CHAMPOEG HIGHWAY WOULD PAY

As a retort to a remark of another speaker, George Vick at the Salem Y. M. C. A. forum meeting last night, made a side reply like this:

li the state of Oregon would build the Champoeg highway from Selem to Portland, and make it a wide highway, in ov cars to speed as fast as their drivers liked-So that they might cover the distance between the capital and the metropolis in 40 minutes-

And would charge a toll of a dollar a car each way, enough autos would use this highway to pay the cost of it, and the bridge across the Willamette near Champoeg, in two years.

The distance saved, according to those who have been advocating the construction of the Champoeg highway, would cut the mileage between Salem and Portland to about 40 miles. It is easy to see that if there were no limit in the speed, some autos would take less time than 40 minutes to make the time.

By the way, this brings up the fact that Salem ought to begin to bestir herself in regard to the proposed centenary tration in 1934, in commemoration of the coming of the missionaries to Salem in 1834, to start the march of civiliza-What?" the Oregon Country.
