

HUNDREDS WITNESS MILLER STYLE SHOW

Spring Mode Portrayed in Creation of Store's Own Designers

Well over a thousand people crowded into the Miller department store last night to attend the annual combined fashion show and open house...

Three tiny maids, modelling dainty children's dresses and accessories, were given a round of applause as they opened the evening's style show.

Miss Mollie Pearmine, of the children's department, directed the little girls in their revues.

Procks, sports suits, evening gowns, coats, and the ensemble were all shown in their latest modes and in sufficient number that the guests might really know the authoritative latest word in reinvestment for midday.

Mrs. Grace Carter, superintendent of all the clothing sections at Miller's had charge of the feature attraction.

Selections from the store victricia throughout the style show added to the enjoyment.

In a short introductory speech Mr. Sisson contrasted the first spring display and open house held seven years ago with the pretentious affair held last night.

As the guests entered the store each was presented with a red opening carnation, many bouquets of which were also placed about the store.

ENLARGED BAKERY OPENS NEXT WEEK

History of the steady progress which has been made by the Cherry City Baking company in Salem was outlined at Wednesday's Rotary club luncheon by Grover Hillman and Walter T. Molloy, members of the firm, in connection with their announcement that the rebuilt and enlarged bakery building on Market street will be opened formally next week.

Started in 1917, this industry has increased, Mr. Hillman related, until it now has nine delivery routes extending south to Harriburg, north to Aurora, east to Kings Valley and west to Willamina. Four of the routes are in Salem.

Mr. Molloy explained the involved process by which bread is now made, eliminating the human element almost entirely, as compared to the hand kneading process used when he first entered the industry.

Claude Farr, head of the bakery service of the Sperry Flour company, was another speaker. He complimented the heads of the firm on the completeness and excellence of their new plant.

Yesterday tells of the death of Dana Elliott: Funeral services for Dana Elliott, who died Sunday in San Francisco, will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the Portland crematorium.

DEMOCRAT PESSIMISTIC

Everything Desirable Has Its Drawbacks, Complainant

WASHINGTON, Mar. 21.—(AP)—Everything that makes a man happy in this world either is unlawful or unhealthy in the United States, Senator Tydings, democrat, Maryland, said today in the course of a debate on the Norbeck migratory bird refuge act.

ATTEMPTS TO CUT HEAD

Dramatic Effort Made to Carve Out Brain For Exhibition

LOS ANGELES, March 21.—(AP)—The brain of Manuel Gallegos, who pleaded not guilty by reason of insanity to a charge of attempted murder, did not come before the jury as an exhibit today only because the razor which he wielded on the witness stand failed to penetrate the skull.

WOMAN FOUND SUICIDE

Resident of The Dalles Sends Bullet Through Heart

THE DALLES, Mar. 21.—(AP)—Mrs. Crystal Tillman, 27, of Sacramento, Cal., was found dead here today with a bullet through her heart. The coroner said the death was a case of suicide and announced that no inquest would be held.

Accident Commission Sues 3 Firms in Marion County

Three suits were filed in circuit court here yesterday by the state industrial accident commission to collect money alleged to be due from employers under the workmen's compensation law.

HOSS ANNOUNCES

PORTLAND, Mar. 21.—(AP)—Formal announcement of his candidacy for the republican nomination for secretary of state was made today by Hal E. Hoss of Oregon City, former secretary to the governor.

COUNTY GRAND JURY BRINGS DEATH CHARGE

Speaking of the blast, "but I know this much—that Earl is innocent." Hears News First Time Monday Jones was told that his wife and son had been killed by the terrific blast but the news that Earl was under suspicion was kept from him.

Prof. W. G. Elliott was one of the most loved and popular superintendents of the Salem public schools a number of years ago, going from here to the Idaho state normal school. His son, Dana, was a favorite among the young people of this city while the family lived here.

ing intense pain, hesitated and blanched as though a new pain had shot through his body. Then he mumbled slowly but none the less positively: "No, Earl could not have done it."

SINCLAIR TALK STILL ECHOES IN U. S. SENATE

(Continued from page 1) that he never had even suggested to the late Fred W. Ugham, treasurer of the republican national committee, that neither party made a report in 1928 explaining that he was not then active in party affairs due to illness and knew that no report to congress was required by law until 1934 after he would have given up his office.

The outburst in the senate came after the committee session and after Senator Copeland, democrat, New York, had caused to be read into the record Governor Smith's letter to Senator Nye, in which the democrat presidential candidate assailed as "false and reckless" the statements of Nye and Robinson in the senate on Monday that Sinclair had contributed to his campaign fund in the New York gubernatorial race in 1920.

Adverting to the Smith letter, Robinson characterized the governor's language as "unstatesmanlike" and said he had simply been trying to ascertain whether Sinclair had been a member of the Smith administration after 1920 in the office of racing commissioner.

"Doheny and Sinclair sleep in the same bed and a lot of democrats sleep with them," Robinson shouted.

Constantly heckled by democratic senators, the Indiana republican finally recalled that Sinclair had held his official position under Smith until a month before his term expired and added:

"I wonder why he was retained all this time. Governor Smith could easily have said: 'Mr. Sinclair, you are unclean and we of Tammany Hall people are clean. We don't want you.'"

MILES TO HEAD SALEM HOOVER CAMPAIGN CLUB

Iowa, where Herbert Hoover was born. Incidents of "Bert" Hoover's early life there were related, including one disastrous "scientific investigation" as the result of dipping a burning brand in boiling tar, to determine if the blaze would be extinguished.

Indication of Hoover's early exhibition of sharp business judgment was given in another story of his successful trading his old home-made sled for a new one.

