New 900,000 Volt Tube Perfected By General Electric Assistant

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—(AP)—Development of a 900,000 volt cathode ray tube, regarded as an important step toward the production of artificial radium radiation, was announced tonight by Dr. W. D. Coolidge, assistant director of the General Electric company's research laboratory at Schenectady.

The announcement was made before the Institute of Electrical Engineers which gave Mr. Coolidge the Edison medal for his contributions to the incandescent electric lighting and "x-ray arts."

The new Coolidge tube is a three in one arrangement of its 300,000 volt predecessor which the scientist developed two years ago. Electrons are expelled from the glass container at a rate of 175,000 miles a second, nearly the speed of light rays.

Dr. Coolidge is faced with the problem of what to do with these high speed particles.

"We will experiment with them," he said. "They should eventually help us to further knowledge of radiation laws and the nature of the atom's nucleus. It is not unlikely that therapeutic, chemical, bactericidal and other practical uses will develop."

The new tube demonstrates, Dr. Coolidge said that vacuum discharge tubes can be built for as high voltages as can be produced. "The intensity factor would be tremendously in our favor as with 12 millimeters of current we would have as many high speed electrons coming from the tube as from a ton of radium."

The tube is nearly eight feet long. It has three bulbs, each a foot in diameter, which receive their supply of electrons from a heated tungsten filament. Passing from one section into another the electrons are greatly accelerated and as they shoot out of the third compartment, through a metal foil window of one ten-thousandth of an inch thick, they appear as a ball of purplish haze.

EACH NIGHT HE WALKS ON BOTTOM OF FRISCO BAY

Hours after midnight, down in the gloom of deserted black waters, a man goes walking on the bottom of San Francisco bay. He is Henry Foss, veteran diver of the maintenance department of the board of state harbor commissioners, making his inspection of the water front piling foundations. He makes the inspection at night because the harbor is still—ferryboats have stopped, and gas launches and barges are tied up.

IODINE HEART BALM

BREACH OF PROMISE CASE HEARD AT W. U. CHAPEL

"Leap week" at Willamette university has had its disastrous effects.

A young freshman girl from Vancouver, Wash., filed a breach of promise suit against Robert Starrett, junior in law, asking $100,000 for mental anguish, alleged to have been suffered as a result of the refusal of Starrett to fulfill his promise of marriage.

The case was tried yesterday, with "Red" Denman as plaintiff's attorney, and William McAllister as attorney for the defendant.

The complaint set forth in substance that Starrett had accepted a "date" with the girl at her invitation last week, during the course of which he made a promise marriage, which later he declined to fulfill.

The defense attorney charged that the promise had been made under coercion, and that she had no real affection for Starrett, but only designs on his pocket book.

Judge Eddie Goodenough awarded the plaintiff a pair of new arches, a quantity of adhesive tape to patch up the bleeding heart, and a bottle of iodine; but no money. He quoted Irving Berlin, "a poet," and Elinor Glyn, authoress, as authorities on "women" in handing down his judgment.

It all took place, of course, at the Willamette chapel yesterday. It was a skit given for entertainment of the students by members of the law school student body. "Red" Denman wrote the skit.

NANCY'S WEDDING PLANS GO FORWARD

Conversion of Seattle Girl Expected At Early Date For Marriage

COLOMBO, Ceylon, Feb. 15.—(AP)—A Hindu priest from Poona who is believed to have been commissioned to convert Miss Nancy Ann Miller of Seattle, Wash., to Hinduism, arrived here today.

Shortly after his arrival he left for the island resort of Nuwara Elyia, where Miss Miller and her fiancé, the former Maharajah of Indore, are staying.

BOMBAY, India, Feb. 15.—(AP)—The probability that the former Maharajah of Indore and his fiancée, Miss Nancy Ann Miller, of Seattle, Wash., soon will arrive in India has centered interest again on the projected marriage of the American girl and the former ruler.

The Poona correspondent of the India Evening News says that it appears virtually certain the ceremony of converting Miss Miller to Hinduism will be held in Poona. It is likely that this ceremony will last only five minutes and does not need the presence of Hindu priests. Miss Miller's part will be merely to take an oath that she desires to become a Hindu and solemnly to accept the Hindu tenets and to remain a maharatta forever.

So far as could be learned here there will be no compulsion regarding the clothes to be worn and it is not known whether Miss Miller will discard her American dress for that of the Hindu woman.

The Poona dispatch adds that there is much excitement in Indore and that it is stated the two wives of the former ruler have visited Poona in an effort to persuade the maharatta mission not to participate in the wedding even if the conversion ceremony is performed.

ENGRAVERS JOLTED

RULING HITS CONSPIRACY TO STIFLE COMPETITION

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—(AP)—Combination and conspiracy to suppress competition in price in the sale of photo-engraving products in this country was prohibited under an order issued today by the American Photo-engravers' association by the federal trade commission.

