HAZEL McMORRIS

Hazel McMorris, whose name appears on the honor roll today and who leads the entire contest in votes, is a young lady of a very pleasing personality and has a host of friends.

She has lived in Salem five and a half years; a graduate of Salem high school, attended Willamette University for two years, and in her spare time was dental assistant for Dr. Carl E. Miller. She is also an active member of the First Christian church.

It is a well known fact that Miss McMorris has splendid natural ability, and her friends feel that if she works hard that she is bound to be a conspicuous contestant when the automobiles are passed around.

Ballots are coming in every day from different sections of the district for this young lady, and judging from the number of votes she has a host of friends.

day in the Whippet coach campaign.

The candidate who secures the most money on subscriptions, both old and new, for the three weeks ending March 12, at midnight, wins the splendid $687.00 Whippet coach. The race is a very even one so far, and the work done between now and midnight tomorrow night will probably determine the winner of this magnificent special prize.

While there are not many that are left in the grand finals, there are more than we have big prizes for, and accordingly every candidate must do his utmost and get as many subscriptions and votes in as possible not later than tomorrow at midnight. This is a very important day in the contest.
The special effort you make today may be just the subscription that you will need to win the Whippet.

If the contestants halt now for a moment—if they slack up and let their enthusiasm wane—if they overlook their one opportunity to win, they take the desperate risk of losing their big prize, already won, that really belongs to them. The candidate who fails to do her utmost at this stage is in danger of bringing disappointment to friends, who are as interested in their success as the candidates themselves.

Sealed Ballot Box
In order to make it absolutely fair to all, the sealed ballot box will be in effect starting Wednesday, March 14, until the end of the contest. We believe that this is in the interest of all the candidates and makes it absolutely fair to everybody, as we hit the last week of the big contest. This is the policy that is followed in practically all the big contests conducted in the United States, as it is a fair way to wind up a contest.

The seal will be placed on the box after the final turn-in Tuesday night, and the box will be carefully protected from that time until the ballots are handed over to the committee of judges when they meet at the close of the contest.

The last vote standing of candidates will be published in the paper Tuesday morning. Candidates are requested to check up on their votes and if they think there is a mistake in the published votes and their own check up, we ask them to come into the office not later than Friday, March 16, and let us check up with them and unravel tangles, if any, that may have developed in any way.
No adjustment or complaint will be considered after that date. We use a Burroughs Adding machine to add up the votes and do our utmost to assure accuracy. If you think there is any mistake come in and get it off your mind.

Ralph Eyre, who heads the honor roll today, had a wonderfully good day yesterday securing subscriptions, which indicates what this boy and his friends can do if they really try. Ralph is a go-getter and he has a mother who is extremely hard to beat when she gets down to business in earnest. If Ralph gets his organization working right, he will have enough power to win an automobile.

D. B. Boydston of Independence is coming strong and indications are that he will make a strong finish.
