Howard, state superintendent of public instruction.

In the afternoon both sessions will join for the following program, beginning at 1:15:

HICKMAN'S CASE ENDS PROSECUTION BEGINS

ges, one of the defense medical experts who took the stand late yesterday, continued today as the target for a stiff cross fire from the prosecution. His "dementia praecox" theory came in for a heavy battering from District Attorney Keys.

Symptoms Rectified
"Divine guidance," in crime, as claimed by the prisoner, was the text of much of Dr. Shelton's testimony, indicating to the medical man abnormality amounting to insanity.

He was followed by Dr. A. L. Skoog of Kansas City, who said that he had examined Hickman six times between January 25 and February 1, and "believed him to be insane."

The state turned a searching cross examination on Dr. Skoog, who was regarded as the chief defense alienist, but the Kansas City expert stood firm in his expressed belief that the prisoner had an unbalanced mind.

To Keys the witness listed what he considered the outstanding characteristics of the confessed killer's mental condition, delusions of grandeur, assertion of divine guidance and ideas of superiority.

Everything Explained, Claim
Dr. Skoog cited the facts of the killing and dissecting of Marian Parker's body as "most likely the result of an abnormal mind."

The fit which officers said Hickman "faked" in the jail at Pendleton, Ore., after his capture there, his flight from justice, his confession that he kidnaped and killed Marian Parker and dismembered her body to get $1500 from her father all could be explained, the witness maintained, by insane delusions.

At this point Keys introduced in evidence a photostatic copy of a letter written by Hickman to a fellow prisoner in the county jail after the sanity trial was well under way. It was given to Dr. Skoog, who was asked if it shed any light on the mind of the medical scientist as to whether the defendant was sane or insane. The physician replied that it did not.

The letter was addressed to "Dale Budlong" and voiced Hickman's fear that the deposition to be submitted as the bulwark of his defense would prove inadequate. "I intend to throw a fit in court," he wrote, and added that he would take a "crack at Keys."

The missive closed with a request that the recipient tear it up.

Text of Note Given
Hickman wrote to "Dale" that he believed he could trust him and wanted his advice. The letter said: "I intend to throw a fit in court. All these depositions won't save me. I will ask the judge to let me talk without my attorney bawling in. Then I'll throw a crazy, raving, diving fit."

"I will take a crack at Keys too before the thing's over. For God's sake tear this up or it will ruin me."

It was signed: "William E. Hickman, alias the Fox. Ha! Ha! Ha!"
"P. S. You know and I know I'm not insane however."

"Sane," Says Reynolds
After Sellers had testified Keys called for Dr. Cecil Reynolds, Los Angeles brain surgeon and mental disease expert. Taking the stand the physician said he had examined Hickman four times since his return from Oregon where he was captured. Without a moment's hesitation the witness replied "Sane," when the chief prosecutor asked him for his opinion on the youth's mentality. He had found many diseased brains among persons he had examined, but not in the case of Hickman. "Extremely tough" was his description of the mental structure of the defendant.

A decided sense of humor, Dr. Reynolds said, and the absence of any trace of delusions proved to him that Hickman was mentally normal. Then followed another trial man in answer to questions put to Hickman in his cell. The killer "thought he felt sorry while he was strangling the girl, he told the alienist.

Walsh's vigorous cross examination, begun as the hour approached five o'clock was interrupted by adjournment. Judge Trabucco ordered court reassembled tomorrow at 9 a. m. for a three hour Saturday session.

and put on a big program at one of the theaters in Salem. This, appealed to all present. There is some fine talent available, and it would be a great advertising feature.

The Haysville Program
Meeting called to order by President P. O. Riley.
Lloyd Reynolds introduced a resolution regarding the part G. E. McAfee performed in helping community work. Adopted and copy ordered sent to the widow of Mr. McAfee.

Ivan Stewart, secretary, explained the proposition to divide the county into districts. There was a fine program of orchestra, vocal and piano music. President Riley suggested the idea of the federation putting on a program in Salem.

There was a talk by Henry Crawford endorsing the community club work and the idea of dividing the county into districts. Motion made by Lloyd Reynolds to extend a vote of thanks to Ladd & Bush bank for the gift of the motion picture machine and to Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Stewart for operating this machine at club meetings throughout the county. Adopted.

Senator Lloyd Reynolds and other members discussed the idea of working up interest in the different community clubs, through contests and debates, etc., leading up to large gatherings, like the one proposed for a Salem theater. The Fairview club was admitted to membership in the county federation. The new constitution, with its amendments, was adopted.

