INVISIBLE RAY SWEEPING SKY ASTOUNDS N.Y.

Plans Can Be Viewed With Searchlight Without Pilot's Knowledge

PIERCES THROUGH DARK

Objects Shown on Screen Although Not Apparent Without Apparatus; Goes Through Fog and Clouds

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—(AP)—The night sky above New York is soon to be swept by an invisible searchlight that shows on a screen everything on which its rays fall.

Arrangements are being made by Captain O. G. Hutchinson, managing director of the Baird Television Development company of London, for installation of the invisible ray apparatus on one of the city's skyscrapers.

It was Captain Hutchinson who last Wednesday night demonstrated trans-Atlantic television by means of short wave radio and the Baird television. Images of a man and a woman were transported through the ether from a London laboratory to the home of R. M. Hart, a short wave radio operator in Hartsville, a Westchester village, just outside New York City.

Demonstration Planned
For the invisible ray demonstration Captain Hutchinson is arranging to have airplanes circle over the city to serve as targets for the searchlight. First, an ordinary searchlight will be thrown on them, making them visible to watchers on the ground.

Then, the invisible ray will be substituted for the visible one and the planes will disappear in the darkness although they will continue to be shown on a screen attached to the searchlight. The pilots will be unaware that they are under observation when they are in the line of the invisible searchlight.

Baird's invisible ray works on the following principle: A screen is set in front of the ray of a regular searchlight which filters out all light waves but the infra-red rays, these are the rays beyond the lower end of the spectrum and are invisible to the human eye but not to a special electric eye.

Fog Cloud Pierced
The filtered beam pierces fog and clouds and everything in its path is recorded in the electric eye of the Baird invention and then magnified on a screen for all to see.

The invisible ray was invented by John L. Baird in England more than a year ago and at that time was hailed as an invention which might revolutionize present methods of warfare because of its potential use in anti-aircraft work.

Shortly after the invention was announced all news about it stopped and there were reports that

STEWIER SPEAKS ON EMANCIPATOR

OREGON SENATOR ADDRESSES LINCOLN CLUB IN MAINE

Paternalistic Tendency in Today's Government Flayed; Constitution Lauded

PORTLAND, Maine, Feb. 11.—(AP)—The belief that if Abraham Lincoln lived in this generation, his greatest value to his country would come from his fidelity to the organic law, "which, approximately speaking, includes the constitution and the principles announced in the declaration of independence," was expressed by United States Senator Frederick Steiwer of Oregon in an address tonight before the Lincoln club.

Paternalism unknown to the revolutionary founders holds sway in almost every form of governmental agency," the senator said. Governmental operation of utilities and of every kind of public service, and of some services which are not public in their nature, are thought to be a cure for economic ills.

The constant struggle everywhere against the authority and restraints of the constitution suggests the serious question whether the constitution will ultimately hold. Prudence would suggest and patriotism should command that the spirit of innovation upon the principles of the organic law be resisted by those who look to the declaration and to the constitution as the charter of our liberties and who, accordingly, esteem a deep reverence and respect for the time honored provisions.

It is not to be supposed that any patriot would consent to the violent destruction of cherished institutions, but it is readily conceived that the lack of vigilance and understanding be result in countless innovations which mine from under and bore from within until they accomplish a destruction as complete as that caused by violent attack.

LOUD BALLYHOO ABOUT LIBRARY

COUNTY COURT CONSIDERS RESCINDING ORDER

Cost To Litigants Will Be Slight, According To Estimates Made

A frenzied ballyhoo campaign which began immediately after plans to establish a county library became generally known Thursday morning, has caused the Marion county court to consider seriously the matter of backing up and rescinding its order, it became known yesterday.

That serious consideration is being given to the matter is definitely announced to the contrary, was indicated late yesterday by J. C. Stegmund, county judge.

