WALLACE BEERY REPORTS THEFT OF $100,000

LOS ANGELES, Apr. 5.—(AP)—Theft of between $55,000 and $100,000 in negotiable checks and securities from his dressing room at the film studio where he was working was reported to the police tonight by Wallace Beery...

Beery said he had gone to his bank early today and withdrew 223 shares of stock and certified checks and dividend checks. Returning to the studio, he left the suitcase in his coat pocket when he changed clothes in a portable dressing room.

Returning later the actor found the side window of the dressing room broken open and the valuables missing. He listed the securities as Bank of America stock and shares in two building and loan associations and a life insurance policy.

HOOVER PLAYED AS FARM ENEMY

WASHINGTON, Apr. 5.—(AP)—Herbert Hoover was described as "the arch enemy of a square deal for agriculture" in criticism of his presidential candidacy by George N. Peek, chairman of the executive committee of 22 of the North central states agricultural conference, which was inserted in the congressional record today by Senator Norbeck, republican, South Dakota.

Peek informed the South Dakota that the material had been prepared at the request of the late Senator Willis, with whom the commerce secretary had conferred for Ohio delegates to the republican convention.

Calling attention to two campaign booklets that "are being widely distributed in the political interest of Herbert Hoover," Peek said "the purpose of the documents obviously is to gain Hoover support from farmers in the pending presidential campaign."

Mark Twain—One spring day, another promised. That kind of weather will hustle the industries on the land, with all speed ahead to get the seasonal work done.

Up in Alberta, they are putting out a big increased acreage of sugar beets, and using power farming in doing it. That will be the thing in the Salem district, some sweet day.

The Salem Y needs a permanent summer camp; one that may be used throughout the year, for conferences and retreats. Who will provide it, or take the lead?

Also, how about leadership in boosting the endowment fund for the Salem Y? Do you remember that one of the boys clubs started this fund? Started it with $10, a dollar each for the 10 members.

DEPEW FUNERAL RITES WILL BE HELD SUNDAY

nd at 4:20 o'clock this morning he died. Though he gained more fame than is the lot of most men both as an industrial leader and a statesman, Mr. Depew was probably never forgotten the cool bravery of Spafford which saved the life of one of his shipmates.

"We were on the armored cruiser Washington (now the Seattle) sailing slowly down the coast. The weather deck hatchets were closed neatly for a gale off Hatteras was making our run far from pleasant. Boatswain's Mate Faraday ventured out on the forecastle to see than everything was secure; a green sea broke over the ship and Faraday was swept overboard. Engines were stopped and life-boats let go.

"With others of the crew I went all and there I saw Spafford in the life boat waiting for the order to lower. The storm was so severe that until the captain arrived on deck and gave his permission, no one dared give the order to lower that boat. If one thing went wrong, Spafford and every other man in that boat would be lost. The captain said something to Spafford and he answered, but what that conversation was I do not know.

"There was Faraday in the buoy now to windward of the ship; attempts to bring the ship alongside the buoy had failed, and Faraday was being slowly drowned by the spume whipped off the waves. I have never seen a more angry sea.

"The boat was lowered safely, and some of the men in that boat afterward told me that they saw the keel of the ship. Skillfully handled, but often lost to the sight of those on board the ship, the little boat worked its way to the buoy. Faraday, by this time unscathed, was unable to help himself, was dragged into that boat by Spafford.

order to get clear of staff duty. The staff position was later filled by a captain many years Spafford's senior.

Spafford concentrated his efforts on gunnery, and some of the records which his guns made probably still stand as tributes to his ability and judgment. Walsh dismissed as Spafford resigned his commission in the navy and studied law at Columbia University. His studies were interrupted after two years when he re-entered the naval service for the war. Commander Spafford's record in connection with the World war won for him the distinguished service medal and included the following:

Went to Paris to report on conditions in Zara, Fiume and Dalmatia. Spafford's record since the war is replete with successful American Legion service in the department of New York state, and in the national affairs committee. He has been engaged in several different projects and at the time of his election was preparing for the practice of law in the firm of Fischer and Strachan, 111 Broadway, New York City.

H. E. Hutty, who served in the navy with Spafford, told the following story in a recent issue of the Nassau county (N. Y.) Legionnaire:

"I was an eye witness and shall never forget the cool bravery of Spafford which saved the life of one of his shipmates. "We were on the armored cruiser Washington (now the Seattle) sailing slowly down the coast. The weather deck hatchets were closed neatly for a gale off Hatteras was making our run far from pleasant. WALSH BRANDS SEN. ROBINSON IN OIL QUIZ

the chamber near where Robinson was seated. Advertising first to Robinson's attack on Governor Smith, who, like the Montanan, is a candidate for the democratic presidential nomination, Walsh dismissed as "piffle" the Indianian's complaint about Smith keeping Harry F. Sinclair as a racing commissioner in New York, and another about a democratic committee accepting a campaign contribution from him in 1920 before the naval reserves were leased.

Smith, Highly Lauded "The governor of New York is a most extraordinary man in many respects," said Senator Walsh. "Even calumny has not dared to assert that he is not honest. The heinous offense of which he is charged is that he appointed or retained Harry Sinclair as a member of the racing commission. No one could find culpability in a manager in the democratic campaign in 1920 in New York state in receiving contributions from Sinclair.

cerning the employment of McAdoo as counsel for Edward L. Doherty who leased reserve number 2 in California were well known. Senator Walsh said he did not intend to eulogize the former treasury secretary, who now is supporting the Montanan's nomination for the presidential nomination. However, he reviewed the gigantic financial operations which McAdoo carried on through the treasury during the World war and declared there had never been a suggestion that they had not been performed with fidelity and integrity.