The Proposed Grouping
The proposed grouping of clubs was discussed. The following is the tentative plan:

Woodburn, Hubbard, Donald, Aurora, St. Paul, Gervais, Labish, Kelzer, Haysville, Clear Lake, Hazel Green, North Howell, Parkersville, Central Howell, Brooks, Mt. Angel, Monitor, Silverton, Silverton Hills, Victor Point, Pringle, Salem Heights, Liberty, Sunnyside, Fairview, Rosedale, Auburn, Fruitland, Pratum, Middle Grove, Aumsville, Turner, West Stayton, Marion, Stayton, Jefferson.

The New Constitution
The aims are to promote a better understanding and to build up the various communities. It is non political and non sectarian. Candidate clubs are admitted by a majority vote.

The federation is supported by a $2 assessment from each local club. Each local club shall send three voting delegates to the annual meeting of the federation. Annual meeting at Salem the last Wednesday in October. A business meeting to be held in February; time and place to be determined by the executive board.

USE OF BUILDING CREATES FRAGAS

Axes Used To Break Into Community Hall At Ferndale, Oregon

WALLA WALLA, Wash., Feb. 3.—(AP)—Locked out of their community hall by the man who donated the land on which it was built, 20 irate citizens and farmers of Ferndale, Ore., near here today took matters into their own hands, using an axe to smash the padlock on the door.

James O. Howton, justice of the peace of Milton, Ore., deeded the land to the Ferndale community 17 years ago. The deed contained a proviso that the land and the building to be erected upon were to be used only for "community" purposes. Howton contended that use of the building as a school house violated the deed.

The building which was erected upon the land following the gift to the community was built by popular subscription and community labor. It was used in connection with the Ferndale school as a gathering place for the production of plays, basketball games and similar events.

The Ferndale school burned two years ago and authorities decided to use the building temporarily as a school house. Recently Howton gave notice that he wished the deed of gift torn up, claiming that it was forfeited through use of the building as a school.

The board took no action and Howton then demanded $100, threatening to lock it up if the money was not forthcoming. Yesterday, when basketball teams went to use the hall for a game a padlock and "no trespassing" sign were found. So the citizens opened the hall with no ceremony today.

Howton could not be reached for a statement tonight.

LEADERS NEED SEEN

ROBERTS SEES LACK IN MUNICIPAL GOVERNMENT

"Tammany hall is spectacular evidence of what is wrong in municipal government," A. E. Roberts, of New York, representing the national organization of the Y. M. C. A. told members of the Salem Lions club yesterday.

"If Tammany hall is the last word in democracy, I want none of it. Municipal government has fallen down for the reason that too many people have been misled. Every nation has died of the same disease—over-urbanism."

The country is menaced by a dearth of leadership because the well-spring of supply, the farming communities has been neglected. The country boy is a better potential leader, Mr. Roberts said, because city boys are steeped in abnormalities and artificialities. He urged that the scope of community work extend to getting country boys a proper chance for an education.

his friends wish that he should seek the support of the republican voters, and Mr. Hoover is willing to respond to that wish. It is my opinion that his name should be entered in the primary contest."

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Feb. 3.—(AP)—The republican state central committee today selected Senator Frank B. Willis as Ohio's choice for the republican presidential nomination by a vote of 19 to 1 with one not voting. Opposition to the endorsement was expressed by two Cincinnati committeemen.

Mike McTigue No Match For Aberdeen Assassin

By EDWARD J. NEIL
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—(AP)—The comeback cruise of Michael McTigue, perennial challenger, and sometimes champion in the light heavyweight division, was halted tonight by the youthful Leo Lomski, iron-fisted blonde slugger from Aberdeen, Wash.

For 10 rounds, the tireless punching youngster threw everything he had at McTigue in an effort to bring the ancient of the prize ring down. The veteran wobbled, skidded, danced and parried, and although blood streamed from gashes above his eyes and his legs were stiff as stiffs, Mike was still on his feet and fighting gamely at the final gong.

It was a battle of youth—confident, and old age—easily tired and bereft of almost everything but the canny fighting brain that made Mike McTigue famous. And although Lomski slashed both of Mike's eyes open in the fifth round, he could not floor him, and Lomski himself ran into one stiff left hook that ripped his right eyebrow.

From the start, the corn-haired westerner threw himself into the fray recklessly, fists pouring in a steady stream at McTigue's head and body. Mike blocked and retreated, fended and ducked, and saved the right hand that bowled over a dozen opponents until the fifth round.

Then as the storm became unbearable, Mike threw away his caution and loosed his full punching power on the flailing youngster. One vicious chop cut Lomski's eye in the fifth, but both McTigue's eyes were gashed in the exchange and Leo refused to retreat.

From that point on, each round added to the venerable one's discomfort. Carrying an added burden of nearly 40 years, Mike was punch dreamy at the close of the seventh and eighth sessions, staggered and barely navigating, although still struggling through the motions when the match ended.

McTigue had a slight advantage in the weights, scaling 173 pounds to 170 1/2 for Lomski.