During the past three days a strenuous campaign has been carried on to create the impression that the library is not wanted. Even hypothetical and unnamed attorneys have been indirectly quoted as saying they were not in favor of it, despite the fact that the Marion County Bar association, at a regular meeting, voted unanimously in favor of it.

Strong statements have led generally to the belief, it was indicated yesterday, that the library will be a costly affair. U. G. Boyer, Marion county clerk, was asked to estimate the cost to each individual litigant, and showed that the cost for each would be anywhere from 25 cents to one dollar for each party engaging in a suit or action, and from 50 cents to one dollar for estates probated.

Those advocating the library as an obvious necessity to court procedure declare that this cost is negligible and is worth many times its total as a means of adding to the efficiency and accuracy of litigation. Opposition comes, they assert, from sources, one being those who do not as yet understand the actual situation and the other a certain reactionary element which always gathers to oppose any improvement and development of whatever kind.

If the library is rejected, however, it is declared that the local circuit court can get along as it has in the past. The only difference will be that costs will continue high and appeals frequent due to inaccessibility of legal authorities.

ALBRIGHT OUT, ALSO IN

Bond Still Up On One Charge, New Liquor Complaint Made

L. E. Albright officially is at liberty under $750 bail on a liquor charge filed sometime ago.

But on the other hand, he is, or was early this morning, incarcerated in the city jail, charged with possession of liquor.

It seems that Albright left the garage at the rear of his home at 175 South 13th street last night, with a gallon jug in his hands, at just the wrong time, for he ran plump into State Prohibition Officer George Edwards of the city police force.

Albright said that gallon was the last he had, and he'd had a premonition not to take it out, the officers reported.

The prisoner asked that inasmuch as he had $750 bail money already posted, he be allowed to go free.

But the officers searched a dilapidated coupe they found on the premises and found three more gallons of something-or-other, so they weren't especially disposed to make any concessions, and at an early hour this morning Albright was still in durance vile.

MA KENNEDY DUE TODAY

Will Speak at Evangelistic Tabernacle This Morning

"Ma" Kennedy, mother of Alvin Karpis, who is being held in Los Angeles, will appear at 10:40 this morning at the local tabernacle at 13th and Ferry streets. It was announced late yesterday.

Mrs. Kennedy has been in Washington and British Columbia on a revival campaign tour during the past few weeks, and stopped in Salem last night on her way south. She will go on south to Los Angeles today immediately after the services here are completed.

Religion, moral standards, Lindbergh and rubber came in for comment from the inventor who wrote with a stubby pencil answers to questions submitted to him by the interviewers.

Replying to a question whether he thought modern Americans were drifting away from religion, he said:

"They are drifting away from superstition and bunk," adding that increase in scientific knowledge was responsible for the fact that "11,344 churches in the United States reported no additions in 1927."

BETTER HOMES EXPOSITION OPENS MONDAY, COOKING SHOW TUESDAY

Tomorrow night at 7 o'clock the "Better-Homes" Exposition will be thrown open to the public and the thousands of people who will throng the armory during the six days and nights will be treated to the most magnificently staged indoor fair ever held in the Willamette valley.

Brilliant lighting and scenic effects have been worked out by decorators and lighting experts and the culmination of several weeks work on the part of committees will have a fitting climax at the formal opening tomorrow night by Mayor T. A. Livesley. In all more than 50 elaborate exhibits of local firms will be a treat in themselves. Everything that goes into the modern home is displayed in the most attractive fashion.

A mammoth stage done in a gorgeous Chinese setting is to be found in the west end of the auditorium. Hundreds of colored lights are being festooned both inside of the armory and on Ferry up Liberty to State street. Four high class professional vaudeville acts and the "Cottage Garden" revue in which ten local girls take part will prove one of the big entertainment features. The revue is being produced and staged by Helen Rodolf of Salem. The French Show will present, each night, a style show in which live models will display the latest in styles that women will wear this spring. Thomas Bros. orchestra will furnish the music during the entire week. A dance frolic is also one of the attractions and begins each night immediately following the vaudeville show.

