YANKEE STAR LOSES TO ARCHIE COMPSON

MOORPARK, Eng., April 28 .-(AP) .- A golfing St. George in the person of Archie Compston big tousle-headed blonde Englishman, rose today to slay one of the American dragons who has been feeding steadily on the choicest tidbits of British golf since war, time days.

Compston gave Walter Hagen. sleek American professional and former British open champion. one of the most decisive drubbings ever administered an opponent in a big challenge match when he chopped their contest short today with victory of 18 up and 17 holes to play.

Score Decisive

Against the man known as the world's finest match player, one who had beaten Bobby Jones 11 and 9, trounced Abe Mitchell decisively, and added the scalps of all other great players to his col-Jection, the tall, loose-limbed Compston piled up such a score that the final round of the 72 hole affair consisted of only one hole. Compston outplayed Hagen at every turn and the little eilk flag of stars and stripes that marked the carry of Hagen's ball such an ignominous display since the ascendancy of American golf in Britain after the World war. After nearly every drive of the 55 holes, the American flag trailed the Union Jack that marked Compston's ball and usually the debonair Walter was behind on shots to the greens. Fortunately, the stars and stripes were furled on the putting greens and the American emblem did not wave as Hagen lost hole after hole on the carpets, where he is supposed to outrank any living golfer.

Compston Unbeatable

America's leading golf professionals have sailed to play in the British Open tournament at Sandwich, May 7-12, in which Bobby Jones is not to defend his title. The delegation is headed by Walter Hagen (left), P. G. A. champion; Tommy Armour (right), National and Canadian Open champion; Gene Sarazen (upper inset); and Bill Hehlhorn (lower inset). Hagen, who has won the event twice, to the gallery had not suffered is shown as he appeared in England on his last invasion.
