

SUNDAY GUESSING

By the Regular Guesser

In honor of the convention of DeMolay, the Browning Amusement company unfolded its banners on the Salem public plaza the past week, and everybody knew that spring had really arrived in Salem.

The amusement company is a kid circus and entertainment owned by Mrs. R. L. Browning, who resides at 396 S. 19th street. It sprang into existence in 1909 with one old rattletrap merryground playing the county fairs and cross roads communities—not good enough to be seen in a city in these days.

The show now leaves Salem with nine steel rings, and Mrs. Browning is the proud owner of seven different show outfits, employing 120 working people, mostly from Salem families. She is very proud of her clean wholesome entertainments that create a little heaven for children and the entire community. The shows are under the management of her son, William F. Browning, and two sons, Fred and Ed, who are foremen. Another son, Arnold B. Browning, has a prominent position in the Salem Bank of Commerce.

The show opened as usual on May Day and gave away 1200 balloons to the Salem kids who visited Mrs. Browning's entertainment.

They leave this morning for Klamath Falls to be present during Railroad week.

College and street ethics do not seem to agree. Most of the colleges are using a male student uniform of white duck or corduroy trousers and college sweaters which is perfectly proper. Government regulations in the army and navy and military academies do not permit men in school uniform going about with their hands in their pockets. It is considered strictly declass, and the boys in inland college towns having military drill or wearing even part military uniforms will please take notice.

A pioneer orchardist and state horticultural official makes a plea for saving animal friends of the farmer and gardener. He says shoot no owls and kill no garter snakes, because the former are busy all year around destroying moles, gophers, gray diggers, rats and mice, and the garter snakes keep the garden clear of every insect, including earwigs and roaches. Read what Mr. Atwell says: "In the last biennial report of the state board of horticulture, to which I contributed a rather comprehensive paper, you will find, on page 13, the following observation made by me: 'Garter snakes and owls are invaluable—and the only effective natural enemy the earwig has. It should be a misdemeanor to kill a garter snake.' I have made the same recommendation to the city council. It is a great pity that people do not learn to discriminate between their friends and foes in the animal world, and to foster the former."

The newspapers say that political campaign funds are going to be hard to get in view of the probings into the campaign scandals. After the candidates are nominated the contributions are not forthcoming. Why not take up political collections in the churches?

Many persons interested in Portland and Oregon politics are amazed at the new Portland Telegram. There is evidently a new journalistic cat in a strange garment. The editor, C. H. Brockhagen, owns a one-half interest in the Telegram and the Sacramento Union. The other half is owned by Herbert Fleischacker of the Anglo-London and Paris National bank of San Francisco.

Mr. Brockhagen has had a brilliant career as newspaper manager extending from Chicago to Seattle. During the past year he became practically owner of the Telegram. Mr. Fleischacker is not a newspaper man and does not interfere. He buys a public utility or a railroad once in a while and is an intimate friend of President Spruille of the Southern Pacific. Neither do Meier and Frank or any of the other department stores control the Telegram or dictate its policies with advertising contracts. But it is said the Telegram is leaping up toward the 100,000 circulation mark. That much for a new and rather independent investment in Oregon newspapers, which the state may or may not tolerate.

TWO HEADS BETTER THAN ONE

Especially two such beautiful ones as are pictured here, Alma Taylor, leading lady of the Al. G. Barnes Circus, and her favorite horse, "Sir Robert."

Beautiful horses and girls predominate in the Al. G. Barnes Circus, which will exhibit here Wednesday, May 16. On feature of the all new program this year presents forty aristocratic horses and the same number of talented girls. This is said to be the largest display of its kind ever seen in any circus.

Anyway it is an interesting situation for Portland and all Oregon to have such a newspaper which may do no harm.

The new and greater Salem does well to stand by industrial education with a program of more shop work and less old-fashioned textbook-ridden-school machinery. In the Salem school program of next year there will be hundreds of lads learning to do practical work, carpentry and joinery and metal work with a big modern machine shop at the head of it. Instruction in electrical and radio construction, and a big motor vehicle repair shop, that will save

KANSAS SHATTERS SHOT PUT RECORD

COLISEUM, LOS ANGELES, May 5.—(AP)—Johnny Kuck, former Kansas State Teachers college weight man today for the second time within a week broke the world's record for the shot put when he heaved the 16 pound ball 51 feet 12 inches during the University of Southern California-Los Angeles Athletic club meet here.

Kuck surpassed by an inch the mark he set last week at Fresno, Cal. The record he shattered at that time 51 feet 1/4 inch, had stood for some 19 years. Charley Borah of the University of Southern California, later as one of the most brilliant cinderpath possibilities for the Olympic team, pulled a knee muscle today. The injury, the extent of which was not yet known, was believed, however, to be serious enough to keep him off the track for many weeks.

SALEM HIGH'S BALL NINE BEATS EUGENE

EUGENE, May 5.—(AP)—Salem high school's baseball team bunched hits in the sixth inning today and defeated the University high school of Eugene five to four in a closely fought game. The Salem team made four runs in the important sixth inning. Stevens, today, pulled a knee muscle in good form striking out 11 Salem batters.

Stevens and Libby. The ultra scientific basketball game that Professor Roy S. Kesse, B. S., scheduled for May 11, between Salem and Eugene, held January 28 on the University of Oregon campus, a Mother's Week-end, has been planned for May 11, 12, 13, by the students at Eugene. Entertainment for the mothers of Oregon students will coincide in part with the annual Junior Week-end, although special features are also being planned for the campus guests for the week-end which terminates with the national Mother's Day, Sunday, May 13.

The directorate in charge of arrangements for the affair is composed of Luola Bengt, general chairman, Peppers, Agnes Palmer, registrar, Portland; Margaret Nutt, vespers, Portland; Gale, hostesses, Portland; Doris Weil, receiving, Portland; Helen Dew, program, Medford. Official entertainment for the mothers will begin Friday night with the canoe feed held on the mill race near the campus. Saturday noon they will be guests at the campus luncheon on the lawns of the campus, with a tea planned as a special feature for their entertainment that afternoon. It will be held in the Woman's building on the campus.

The Junior Prom Saturday night will be the resort of those interested in watching the dancer or taking an active part in it. Sunday morning time will be left to individual entertainment by the sons and daughters, and for Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock a special vespers service in the school of music auditorium has been arranged.

Letters of official invitation have been mailed from the university by the student committee and return cards inclosed will be used in estimating the number of mothers who will be guests.

OREGON DROPS ONE TO HUSKY BALL NINE

EUGENE, May 5.—(AP)—The University of Washington baseball team defeated Oregon 11 to 7 in a game featured by 13 errors on the part of the losers here today. The Webfoots played good ball in spots, but could not keep their hands on the ball. The contest closed the two-game series which opened the 1928 Pacific coast conference here, the first game having gone to Oregon 6 to 2 yesterday.

Score: R. H. E. Washington.....11 7 3 Oregon.....7 6 13

Fuller, Gannon and Gabriel. Distinctive styles of offense and defense, the long pass offense and four man defense adopted in the last half by the Irish squad, coached by Glen Ledbetter, proving the most effective. The Irish won, 19 to 13.
