First of a Series of Card Parties Will Be Sponsored by B. and P. W. Club

The first of a series of card parties which the Business and Professional Women's club has arranged will be given Wednesday evening at 468 North Winter street. Miss Merl E. Dimick and Miss Edith Burch will be hostesses at the affair.

Reservations are being made with Mrs. Maude Pointer, phone 2458-R, not later than Tuesday evening.

The committee in charge of the series is composed of Miss Lillian Schroeder, Miss Susan Varty, Miss Signe Paulsen, Marianne Harris, Miss Merl E. Dimick, and Miss Lillian Ramage.

Tables of both bridge and "500" will be in play Wednesday evening. The Salem Woman's Club is sponsoring an elaborate and beautiful affair at the club-house on North Cottage street.

A benefit bridge tea was in progress in the main auditorium of the club-house, while gracious ladies in Japanese costumes, welcomed their guests on the lower floor which had been transformed into a charming Oriental garden with shrubbery, Japanese lanterns, and rarest treasures from the Orient.

Rice paper with colorful Japanese designs covered the windows. A narrow path wound through the shrubbery to a tea room, dozens of Japanese lanterns hung along the way furnishing the only illumination. Sprays of scotch broom and pussywillows arranged about the columns gave a delightful Oriental effect. Gorgeous hangings decorated the walls and beautiful jars and vases, containing graceful sprays of pussywillows, added beauty to this charming scene.

charge of a section of the floor in which Chinese brasse, etchings, and other exquisite curios were on display. Dr. Mary C. Rowland arranged another corner with batiks and Oriental hangings.

The guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. S. M. Endicott, Mrs. W. B. Johnston, and Mrs. D. R. Ross. The silver offering for the club-house fund was taken by Mrs. George Lewis who presented a most attractive picture in a Japanese robe of black and white, heavily embroidered in the six-point star design. She carried red flowers and an old brass bowl. She wore sprays of the same red flowers in her dark hair.

For the first hour of the afternoon, Mrs. Carl Gregg Doney, presided at the attractively appointed tea table. Tea was served from a beautiful service of Japanese ware loaned for the occasion. Mrs. Doney was lovely in a graceful robe of lilac silk embroidered in the rose design in shades of rose, lilac, lavender, and softest purple. In her beautiful silver hair, she wore a rose chrysanthemum.

She was succeeded at the second hour by Mrs. Alice H. Dodd, who wore an elaborate Persian costume which she bought while touring abroad. Her head dress which fastened with a band of brass coils, fell almost to the floor. Her wrists were adorned with dozens of heavy bracelets. Strands of beads, a long jacket of blue, heavily embroidered, with a full skirt banded in dull red completed this colorful costume.

Several of the hostesses appeared in costumes of unusual loveliness. Mrs. J. H. Lauterman wore a striking Japanese robe of black brocade lined with orange. An intricate design was embroidered in silk on each sleeve. She wore a gold and rose chrysanthemum in her hair.

Mrs. George H. Alden, in a clever Chinese costume, composed of a knee-length coat and long trousers of orange and black silk, was the subject of many admiring comments.

Mrs. F. M. Erickson wore a little Chinese suit of apple green. The sleeves of the short jacket were lined with rose and the entire costume was extremely well suited to her petite type. Her head dress was of gold embroidered silk.

An attractive costume which she brought while living in China was worn by Mrs. C. A. Downs. The jacket was edged in maroon and gold. The brilliant head dress which she wore was fastened in the back with long Chinese pins.

Mrs. W. F. Fargo, represented a Korean woman in a costume of lilac pad silk. The material which was of varied shades of blue, was draped over the shoulder and arms. A long black silk sash, falling almost to the floor, completed the costume.

Mrs. G. L. Forge was in complete charge of the affair. Assisting her were Mrs. C. E. Stricklin, Mrs. Earl H. Anderson, Mrs. Rose Bidwell, Mrs. E. E. Lintz, Mrs. Paul H. Hauser, Mrs. William E. Kirk, and Miss Mattie Beatty. WILL IMPROVE PARK. WOODBURN COUNCIL ASKED FOR AID IN PROJECT. WOODBURN, Ore., Feb. 18—(Special)—An effort has been made during the past few weeks to get the city council to improve the city park. This park is a beautiful tract of native timber, located near the northeast corner of the city. It was purchased several years ago but has never been improved.

During the past week Mr. Elliott and about 25 other men have been making an effort to improve it for the benefit of the Modern Woodmen of America intend to have there this coming June. H. E. Bjelland, who has an up-to-date poultry ranch east of town, is having his house remodeled and several other improvements made in his buildings.

