So users have no fear of harm. Go learn now what Marmola does for excess fat, and why. Your druggist supplies it at $1 per box. Take four tablets daily and watch the change.

The demonstration was participated in or attended on the end by Captain O. G. Hutchinson, managing director of the Baird company, who came to this country especially for the purpose; Benjamin Clapp, the company's chief engineer who for three months has been working on secret tests of the television; R. M. Hart, owner of the short wave radio station 2CVJ who has done the receiving of the vision sound; and an Associated Press reporter.

The vision sound was sent across the ocean by short wave radio station 2KZ, a station of only two kilowatts power. Captain Hutchinson and Mr. Clapp announced after the test tonight that if as much success as this could be attained with such low power it was reasonable to predict that in a very short time by use of a more powerful transmitting set transatlantic television would be as clear as it has been in tests over short distances.

Bits For Breakfast

Salem is growing north—

But it is also growing east and south and west, and in between.

Old time Oregonians will remember a famous campaign in the early nineties in Portland, with the slogan, "The town is going south." There was, about the same time, such a campaign in Salem, with the slogan, "Out on the Garden Road." Another one, later, about the town going out Hollywood way.

If you will drive out to the four corners beyond the pentecostal, you will see evidences of the coming true of the prediction that Salem is going to surround that institution. Already getting is fairly well surrounded.

Ella McMunn writes: "I wish you would say Bits for Breakfast! that the Chicago girl who had her legs sawed off to make them straight wouldn't have been so much expense if she had sewed a yard of goods onto the bottom of her skirt. Women seem to have lost sight of the fact that legs were made primarily for walking upon and not exhibition purposes."

IMPORTANT NEWS FOR POULTRYMEN

Information was received by wire by Salem poultrymen yesterday of the signing of the joint resolution by President Coolidge, that makes poultry "live stock" for the purposes of the laws regulating quarantine and other regulations concerning the movements of live stock from one state to another.

Makes Poultry Embargo Void. It will be remembered that the technically as "live stock" alone prevented the injunction against the Oregon poultry embargo from succeeding in the federal court at Portland last year. Therefore, at this time the Oregon embargo is absolutely without a leg to stand on, and is practically null and void but the state livestock sanitary board has declined to announce this fact and raise this embargo until such time as the United States supreme court renders a decision on the Oregon embargo injunction case, which was appealed from the federal court at Portland. Of course, there can be but one decision now under the passage of this new joint resolution, and that is that the Oregon poultry embargo is null and void.

Washington and California poultry breeders. Looks like this whole thing is knocked out by the joint resolution of congress signed by the president yesterday—as soon as the proper officials find it out and act, or the supreme court hands down its decision.
