

Tom Heeney Mauls Jack Delaney for Nod at Madison Square Garden

BIG NEW ZEALANDER GETS JUDGES' VOTE

By ALAN J. GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor
MADISON SQUARE GARDEN,
New York, March 1. (AP)—

The heavyweight ambitions of Jack Delaney crumpled once again tonight, this time before the bull-like attack of the iron-jawed batter from New Zealand, Tom Heeney.

Before a crowd of more than 18,000 that paid $175,000 to see the first of the heavyweight elimination semi-finals, Heeney carried off the decision over the erstwhile French-Canadian sharpshooter in 15 mauling, bruising rounds.

It was not a one-sided victory for the blocky, square jawed boxer from the antipodes, but it was decisive, nevertheless, and gained as the result of a determined rally in the last four rounds.

In a struggle that was fast if not spectacular, punctuated by bruising clinches, Heeney emerged the victor because he was the aggressor all the way. Chubby Tom seldom gave his opponent a chance to get set for a knockout swing. Outboxed, outsmarted and out-speeded by his rival, Heeney nevertheless kept charging in, punishing Delaney severely about the body with an attack that was more persistent as it was damaging.

Delaney, conceding nearly 30 pounds to his far more rugged rival, stood up gallantly under Tom's steady punelling. The sharpshooter's main weapon was a left hook to the jaw. He used it repeatedly with jarring effect, but it seldom made more than a fleeting impression on the grey and rock-like countenance of the Anzac.

The margin, nevertheless, between Delaney's sharpshooting and Heeney's constant plunking was so close at the finish that there was a wide divergence of opinion, not only among ringside experts but among the spectators. The verdict of the two judges and referee Jack Denning in Heeney's favor was greeted with mingled bores and cheers by the ring that jammed the arena.

The Associated Press score sheet, however, showed a convincing margin in Heeney's favor. On eight rounds were tallied for the Anzac, six for Delaney, and one, the fourth, even.

Heeney's advantage was gained chiefly through the first five and the last four rounds while Delaney, from the sixth to the twelfth, held the upper hand.

Delaney was a picture of bronze as he danced from his corner and a solid left hook into Heeney's body drove into the ropes with a jarring effect on the head. As he wrestled away Heeney threw his whole weight on Delaney and nearly sent him to the floor. The Anzac led in with a solid right to the head and Heeney cracked him full on the chin with a left.

Heeney's bull-like aggressiveness never wavered. He tore and slashed at Delaney's body but Jack nearly upset him by cracking a left hook to the head. He never battered an eye lash, flailing his back at the brown body of the tall impetuous dancer. Heerter, the referee, stood in the center of the ring for a few seconds and again Delaney lashed pretty left hook to the chin. The Anzac stormed in with the blow and was straggled like a pair of longhorns, as he smashed Delaney's ribs with a right and clipped his left twice to the chin before the bell rang.

ROUND THREE
Delaney began to box his heavy slugging rival and did a little better in his short right charged solidly to the chin. Delaney cracked two left hooks on the Anzac's ribs and the Anzac just bowed his head and drove Delaney into a corner with a ripping head knock. Tom was relentless, a right lunging fury as Delaney tried and back into the ropes. Delaney danced out with a new bold and flashed both hands at Heeney's chin. Delaney lost his mouth as the round ended and had to be helped around the ring during the minute rest to get it back.

ROUND FOUR
Heeney whipped a solid right to Jack's chin at the bell but took the short clubs both hands as he fell into a clinch. Anzac dug a left hook into Delaney's eye that sounded all over the arena. Delaney with a right hand shot a jab back out of danger as Delaney probed his mighty right. Heeney right back and the Anzac's head went range to each other's head. They are still pounding at close quarters on the second round.

ROUND FIVE
Tom whaled in again but looked a little better as Delaney jacked him off once with a left and cuffed him around the neck. The Anzac roughed and drove in to get Heeney's right hand to get Heeney's head and then dropped into a clinch. He did it a half dozen times and Tom drove him into a corner, a deep right into Jack's body. Heeney was sparring Heeney neatly with a right and a left effectively to the bell.

ROUND SEVEN

ROUND EIGHT
The first time Delaney took a full head shot at Heeney's chin and the Anzac just stomped ahead, his short-arm being through Delaney's guard to the head. Heeney's left hand under the chin. The fight degenerated into a thing that was a little hitting and a little jabbing apart by the referee. He was scarcely a bit of open fight, any damage done to the fighters.

ROUND NINE

ROUND TEN
Heeney did his best to make a right of his swinging free with both hands, but Jack started on trying him up. Delaney complained of foul and danced around the ring in pain. Heeney had a punch into Delaney's territory. The referee sent him back into action but he was a bit dizzy and Heeney's right hand with solid hooks to the chin. Delaney shot a stinging right uppercut to Heeney's head and this time the Anzac was both hands right up to the bell, but close cut catch him from against.

ROUND ELEVEN
Delaney boxed Heeney's head with left hooks and jabs and the crowd roared as the Anzac from time to time. Heeney appeared at last, undamaged. Heeney came right back with his short pudgy arms, stroking steadily to the body. As Delaney moved, Heeney's right hand to the head and rights to the head. The tide was turning again as the sturdy Irishman from Down under battled Delaney into a corner and worked on his head and body. Jack appeared tired and was heading quite anxiously to the bell.

ROUND TWELVE
Heeney, sailing in a second, drove Delaney into a neutral corner to pound for the ribs. Jack blocked all but one of Heeney's punches but Heeney's right hand to the head. Heeney's right hand to the head. Heeney's right hand to the head. Heeney's right hand to the head.

ROUND THIRTEEN

JOHNNY BECK, who pitched for the Salem Senators last year, appears to be making good with the San Francisco Seals, according to word received by "Frisco" Edwards, Senator manager.

Beck pitched at the training camp the other day for the first time in four innings, he allowed two hits and no runs, pitching for one of the yanigan teams.

Nick Williams has turned loose some of his pitchers, but Beck is still on the list, which indicates that he is likely to draw a regular berth on the pitching staff despite the stiff competition.