In connection with the "Better Homes" exposition a cooking school and baking contest will be conducted beginning Tuesday, sponsored by the Willamette Grocery company, the Vollmer Clearwater company, Ltd., the H. L. Stiff Furniture company and The Oregon Statesman. Mrs. H. M. Cummings, Portland authority on better cooking, and Miss Ethel Murdoch will be in charge. This attraction will be at the armory for four days, Tuesday to Friday inclusive, beginning each afternoon at 2 o'clock.

LUNCHEON GIVEN TO HONOR LINDY

NEED FOR AIR LINES TOLD HAVANA BUSINESS MEN

Aviation to Play Important Part in Development of New World, Cubans Told

HAVANA, Feb. 11.—(AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, having demonstrated to a series of distinguished passengers the wonders of the air, returned to earth today to speak again on the thing nearest to his heart—aviation.

Nowhere, he told 600 business men and diplomats who gathered at a luncheon given at the Casino club here given in his honor by the American chamber of commerce, is there greater need of air lines than in the West Indies and Central America where travel is ordinarily so difficult.

The world famous aviator who is soon to turn the Spirit of St. Louis toward the city for which it was named, gave delight to a score of persons when he flew a commercial plane for three hours today. Cuban officials, a party of young Cuban girls and the wives of several prominent Americans were his delighted passengers.

In urging the luncheon guests to spend more time on the study of aviation as a commercial aid, Colonel Lindbergh said "air lines and aviation will play an important part in the development of the United States, but an even greater part in the countries to the south where more difficult transportation problems are encountered."

Opening of regular air lines over parts of the route he has covered since leaving Washington for Mexico City, would play an important part, he said, in the development of western commerce. He cited the glorious history of his plane which after more than 40,000 miles in 465 hours in the air

HOPE STILL HELD FOR 40 MINERS

DOZEN MEN BROUGHT TO TOP OF SHAFT ALIVE

Only Six of Underground Workers Cut Off in Canadian Plant Known to Be Dead

TIMMINS, Ont., Feb. 11.—(AP)—Almost two score miners were still trapped in the depths of the great Hollinger gold mine tonight, the second night since fire imprisoned them, but hope ran high among their praying families at the shaft head, for during the day a dozen men were brought from the mine alive and only six were practically known to be dead.

As the rescued men were brought up and their wives and children embraced them, hope was reborn in the hearts of the relatives of the other trapped men that they too might survive.

The fire started yesterday at the 550 foot level in rubbish which had been accumulating for years. Smoke and fumes drifted down the shafts as far as the 1,800 foot level and while most of the large day shift of miners succeeded in getting to the surface, more than 50 were cut off from all escape.

All efforts at rescue were futile until the arrival of a special train from Toronto today with fire fighting equipment and oxygen respirators. A United States mine car was also on the way from Pittsburgh and was expected to arrive either tonight or in the morning.

Hope of getting any of the imprisoned miners cut alive had almost died when one bell was heard sounding to the surface, at shaft number 11. The cage was immediately lowered and at the bottom was found George Zolob, who had risked his life to crawl to the shaft through dense fumes. He told the rescuers where six of his comrades for department No. 1, in the Marion county courthouse.

Local supporters of Herbert Hoover, former Salem resident, for the republican presidential nomination have been talking for several weeks of organizing such a club, but they delayed definite action awaiting the opening of state Hoover campaign headquarters in Portland.

Kiddie Favors Plan
In the past week Fred E. Kiddie, state manager of the Hoover campaign, has opened an office in Portland. Local republicans favoring Hoover's nomination got in touch with him, and received his approval of the plan to organize a Salem Hoover club.

B. C. Miles, boyhood friend of the former food administrator and present secretary of commerce, will be temporary chairman of the organization meeting Wednesday night.