Public's Attitude Cited

Recalling then that in Robinson's last address he himself had been the principal target of attack, Walsh said the newspapers had been good enough to give him a measure of credit for the exposing of the oil scandal and the recovery of the oil reserves. "I feel amply repaid for my labors in that regard by the gratitude of the American people, which the senator from Indiana now would like to snatch away from me," he said.

discharged from Folsom within the last six months. Rumors Run Down LOS ANGELES, Cal., Apr. 6.—(AP)—Blank mystery today baffled police who sought to solve the disappearance March 10 of Walter Collins, 9 year old.

A body wrapped in newspapers, reported to be that of a boy, asleep or dead, seen in a passing automobile two days ago, was identified "foreign looking" couple, who sat in the front seat, of the car. Neighbors said that they had seen a pair, answering the same description, loitering about the Collins home prior to Walter's disappearance, and police sought to connect the description with the kidnaping of 3-year-old Wesley Dixon two weeks ago, who was taken from his home and then abandoned in a hotel room.

KNOWN DEAD TOTAL 7 IN WAKE OF STORM

Shortly after teachers had herded 45 pupils into a storm cave near a school house at Duncan, Okla., yesterday, the school building was demolished by a tornado.

Twenty homes were damaged or destroyed but proximity of storm caves prevented any loss of life.

Three twisters, only one of which struck Duncan, passed on into Washington county, Arkansas, where a wide area was laid waste. Many persons were injured.

Oil fields in Greenwood and Butler counties, Kansas, caught the full brunt of the high winds.

and more than 125 derricks toppled and smashed. A second wind storm at El Dorado today demolished small buildings and damaged wire communications. School children were injured by flying window glass.

There is a possibility, it is believed among officials, that parts of the so-called house bill 413 are in conflict, and that they might be repealed should the Stallard bill pass. That measure has a provision requiring trucks to pay a tax of one mill per 10 mile, and another allowing certain deductions pertaining to an act of 1921.

aviation in the Orient. A single motored monoplane was said to be nearly completed at one of the Long Island factories and test flights were expected to be begun about April 15. The hop-off from Roosevelt field for Seattle is planned for the first favorable day between April 20 and May 1, so that favorable winds usual on the Pacific coast around the first of May might be taken advantage of.

The distance from Seattle to Tokyo by the route Lieutenant Hall will follow is 4,300 miles and he estimated his flying time at 47 hours. His associates said he was a capable navigator, although he had never made any long ocean flights.

"He Can Make It" SEATTLE, Apr. 5.—(AP)—Lieutenant Bert Hall, whose contemplated transpacific flight was announced tonight, has for some time been in secret correspondence with Seattle officers of the National Aeronautic association. It was revealed following the announcement.

"If anybody can make it, Bert can," said Valentine Gephart, secretary of the aeronautic association. "He's one of the best fliers in the country. His is no amateur performance. Hall's flight has been as carefully planned as Lindbergh's flight to Paris."

Seattle's lack of adequate air facilities may however, cause a change in the plans, Gephart said. A 1500-foot temporary runway is in construction there but if an other 1000 feet is not added before the flight starts, Portland may be the starting point of the hop to Tokyo.

like it written." Is the general trend that the discussions by editors may be expected in the morning talks.

Questions and discussion by reporters will open the afternoon session, Professor McIntosh will give an explanation of the lessons, which will be followed with laboratory practice in writing that the editors will criticize. Then students will be enrolled in the 12 week course in farm, home and community news writing. A motion picture depicting the marking of a newspaper, released by the Oregonian, will probably be shown in connection with the training school. The course covers a period of 12 weeks during which 12 lessons each containing close to 5,000 words of instructions are presented out. These lessons are supplemented by radio talks from stations.

tion KOAC in which Professor McIntosh discusses various phases of the training and undertakes to answer questions submitted by the rural reporters and help them solve their problems.

The extension students return answers to questions and specimen clippings for the week's work. Some students send as much as 120 inches a week each from the three to five newspapers served. The grades are recorded for both quiz and clipping and all criticized matter returned for students' study.

The purpose of the course is really three-fold. First, it is to enable the rural reporters to know and find and write journalistically by the best and most interesting news of their communities. Second, it is to help the newspaper become the instrument for good it is capable of being and thus gain increased distribution in every community it serves. Third, it is to give the local merchants and dealers a more effective disseminator of advertising news and thereby hold a larger part of the home trade at home.

Certificates are awarded to rural reporters completing the course satisfactorily and at the same time doing satisfactory work for their editors. It is not necessary to finish the work in the allotted 12 weeks as grades are kept on file at the college and satisfactory work given certificates no matter how long it takes to complete the course.

Colonel Well Pleased with Way Airplane Acts On First Flight

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Apr. 5.—(AP)—First test flights of the new monoplane recently completed here by the R. F. Mahoney Aircraft corporation for Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh were made today by Lindbergh. The pilot, who landed here yesterday from Santa Barbara, took off from the Mahoney flying field in the new plane at 10:18 a. m., and remained in the air until 11:25 a. m., a fair sized crowd was at the field to watch the flight.

White Lindbergh was at the field he posed as a squad of photographers, amateur as well as professional, snapped him. That was by previous arrangement. He balked however, at giving his autograph to a girl who approached him and sped away as he defined. From after that he went with his friends into seclusion.

Lindbergh smiled with boyish pride as he examined the plane. Its dimensions are practically the same as those of the Spirit of St. Louis, and it is powered with the same type of engine, a 200-horsepower Wright whirlwind. Of standard biplane type the plane has gasoline capacity for 1,000 miles and accommodations for four passengers besides the pilot. Two huge night lights, each capable of developing 25,000 candle-power, have been installed on the wing structure.
