

AMES TOURIST PARK SOLD TO HIEBERG

Reasons At Woodburn Hold Homecoming; Play Will Be Presented Friday

WOODBURN, Feb. 22.—(Special)—The Ames auto park on the Pacific highway one mile north of Woodburn has been sold to L. H. Hieberg, who has taken possession and is making extensive improvements there. This is one of the most attractive auto parks along the highway, as in addition to the store and the many nice cabins, it maintains a zoo of no mean proportion. Mr. Hieberg intends to add to the collection of animals that he has at the present time and improve the park in many other ways.

Mrs. P. H. Briery is seriously ill at her home. She is suffering from dropsy and is entirely blind. Mr. and Mrs. H. Ashland and family, Miss Laura Martin and Mr. and Mrs. Freeman were Sunday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mathleson of Portland.

The local Masons had a homecoming at the Masonic Temple last Saturday evening, Feb. 18. A number of former Woodburn Masons were present on this occasion.

Charles Fletcher of St. John spent the week-end at the home of his sister, Mrs. Kiewer. The new store building, located between the two banks on Front street, is nearing completion. This is a handsome building and decided improvement as compared to the building which burned down last fall. John A. Wre, the owner, expects to lease to two different tenants.

The Federated Women of the E. church held their monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Florence Goulet of Corby street. The hostesses for this occasion were Mrs. Florence Goulet, Mrs. Nettie Hammerman, Mrs. C. F. Whitman, Mrs. Harcastle, Mrs. James Livey and Mrs. George Beach. The program was in charge of the foreign missionary society and every one present had a very enjoyable time.

On Friday evening, February 24, the local woman's club will feature a comedy, which is entitled "The Burglars." This will be given at the Woodburn high school auditorium at 8 o'clock. This play is highly entertaining and will worth anyone's time and money. There will also be music, dancing, and dances as added attractions.

GRAND CHIEF TAKEN OFFICIAL ARRESTED IN ENGINEER'S ORGANIZATION

WAYCROSS, Ga., Feb. 22.—(AP)—R. E. Edrington, assistant grand chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, was arrested here today on a charge of violating a temporary court order restraining him from expelling local members of the organization.

The restraining order was issued several weeks ago when Edrington came here from Cleveland in connection with the formation of a "protective committee" by the local which brought charges against national officers of the Brotherhood in a circular letter to members.

In applying for the order local officers charged that Edrington had come here to expel members of the local and revoke its charter. An application to make the order permanent now is under consideration by Superior Judge J. B. Blalock, who held a hearing on it last week.

The warrant for Edrington's arrest charged contempt of court and was sworn out. It was alleged after he had expelled four members of the local in violation of the order. This order enjoined him from interfering in any way with division 648, which is the Waycross district.

Salem's Barnyard Golf Stars Badly Trounced

Some eight Salem embryo "barnyard golf" stars feel chastened today. Confident, after prolonged practice on vacant lots, that they were expert enough at ringing the stake, the Salem pitchers recently issued a challenge to Portland champions for a match on the local court at the Rink-a-Dink club on West Myers street.

The Portlanders grabbed the challenge so quickly that the confidence of the locals was somewhat shattered but when the visitors arrived yesterday afternoon the rival horseshoe tossers walked to the stakes and began the battle. George Vick, local automobile

OREGONIANS REACH SACRAMENTO CITY

Warm Reception Extended By Californians When Caravan Arrives

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Cementing the friendship that has existed between Oregon and California for years on end, Governor I. L. Patterson of Oregon was greeted here this afternoon by Governor C. C. Young of California at a reception in the gubernatorial offices at the end of a motor tour through the Sacramento valley from Redding. Governor Patterson is visiting California with a good-will caravan made up of Oregon officials and citizens and officials from several of the larger cities of the northern state.

Reaching here after visiting the several cities between Redding, where the automobile party stopped last night, and Sacramento, Governor Patterson declared he is an ardent admirer of California's climate, scenery and agricultural and industrial enterprises. Governor Patterson's admiration for California however, has not all been based upon his present trip, for he frequently has visited this state.

Tonight the official party was entertained at a dinner given by the Sacramento chamber of commerce with Governor Young acting as host and George W. Pettier, president of the chamber of commerce as chairman of the evening. "The party leaves Sacramento at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow morning for Oakland where it will attend a "mayors' luncheon" at which

CONGRESS HONORS FATHER OF COUNTRY

Birthday of George Washington Observed With Fitting Ceremony

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—(AP)—The strident clamor of partisanship and conflicting opinion was stilled today as congress stood at pause to commune again down the long, full years with the spirit of the father of his country.

Again it observed Washington's birthday with the custom hallowed by time, listening to the farewell address of the first president that has come to have meaning for Americans scarcely less significant than the declaration of independence or the constitution itself.

A single senate sub-committee, plodding along with hearings on the anti-injunction bill aimed at judicial intervention in labor strikes, was in session during the day.

House and senate met separately to hear selected members come over again the farewell address. That honor fell to the veteran Burton of Ohio in the house, and to Shipstead of Minnesota in the senate.