More than 200 respondents were served with the order which also enjoins the association from the making of agreements to maintain a standard scale of prices on photo-engraving products. The commission dismissed charges against the International Photo-engravers' union.

Complaints against both the engraver-manufacturers and the union engravers grew out of methods adopted in 1914 for enforcing a system of set prices for photo-engraving work throughout the nation. The Standard sale, according to the findings of the commission, was to facilitate measures for the regulation and lessening of price competition in photo-engraving products, and to enhance the prices of them.

Federal Aid Requested To Settle All Lands

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—(AP)—Federal aid in bringing settlers to both private and public lands on reclamation projects was urged in resolutions adopted today at the final session of the reclamation conference called by Secretary Work. Several thousand settlers were said to be needed to make the government's reclamation projects successful enterprises.

The conference asked that the reclamation act be amended by congress to provide for the use of the reclamation fund on public and private lands, the money to be loaned over a long period of years and at a low rate of interest. Endorsement was given the Kendrick bill in the senate and the Winter bill in the house providing for aided and directed settlement of the projects.

Frankie Genaro Taken for Petty Thievery

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—(AP)—Describing himself as "a mechanic out of work," Frank Mantella, known in the ring as Frankie Genaro, National Boxing association flyweight champion of the world, was in night court tonight charged with stealing 15 cents from the coin box of a public telephone. He denied the charge, which was dismissed.

N. Y. BANKS MERGE

PLAN FOR BILLION DOLLAR PLANET NOW RUMORED

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—(AP)—Consolidation of three New York banks into a billion dollar financial institution may result from negotiations now being carried on by A. P. Giannini, head of the Bancitaly corporation and officials of the Manufacturers Trust company, it was learned today. The merger, which would rival in size the National City and Chase National banks, would comprise the Bank of Italy, Manufacturers Trust and the Bank of America.

Although no official confirmation of the proposed combination has been given, it is known that Mr. Giannini has been in New York for two weeks, conferring with Nathan Jonas, president of the Industrial Securities corporation, which is said to control the Bank of America.

The Bancitaly corporation already holds large interests in both Manufacturers Trust and the Bank of America.

120 Cases of Bonded Liquor Reported Sent to Bottom

EVERETT, Wash., Feb. 15.—(AP)—Investigating reports that a speedboat carrying 120 cases of purported bonded liquor had sunk off Edmonds, north of here, two United States coast guard boats were cooperating with a posse of federal prohibition agents in seeking the cargo today. The speedboat was said to have sunk when it struck a log last night.

Two men swam ashore from the wrecked boat, prohibition officials learned. They estimated the value of the cargo at about $3,400 and the boat $10,000.

The coast guard cutters Naida and Arcata were detailed to aid in the search. The Naida is equipped with a dryer and apparatus for exploring the floor of the sound.

GUM FOOD OR CHEW?

MEADVILLE, Pa., Feb. 15.—(AP)—After hearing long discussions as to whether chewing gum is food or just something to chew, a jury in criminal court here today reported a disagreement following upon seven hours deliberation.

The case was between the state public food department and the Blatz Brewing company. Milwaukee, and arose over the sale by a merchant of Blatz grape gum, analyzed at Harrisburg and said to have shown no trace of grape.

The commonwealth contended that since the gum contained 81 per cent of sugar there could be denial that it was a foodstuff and called experts in behalf of its contention. J. W. Sale, of the United States department of agriculture, exhibited a number of samples in contending that gum is food. J. W. Harrison of the state agricultural department argued that chewing gum is an auxiliary food the same as candy.

MURDER SUSPECT NABBED BY POLICE

Considerable Doubt Seen As To Whether Captured Man Is Meek

MARYSVILLE, Cal., Feb. 15.—(AP)—Barney Chambers of Klamath Falls, Ore., tonight communicated with authorities here and asked them to keep in custody a man suspected of being the slayer of John Ansil, although Sheriff Bert Hawkins of Klamath Falls today ordered the man released.

The prisoner said he is Arthur Gibson and he has been identified as "John Meek" by Mrs. Marjorie Butts, who said she went to school with him, and worked with him recently in an express office in the Oregon city.

A photograph of Gibson is not that of Meek. Sheriff Hawkins notified Sheriff C. J. McCoy here and asked that the man be given his liberty.

J. W. Raynor, a Sacramento, Cal., traveling man, told Sheriff McCoy that he knew of the Klamath Falls case and asked McCoy to hold the suspect.

Raynor got in communication with Chambers and the latter said he would come here or send an officer to attempt verification of the suspect's identity.

Chambers is the storekeeper who employed Ansil. The bullet taken from the victim's body, Chambers said, was used on only three revolvers in Klamath Falls. Two of the weapons have been traced.

It was reported that Meek, after shooting Ansil, fled as far south as Redding, Cal., where he abandoned his automobile.