CLAIM SANDINO SEEKING FLIGHT

REBEL GENERAL DECLARED ON WAY TO HONDURAS

Annihilation of Nicaraguan Leader Practically Gone, Official Report Says

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—(AP)—An official communication from Nicaragua reporting Sandino, the Nicaraguan enemy of the Marines, in flight to Honduras with his ammunition "practically" gone, was given to the senate foreign relations committee today by Secretary Wilbur.

On the basis of the communication and the date submitted by the navy secretary and a staff of naval and marine corps officers, Chairman Borah of the committee declared afterward that "the outlook is very good."

Mrs. Wilbur reported at the meeting of the committee behind closed doors that 12 Americans and 156 Nicaraguans had been killed in hostilities since the present force of marines entered Nicaragua; that Sandino is the only disturbing element in the country; and that a fair presidential election can be held there next summer.

Considerable interest was shown by the committee in charge in the message dated yesterday from the commander of the special service squadron in Nicaragua reporting the flight of Sandino.

Indications are from latest reports that Sandino intends to reach northern coast of Honduras. He was reported to be at La Purto in the mountains northeast of Jalapa on February 4. There is ample evidence that all the rifles that Sandino has were procured in Nicaragua from men who failed to turn them in. Sandino's ammunition is practically gone in so far as Nicaragua is concerned he is finished and is simply trying to escape."

No action was taken today by the committee on pending resolutions for investigations of the Nicaraguan situation and there was indication that none would be taken until Major General John A. Lejeune, commandant of the marine corps, appears before the committee next week upon his return to Washington from Nicaragua.

Rear Admiral Julian Latimer, former chief of the American expeditionary forces in Nicaragua, told the committee that he was convinced that the vast majority

It is planned to make the road in District 51 with a width of 60 feet. The other four are to be 50 feet wide.

LINDBERGH FEARS KISS

Flyer To Whom Flight Over Ocean Is Nothing, Qualls

HAVANA, Feb. 11.—(AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh who blazed a fearless trail above the Atlantic, blushed and retreated today before the advances of a young lady. He had accepted a bouquet of Cuban roses when the young miss attempted to embrace his neck with her arms. Lindbergh dodged the embrace. The luncheon hall, where the incident occurred, resounded with laughter until his four, was drawn back by her mother.

BRITAIN SWEEP BY HEAVY GALE; DAMAGE GREAT

Known Deaths Already Total Nine In Wake of Terrific Hurricane

SWEEPS ON TO DENMARK

Wind at Liverpool Reaches Velocity of 104 Miles Per Hour; Communications Gripped by Fierce Storm

LONDON, Feb. 11.—(AP)—The toll of the fierce gale which swept the British Isles last night, and today and which tonight was sweeping over Denmark, steadily mounted as delayed reports reached here. The loss of nine lives was attributed directly or indirectly to gale which often reached hurricane force.

Restoration of crippled communications brought details of the havoc wrought. Three houses were blown down in Manchester and hundreds in other parts of the kingdom were damaged. The torrential rains which accompanied the storm increased the flood distress in the English valleys and from Ireland came reports that the counties of Tyrone and Donegal were experiencing the worst inundations of 20 years.

Tanker Damaged
The British oil tanker Luigen, bound for New York, lost its rudder 500 miles west of Queenstown and other ships in the north Atlantic reported that they were buffeted by the howling blasts and waves forty feet high.

The velocity of the wind at Liverpool, 104 miles an hour, was said to be unprecedented there.

A Birmingham man was killed when a chimney collapsed while a baby in Gloucester was killed by a chimney stack which crashed through the roof. A workman at Lydegate, Lancashire, was crushed to death when bales of hay were blown upon him while the captain of a schooner was drowned in the Mersey at Liverpool when the gale sank a small boat. A woman was killed at Carrara in the Irish Free state.

In London the gale today reached 60 miles an hour, tearing off portions of houses, falling trees and chimneys and scattering roofing in the streets.
