LEAD KINDLY LIGHT

Rev. John Henry Newman, 1801-1890

"Lead, kindly Light, amid th' encircling gloom,
Lead Thou me on;
The night is dark and I am far from home,
Lead Thou me on:
Keep Thou my feet; I do not ask to see
The distant scene,—one step enough for me."

Recovering from a severe illness while on a visit on the Island of Sicily, and depressed in spirits over a controversy in his church, Rev. Newman sat one evening on a vessel cruising the Mediterrancan Sea, en route for Marseilles. The sun was sinking slowly in the west and the brilliance of the coloring of a fading day, marked on an Italian sky, curiously impressed the youthful minister. As he sat there, the memory of home came strongly to him and as the last tip of the sinking sun disappeared, he went to his cabin and wrote this famous hymn.

While still a young man, Rev. Newman, a leader in the "High Church Party" of the Church of England, became involved in religious debates which marked the times. In 1833, in deep mental distress, he decided upon a trip and went to Sicily, where he was overcome with a serious illness. It was while he was recovering from this illness, that he wrote the hymn.

His mental strain was somewhat relieved by the penning of the poetic lines of prayer and meditation. Newman had no thought of producing a hymn. But others, discerning the stately beauty of the lines, saw to it that they should become the property of the church universal.

Dr. John B. Dykes, a master in musical composition wrote the tune to which it is generally sung. Dr. Newman, when complimented upon the beauty of his hymn, which rapidly became famous, replied with modesty, "It is not the hymn, but the tune that has won so great popularity, and that is Doctor Dykes."

Cardinal Newman, as he was known years after the writing of this hymn, was born in London and was graduated from Trinity College, Oxford, in 1820. Four years later he was ordained to the English ministry. The light which he had been seeking when he wrote that hymn was answered by his entrance into the Catholic church, in 1845. Some 34 years later he was raised to the rank of a Cardinal in the church and became one of the ablest men in the ranks. He died in Birmingham in 1890.

KILL SPOKANE MAN

TELEPHONE EMPLOYE "TAKEN FOR RIDE" POLICE SAY

SPOKANE, Wash, April 20.—(AP)—James Shellman, an employe of the Home Telephone and Telegraph company here, was "taken for a ride" last night, police believe with discovery of his body in a residential section this morning.

Two golfers on their way to the municipal links found the body early this morning, lying face downward. He had been beaten and stabbed, an examination revealed.

Residents of the vicinity told the police they saw an automobile drive slowly past last night about 10 o'clock and afterward heard two muffled shots. Then the car returned at a rapid pace.

Distinction Now Drawn Between Bribe and Tip

BERLIN—(AP)—A discussion on the subtle difference between a state official accepting a nice open handed tip and his succumbing to an attempted bribery, taxed the acumen of the members of the Reichstag committee draughting a new German penal code.

In Section VII, paragraph 123, dealing with the violation, usurpation and corruption of official duties, the committee had the greatest difficulty in agreeing on the momentous question as to just where bribery began. It was finally decided that apssing a tip to an official was not to be considered reprehensible for either party if the act was merely inspired by the giver's kindness of heart or a spirit of good fellowship and accepted in that sense, but that it became bribery if given and accepted for the performance of an official duty.

Likewise agreed upon was paragraph 124, dealing inversely with the omission of an official duty in exchange for a remuneration of any kind, for which a maximum penalty of five years penitentiary for the receiver of the tip was provided and varying jail sentences for the giver.

MRS. NELLIE ROSS FAVORS AL SMITH

New York Governor Only One Who can Give Republicans a Contest

LOS ANGELES, April 20.—(AP)—Governor Al Smith of New York is the only democrat who has a chance to beat out a republican candidate for the presidential chair during the forthcoming November elections, in the opinion of Mrs. Nellie Taylor Ross, former governor of Wyoming.

Speaking before a crowd of somewhat less than a thousand persons gathered at the Philharmonic auditorium here last night Mrs. Ross extolled the present New York state executive as one whose character and ability recommended him as a candidate who would not let his personal opinions interfere with law enforcement should he be elected president.

The first woman governor of the country chided the "Bryan democrats" for not concentrating their political fire upon the republican party instead of Smith and for "splitting" the party by demanding a dry nominee. Prohibition, Mrs. Ross asserted, was no longer a live issue.

Senators James Reed of Missouri, and Thomas J. Walsh of Montana, were dismissed as presidential timber by Mrs. Ross as being too obscure, and little thought of by voters.

No reference to the protests made by California women political leaders against Mrs. Ross' speaking for Smith in this state was made by the speaker, other than that she thought it would be better if the protestants encouraged one "whose record of vigor and resourcefulness promised a correction of the lack of law enforcement."

The women's law enforcement league of southern California entered the political lists yesterday as the latest organization opposed to Mrs. Ross' stumping tour. A letter of protest was sent to Mrs. Ross.

PROMOTERS WANT BROADWAY OF U. S.

