

cabbage Prices Advance Local Asparagus Coming

The cabbage market took a sudden advance during the present week, with most grades quoted at 15 cents per pound, reported local dealers in giving a resume of conditions in the fruits and vegetables markets for the week. Wholesale dealers do not expect extreme high prices to remain as the figure will materially drop as retail sales. A sudden increase in demand, both on the coast from the east, brought about this situation.

Local Hood River and The Hood River asparagus is slowly but steadily displaying the California quality, with the northern product of much better quality. General dealers for the Oregon crop is now per dozen, bunches, with a slight variation due to use of the best qualities.

California strawberries are coming on to the northern market after a recess during which the market was supplied the demand. The first of the re-opened shipment from California was due to Portland yesterday, with local wholesale distribution ready this morning. The price is the lowest of the season to date, quoted at 25 cents per crate of 20 cups. But crates were in the shipment, wholesalers expect the lot to be cleaned out quickly.

The first Texas wax onions were received on the local market Thursday, billing price being $5 the case, about 50 pounds. They are of finest quality.

Texas is also shipping a fine crop of limes, the first of which were received locally this week. They are quoted at $2.50 per car. Few stores handle them, the bulk going to the restaurant and similar trade.

The sweet potato market has been short this week but the situation will be relieved, probably by the first of next week, when cars from the Porto Ricans now rolling through Portland. Present price to dealers is $2.75 for the 50-pound crate.

The Mexican tomato market has become easier during the present week, with the repacked lots of 5 pounds billed at close to $5. Bananas, target of a price war for several weeks, still remain about the same, with small inclination toward a firmer tone.

The navel crop of oranges is now nearing the end of the season, with the present stock practically all in the jobbers hands and the smaller sizes taking a premium.

The over-supply of lemons is a thing of the past, and the present market is very firm, with an advance on the horizon of the lemon world. California is shipping a very fine grade of the yellow fruit, with the triple X brand particularly fine and quoted at $7 for either the 300 or 360 size.

Florida grapefruit is still available in all sizes, but for the most part quality is only medium fair. Apples continue about the same, with a general trend for firmer prices.

Medium size artichokes are obtainable, at about $1 a dozen. The wholesale quotations on eggplant are gradually coming down, the fancy stock being distributed this week at 25 cents per pound. With the lower price, the eggplant market will shortly show more action.

A tendency for lower prices is noticeable in the rhubarb selling, with considerable quantity of local stalks making an appearance. California rhubarb is practically gone from the local market. Quotation is 5 cents per pound.

Fancy Mexican peppers are being billed at 20 cents per pound. Cauliflower from Roseburg is maintaining such a high price that very little of this commodity is moving. A fair grade may be had at the wholesale houses for about $2 per crate. The end of the cauliflower season, with the attendant slack in quality, is responsible for the present situation.

New potatoes are coming from California in both sacks and hampers, with an almost daily decline in price. Present billing is around 5 cents per pound.

Decorative but Dumb

by

G. W. DAY

Many a man who doesn't believe that stork story any longer, just goes haywire when it comes to buying tires.

He stands there listening closely while the dealer avows he is giving him something for nothing. For the time being what protrudes above his collar is decorative but dumb.

If you believe a dealer will spend time and energy trying to sell you at no profit, you probably will never call upon me.

But if you believe in good goods at fair prices, backed by responsibility, you'll drop in and see what I have to offer.

I hold out no inducement but a square deal—square to you and square to me. I sell Good-year Tires because they're the best in the world, and I price them as low as I can and still meet the payroll and feed the family. How low is this? Low enough to give you the cheapest mileage you ever had.
