be moved back against the Oxford street property line at least. But there is a chance that the present first base bleachers might remain intact, with an extension southward to use the space left when the grandstand is moved.

All this will require some financial support, however, so the club's plans are merely tentative.

PARRISH BEATS STAYTON QUINT

STAYTON, Or., Jan. 28.—(Special)—Parrish junior high school of Salem won a slow game here last night from Stayton high school by a score of 24 to 18.

Earl Pettit's ability to toss baskets from difficult shots enabled the junior high players to outscore Stayton, but the team work was bad. Kitchen, star forward for the visitors, was held to a single goal.

Summary:

Parrish (24)	(18) Stayton Kitchen (2) (10) Cothran James (2) (10) Stupka Dietz (6) (10) Weedle Pettit (13) (2) Heater Seguin (1) (2) Thoma Burgess (1) Perry

HARVARD NAVY HOLDING ITS "SPRING" PRACTICE

The Harvard college crew broke all records for early outdoor practice when they took to the water recently on the open Charles river. Never before has the river been open enough to launch shells as early in the year.
