Counter Strokes A Few That Put Father Out I shopped for lots of little but important things yesterday, and had a glorious time. With the short skirts girls have quit rolling their hose and are wearing the garter belts. I get mine at the Howard Corset Shop where they have them in all widths. A. E. Lyons, 420 Court, "The Friendly Store," has some wonderful values in hosiery, clear silk with pointed heels for $1.00. As for shoes I simply get the ones that match my clothes best and that they tell me at Price's are correct and smart, for really they always have the latest lines and they know. Good news! 65c bottle of perfume with each $1.00 box of Coty Powder at the Central Pharmacy Yes, I think my permanent wave is the best, and it didn't cost too much. It's a Eugene and I had it done at the Modern Mar-nello, 206 Masonic Bldg. I looked over last Friday's Green section of The Statesman and found the Theatre coupon. I could hardly find a seat but I got in alright. Just inside the door I noticed a whole waste paper basket full of sales slips—people surely read the ads in that Green section. The show was very good.

DREAMS The foolish little dream I dreamed Was but a tinselled toy— Life shattered it To make me seek A richer, deeper joy. And I have lived to bless The hour That brought me tears and rue. Life bade me dream A greater dream And lo! the dream came true. —John Moreland.