Backers of New York to California Highway Have Trouble Meeting

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 20.—(AP)—Wet and weary, approximately 2000 good road boosters were straggling into Memphis today after virtually an all night battle with Arkansas mud. They were here to form an association to promote a "broadway of America" a New York-California highway and a part of which would be the very section which caused them so much grief.

The caravan made up more than 400 automobiles from cities and towns along the proposed route, was due here late yesterday, but the tenacious mud of White river bottoms in Arkansas, six times flooded last year, upset all plans. The White and Cache rivers as usual were out of their banks because of recent rains and roads were flooded. To make matters worse a 12 hour rain had fallen on the detours.

The advance party pushed through but when the main caravan ploughed into the muck there was no getting out until negroes and mules in the vicinity were recruited.

STOCK MART DROPS AS SELLING BEGINS

Rally Noted in Wall Street Yesterday When Buying Resumes

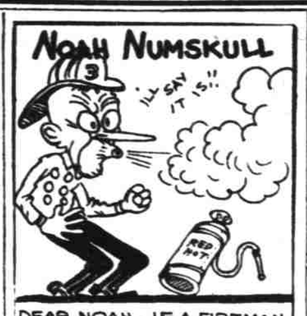
NEW YORK, April 20.—(AP).—Prices on the New York stock exchange broke sharply at the opening on selling inspired by higher rediscount rates and the huge increase in brokers loans and then staged a remarkable recovery which wiped out most of the losses and sent a score of issues to new high ground. Early losses ranged from 2 to 7 points, but strong buying support quickly appeared and by early afternoon more than a score issues were selling 2 to 6 points above yesterday's final quotations. Trading was in tremendous volume.

New York tractions were again heavily bought in anticipation of a favorable federal court decision on the application for a 7 cent fare.

New peak prices for the year, or longer were registered by U. S. Leather common and preferred A, Container corporation, Otis Steel prior preferred and several others.

The closing was irregular. Belated selling orders came into the market in the last hour with a good deal of profit taking in consequence of the week-end holiday which produced confusion.

DuPont, Radio, International Nickel and Hudson Motors slid down rather easily while Interborough Rapid Transit, Third Avenue railway, International Cement and the Oils strode upward at a good rate. Total sales approximated 3,750,000 shares.



Wife of Ambassador Qualified Physician

BERLIN (AP).—Vera Krestinski, wife of the Russian ambassador to Germany, Nikolai Krestinski, is the only woman on the German diplomatic list with the title of "Dr. Med."

Nearly every morning she is to be seen at Berlin's oldest hospital, the "charite," examining sick children.

"In the medical science, more almost than in any other, it is essential that one keep up with the progress of the times," she told the Associated Press correspondent. "My husband, like all diplomats, may be recalled to Russia any time, and I should in that event want to resume my work in the Russian hospitals.

"I should never forgive myself if I did not keep fit by assisting in a leading Berlin clinic."

Skeletons May Be Real Victims of 7 Years War

BERLIN—(AP)— Numerous tons found in the densely populated southeastern district of Berlin in the course of making excavations for the subway, are believed to be the remains of soldiers killed during the Seven Years war.

Colonel Noel of the old Imperial army, who is considered an authority on Prussian history, is of the opinion that the skeletons are the relics of a noteworthy battle that took place between the combined Russian and Austrian forces and the Prussians on October 8, 1760. At that time this spot was far beyond the confines of Berlin and one of the gateways guarding the city which was desperately defended by the Prussians troops against the repeated onslaughts of the Russo-Austrian army.

Chauvin's Descendants Seek Seats In Chamber

PARIS AP—The days when Napoleon was the object of hero worship are recalled by the candidacy for seats in the next Chamber of Deputies of two men of the name of Chauvin. Both are said to be descendants of the soldier of the "Grande Armee" Nicholas Chauvin, whose ardent affection for the Emperor made his name a symbol for all that is patriotic to an excessive degree.

HORSE TAKES NOTE TO SECURE RELIEF

Homesteader in Vicinity of Klamath Saved by Faithful Steed

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore., April 20.—(AP)—From the wilds of southern Klamath has come a tale of how horse-sense saved the life of a homesteader, Frank Sevits.

Severely injured from a fall, Sevits managed to crawl to his remote cabin located far off the beaten trail of civilization. With sufficient food but without water, he suffered alone in the wilderness with none but his horse for company.

In desperation Sevits scrawled out a note, attached it to a string, tied the string around the neck of his horse and released the animal from his tether.

The equine trotted off into the woods and Sevits crawled back into his cabin, with the thought that his last chance was staked on proverbial "horse sense."

Two days later two lumberjacks, whose names were not ascertained, were trekking across one of the many trails of southern Klamath. They were attracted by a horse which had followed them for miles. At first paying no attention to the animal, the lumberjacks were finally moved to stop and look at the animal.

The horse trotted up to the two men and impatiently pawed the ground. One of the lumberjacks espied the note and with the horse in the lead the two men were soon on their way to the lonely homestead.

A few hours later Sevits was being given first aid and is now on the road to recovery. His trusty horse, needless to say, is the hero of the hour.
