Sell Picture Receipts
February 18 is the last date upon which senior high school students may purchase picture receipts for the Clifton school annual, says Lee Coe, business manager of the publication. While receipts have not sold as well as expected to date, Mr. Coe anticipates a last minute rush for them. Seniors pay $2.25 each for the receipts, entitling them to four exposures with one to be used in the annual, and underclassmen are charged $1.75. All classes have separate pictures. Through this method of paying for pictures, the annual utilizes part of the receipt fund to meet expenses, the other share being paid by the annual to the photographer. This year's publication will contain 160 pages, despite a curtailment of funds and necessity for a strict budget.

Book Exchange Thrives
The book exchange at the senior high school sold 150 books since it opened the first of this week up to Friday evening and had on hand only 46, reports Audlen Reeder, senior, manager of the exchange. The business, which will continue for another week, has already netted the student body a tidy sum, as well as helping students to dispose of books for which they have no further use and others to gain texts at a nominal cost. Most books are sold on the basis of half the original cost, condition considered, of course. Miss Marjorie Geise, senior, is assisting Mr. Reeder with the work, both the students donating their time from 12:30 to 1:00 and 2:45 to 4:30 daily. Lee Coe is also on the committee handling the exchange.

Prominent Democrat Tries to Patch Up Party Trouble

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—(AP)—J. Bruce Kremer, national committee man from Montana and floor leader of the McCaDoD forces at the 1924 democratic national convention, took issue with his former chief today as to the necessity of applying the "acid test" on prohibition as an essential to the qualification of candidates for the presidency.

Mr. Kremer expressed the conviction that Governor Smith would be the democratic nominee and that prohibition would not be a big issue in the campaign.

"I do not agree with Mr. McCaDoD," he said, "prohibition is an economic problem, not a political issue, and cuts across both parties in about the same way."

"There is no reason why it should be made an issue, nor is there any reason why the personal views of a nominee should be brought before a national convention."

MEXICO FIRST OPPONENT

Drawings Made in Davis Cup Matches at Paris Yesterday

PARIS, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Mexico will be the first obstacle to be hurdled by tennis stars of the United States in their campaign to recover the Davis cup, wrested from America by France last year. The draw in the American zone, made at Ellysée palace by President Domergue today, pits the United States against Mexico and Japan against Cuba in the first round. Chinese HETAOISHS round, China will face the winner of the Mexico-United States matches, while Canada, also drawing a bye, engages the survivor of the other first round encounter.

On the basis of their 1927 form, Japan and the United States are regarded as virtual certainties to clash in the final of the zone competition.

HOODED STUDENTS ATTACK PRESIDENT

Head of Washington Student Body Organization Ducked in Lake

SEATTLE, Feb. 3.—(AP)—The names of the nine hooded students who last night kidnaped and hazed their president, were in the hands of M. Lyle Spencer, president of the University of Washington, he said tonight. Several of the students had voluntarily appeared and admitted their identity, Spencer said.

Just what action would be taken against the men who put Marion A. Zioncheck, student president, through a mock initiation, including a double ducking in Lake Washington, Spencer would not reveal. Suspension or expulsion from the university, he indicated was a possibility.

Numbers of the kidnapers and those familiar with the escapade were before the president of the university today. Others will be called on the carpet tomorrow. Among those who were questioned today was Dook Stanley, retired editor of the university daily, a central figure in a campus-wide debate with Zioncheck on student policies. Zioncheck had repeatedly criticized the manner in which the student affairs were handled.

The victim of the hazing party was confined to his bed, his doctor said, "as a matter of policy." He was unharmed by his experience, the physician reported, and would be back on the campus within a few days.

SEATTLE, Wash., Feb. 3.—(AP)—Police assistance in an investigation of the kidnaping last night of Marion Zioncheck, president of the associated students of the University of Washington, was requested today by President M. Lyle Spencer.

Zioncheck returned to his fraternity house last night scantily clad and told a story of having been seized by a group of hooded persons, put through a mock initiation in which he was roughly treated and twice ducked in Lake Washington, then left to make his way home.

The student body president, who has been the center of a controversy over the financial affairs of the associated students declared he planned no investigation of the affair but would leave it in the hands of university authorities. Zioncheck was in bed today nursing a cold which he said resulted from the kidnaping. He said he planned to renew his demands for an investigation of the handling of the student body finances.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Winging his way as a passenger of an air mail plane, Dr. J. E. Packard, Sioux City, Iowa, landed here late today and hurried to the bedside of his mother who is reported as dying at Long Beach, Cal.

Another brother, C. M. Packard, Chicago, flying in another plane is expected hourly. The two brothers were together from Omaha to Salt Lake, but heavy mails made two planes necessary. They left their homes yesterday when they received word of their mother's serious illness.