Dr. Alden also briefly recounted Hoover's achievements in public life, as an engineer in many parts of the world, as relief administrator in Europe during the World war, and as food administrator at home after the entry of the United States into the conflict.

Charges made against Hoover that he has an "international mind" are complimentary, the speaker declared as his opinion, adding that other nations will immediately adopt a better view of the United States if Hoover is elected.

Joseph N. Smith, Salem pioneer who knew Hoover while he was a boy in Salem, recounted incidents showing the remarkable grasp of details which he exhibited at that time while employed by the Oregon Land company here.

Mr. Miles also mentioned a number of incidents in Hoover's early life bearing on his fitness for the highest office in the United States government, and Ray L. Smith read a part of a recent biography of the candidate.

ENGINEERS SAY LARGE CRACKS NOTED AT DAM

600 feet long at its top and 250 feet, at its bottom, was on a natural dike. It was based on bedrock, twenty feet below the natural surface of the ground.

Sixteen months of the labor had been necessary to complete the project and the water began to fill in a lake which grew later to five miles in extent in May, 1925.

He was not away from it during construction more than three or four days at a time. The usual tests, such as core drilling, were resorted to before the dam was put in use.

The veteran engineer declared solemnly that he believed the dam to be safe. Answering questions he said: "I never would have put a drop of water in it if I had not been absolutely certain that it was safe."

Members of the jury took turns asking questions of the aged engineer. Most of the queries were directed toward general construction problems. Mulholland, facing the jurors, answered in detail. The composition of the concrete used; the kind of gravel; the engineering features of the structure all came in for discussion.

St. Francis dam was not reinforced, he said. Such dams are never reinforced.

"Is there a dam in California that is reinforced?" a juror asked. "No, not a single one," Mulholland replied.

"Was there any dirt mixed in the concrete?" "If there was, the chief engineer surely knew nothing of it. And there was no decomposed granite in it, either, for there is no granite in that section."

At any rate, Mulholland said, the quality of the goods still is to be found there. The west side of the dam, he believed, was the first to give way.

The east wing had gone out when a tremendous pressure of water, created by a swirling throw back of current caromed against the eastward bulwark of the arch.

Fifty witnesses have been summoned and the inquest is expected to continue for several days.

LAD CARRIES DYNAMITE

Salem Youth Arrested by Officials at Astoria Yesterday

ASTORIA, Mar. 21.—(AP)—A stick of dynamite with a fuse attached was found on Theron Miller, 14, of Salem early today when police arrested him in connection with the theft of $75 from a drug store till Monday night.

Miller, police said tonight, confessed to the robbery.

"I was just going to have some fun with it," Miller told police in referring to the stick of dynamite.

The youth told police he left Salem Saturday in his father's automobile. He started toward Astoria but tire trouble forced him to abandon the machine at Linnerton. Starting out on foot, Miller was picked up by a passing motorist and brought to this city.

Authorities believe Miller has a youthful accomplice. A search is under way.

PORTLAND YOUTH KILLED

Student at Notre Dame University Dies in Auto Crash

SOUTH BEND, Ind., March 21.—(AP)—Charles G. Casey, of Portland, Ore., a student at Notre Dame university here, was killed instantly tonight when an automobile in which he was riding was in collision with three other machines.

Three other students, in Casey's machine, escaped with minor injuries. None of the occupants of the other machines was hurt.

DOUBLE KNOCKOUT BRINGS ONE DEATH

University of Southern California Bout Results in Tragedy

LOS ANGELES, Mar. 21.—(AP)—What seemed to have been a double knockout in a friendly boxing bout between two students in the University of Southern California gymnasium turned to tragedy last night when it was found that one of the boxers was dead.

The dead boxer was Michael Carnakis, 20, of Bakersfield, a slip. He was later informed that his being his first offense, and putting up such a good scrap last night, and being so willing to fight the charge, the judge might be lenient with him.

GODFREY WANTS TO FIGHT GENE

LOS ANGELES, Mar. 21.—(AP)—George Godfrey, negro fighter, stuck his nose into Tex Rickard's heavyweight picture tonight when he through his manager, Jim Dougherty, sent eastward a challenge to Gene Tunney for the championship battle this summer.

Godfrey's manager sent two wires, one addressed to Tex Rickard and the other to the New York boxing commission. To the promoter was extended an invitation to promote a championship contest this summer between Tunney and an "outstanding challenger—Godfrey."

Dougherty in his wire to Rickard declared that this was the first time Godfrey has challenged Tunney. He gave as his chief arguments for a championship between the two, the following: "That Godfrey has not been beaten in two years; that he decisively defeated Paulino Uscudieri, who proved himself better than any one in Rickard's elimination tournament; that he has defeated one other of the outstanding heavyweight contenders in the elimination contest and that 90 per cent of the supporters of the boxing game think Godfrey not only the challenger, but also declare the present champion would be no match for him."

WEE PINK CARD FLOORS FIGHTER

Fighters may be knocked out, they may be punished, they may be honored and nearly everything else, but last night, Pete Willert, local fighter, who boxed with Ray Jacobs of Eugene to a draw got a little yellow police slip.

About 12:30 a. m., the young fighter entered the police station, felt about his pockets, and in due time pulled out the little yellow slip.

"What'll I do with this and who'll I give it to," uttered the battling Willert to one of the officers in charge.

"What is it?" was the reply. "Oh," said the fighter nervously, "I parked my car near a hydrant tonight while fighting in the armory and when I returned I found this slip on it."

"Clear enough," replied the cop. "All you need to do is to come in tomorrow and explain your troubles to the judge."

"All right," replied the smiling youth, as he carefully folded the slip.