And in the senate another former president, Chief Justice Taft, sat to pay his tribute to Washington, while in the house the brilliant coloring of featured head dresses of two Indian chieftans in full costume made a vivid spot among the handful of spectators.

So congress halted this year to harken again to the wisdom of Washington; to marvel again at the depth of vision and understanding that gave his words today as much meaning and force in meeting problems of today as they had bearing on problems of the day in which they were uttered, and to realize anew the task it will face in the months just ahead.

VANDALS NOSE OUT OREGON AGGIE FIVE

MOSCOW, Feb. 22.—(AP)—The University of Idaho closed its home conference basketball season here tonight by nosing out the Oregon Aggies in the last minute of play, winning 22 to 20. Idaho took an early lead in the first period, but near the end a revamped Aggie five closed the gap and forged a point ahead of the Vandals, hanging on almost to the final gun.

The half ended 12 to 6 for Idaho.

The visitors missed their short shots but were in good form for the long counters. The Aggie five man defense held Idaho for a while, but the Vandals' floor work counted heavily as the game wore on.

LINDY PAYS VISIT TO DETROIT CITY

Flyer Makes Trip From St. Louis Unheralded and Unannounced

DETROIT, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh who left St. Louis in an airplane this morning accompanied by four friends for an unannounced destination, landed at Selfridge field near here at 3:55 p. m., shortly before Major Thomas G. Lanphier, commander of the army first pursuit group arrived from Buffalo, N. Y.

Colonel Lindbergh made a landing at the far eastern end of the flying field where he was tricked away to the field headquarters in a waiting automobile. He declined later to state the purpose of his visit here, stating that "my visit is a personal one. I want to drop out of public life for a while."

Accompanying Colonel Lindbergh were Harold M. Bixby, president of the St. Louis chamber of commerce; William B. Robertson, president of the Curtiss-Robertson aircraft corporation; Harry H. Knight, president of the St. Louis flying club and B. F. Mahoney, president of the Ryan air lines, Inc., maker of the famous Spirit of St. Louis.

It was unofficially reported that arrangements had been made for a conference with Edsel Ford, president of the Ford Motor company upon aviation matters.

Major Lanphier and his guests, after luncheon went into a closed conference which lasted several hours but nothing was given out regarding the discussion.

Later Major Lanphier told the Associated Press that Lindbergh's visit was more or less of a social nature.

Questioned regarding reports that Lindbergh and himself might become associated with an air transportation project, the major declared the rumor is "news to me."

The major labelled as "erroneous" a report that he and Lindbergh contemplated operation of an aeronautical school.

In flying circles Major Lanphier is rated as one of the greatest aerial tacticians in the world. He is a graduate of West Point, and

REED FLAYS PLANK IDEAS IN ADDRESS

Rally For Democratic Candidate Gathers At City of Topeka, Kan.

TOPEKA, Kan., Feb. 22.—(AP)—Democratic leaders who insist upon platform planks on which the party is divided were bitterly assailed tonight by Senator James A. Reed, of Missouri before a state wide rally of democrats.

Without mentioning names or the issues to which he referred, the militant Missourian declared that the "man who seeks to divide the party—to force into the platform issues upon which there is great division—is the best assistant the republican party can have."

He said "the efforts to coddle and attract all sorts, classes and opinions have alienated the votes of thousands who would willingly give loyal adherence to the great principles for which we stand."

Since opening his western campaign, Senator Reed has said, off the platform, that he believed the party had "bigger fish to fry than prohibition" and again tonight he declared the issue, in his opinion was "purging of the public business; the cleansing of the departments; the expulsion of the sinister lobby and the restoration of honesty and decency at the capitol."

"That is the crying need of the hour," he shouted. "That work can only be done by the democratic party. When that task is accomplished, it will be time to debate and divide upon other questions."

"Without hesitation I declared that the strata of the republican party which has for the past eight years controlled the government is the most corrupt, the most venal and the most vicious body of men by which this nation has ever been afflicted."

"Both parties have sought to gain the favor of voters by putting into their platforms declarations intended to gain the adherence of almost every group and organization," Reed declared. "The result is, the major issues have been so obscured that the average man is left in doubt."

"It seems to have been forgotten that when a party declares in favor of a multitude of things it is likely to lose the support of everybody who is dissatisfied in any one of the things advocated."

"Party solidarity can only be obtained by writing into platforms the principles upon which we agree. It can never be secured by declaring for these things upon which we are in serious disagreement."

"It is the conception of some that if they can induce a majority of the committee in resolutions to accept their particular pet hobby, and then in the closing hours of the convention jam it through, the success of the measure is assured—that all democrats thereby will be compelled to support a principle in which they do not believe."

"By such procedure voters are driven from us and the party is divided into contending groups. What I want is that the issues shall be so framed that those who believe with us upon the main points of the case may cooperate in relieving this country from the misrule under which it now suffers."

began flying in France during the World war, and his service in the army air corps has been continuous since.
