The issuance of log acceptance action behind it, began in the summer of 1925 and continued during 1926 and the early part of 1927. This was the testimony of Wayne W. Waite, for five years bookkeeper for the McCormick Lumber company at the plant at McCormick, Wash.

In 1927 when, defense testimony has shown, credit in excess of one million dollars had been se cured at eastern banks on trade cceptances of the McCormick company and the Wheeler-Olm stead company, the witness said out $130,000 worth of logs had been actually purchased by the Previously in the trial it had been shown that Wheeler dis counted or sold to certain banks in Pennsylvania log or trade ac ceptances of the McCormick Lumber company in large volume Against this credit and that se cured by loans, checks were drawn by Wheeler and deposited in the Northwestern National bank to the credit of the McCormick Lumber company.