Ivan Stewart, representing the Archerd Implement company of Salem, was here on business Thursday and Friday. He reports that the farmers are all busy plowing and seeding. The ground is in excellent condition for putting in spring crops. This is an unusual thing for this time of the year.

Mrs. Guiss, the home economics teacher of the Woodburn high school, and six students left Friday to attend the educational exposition at Corvallis. This exposition is held every year and students and teachers from all parts of the state are in attendance.

The W. R. C. will meet in the I. O. O. F. hall next Thursday, February 23, at 2 o'clock. At 3 the public is invited to attend a program which will be given in honor of the birthdays of Washington and Lincoln.

West Linn defeated Woodburn on the Woodburn floor February 16 by a score of 32 to 16. What can the Cuban authorities mean by banning American cigarettes? Don't they want their citizens to get rid of that cough?—Macon Telegraph.

Mrs. Harry Hawkins, Mrs. Dan J. Fry, Jr., Mrs. T. A. Roberts, Mrs. John Crandall Watson, and Miss Charlotte Zieher assisted Mrs. Roberts and Mrs. Slade in serving at the tea hour. The charmingly appointed tea table in the dining room was centered with a lovely combination of spring flowers in pastel shades. NEW CONTENDERS COMING TO FRONT

Contestants Entering the Lists Late Spurt To Head of Column

HONOR ROLL TODAY. N. E. Williams, Thelma Haugen, Carol Smith.

By the Contest Editor. Leader in whole contest—Miss N. E. Williams. Miss N. E. Williams, who joined the contest a short time ago, has become active, and today she is the leader in the contest. She is also the leader in the honor roll today, with Thelma Haugen a very close second.

Miss Williams is very much in earnest in the contest, and now that she is in action, she expects her friends to rally around her and help her to win one of the valuable prizes. Miss Williams has a host of friends in her home town at McMinnville, and if they will lend her their co-operation, it will help her materially to organize her campaign. She is to be congratulated for the splendid start she has made.

Miss Thelma Haugen called at the office today with her father to interview the contest editor, and we took her through the plant, showed her the new equipment and went over to Vic Bros. to show her the Oakland Six Sedan. She was much taken with this splendid prize and has made up her mind to try her best to win this car. Miss Haugen makes an appeal to her friends in her community to help her secure votes, and we believe that, with her wonderful ambition, if she is consistent and works every day from now till the end of the contest, she will head the list of the serious contenders when the radio is awarded and the cars are passed around. Candidates, listen! The radio contest closes tomorrow night, Monday, February 20, at midnight. Nobody has the radio won yet, and undoubtedly the work done between now and tomorrow night will determine the winner of this splendid $200.00 Trego TRF 5 radio, that is hanging in the balance at the present time.

Organize your forces, call on your friends and do everything you possibly can to get your subscriptions in the office or in the mail not later than midnight Monday. This prize will undoubtedly be won by a small balance, and the little effort on your part now will probably be the deciding factor in the radio prize and also help to put you over for the big prize.

Every candidate should bend his utmost efforts and turn promises into subscriptions. If you have any subscriptions in mind, be sure to get them in immediately.

High School Students Told About Vocations

CORVALLIS, Feb. 17.—(AP)—Vocational guidance—the theme of every educational exposition here—was emphasized at the outset of the fifth annual program today when hundreds of selected student and faculty delegates from 141 Oregon high schools heard Dr. James Devos of San Jose outline the guiding principles in choosing a career. High school graduates have a normal life expectancy of 48 years, which cannot be appraised in value but which can be invested or sold to the highest bidder. Dr. Devos told the visitors at the opening convocation. Five guiding principles enumerated by the speaker are: To choose with a scientific rather than a superstitious attitude; to decide only after making a self-inventory in which an intelligence test is a help if wisely used; to have knowledge of proposed occupations and their future, and finally to realize that a great life can be lived in any of many occupations.

Large Lumbermen's Joint Organization Approved

SEATTLE, Feb. 18.—(AP)—A merger of the West Coast Lumber Trade Extension Bureau and the West Coast Lumbermen's association was approving yesterday, with only one dissenting vote by the 150 Pacific northwest lumbermen whom the associations represented.

The new organization, to begin functioning within the year, is to be known as the West Coast Lumbermen's association and will represent a total annual lumber cuttage of more than five billion feet. It is expected that many of the 119 independent lumbermen in the region will join the combined bureau in an attempt to systematize and advertise the industry.

Colonel W. B. Greely, chief forester of the United States, is to assume the post of secretary-manager of the new association. Robert Allen, secretary-manager of the old association, for 10 years, tendered his resignation.
