Monthly Banquet in Miller's Auditorium an Interesting Affair

An interesting affair of the week was the interesting banquet and program enjoyed by employees of the Miller Mercantile company Thursday evening in Miller's auditorium.

Covers were placed for 62 at the long tables which were attractively decorated with spring flowers.

An unusually interesting program was given by the dramatic club of the store following the brief business session.

The program opened with a clever puppet show presented under the direction of Marjorie Blake and Fred Duncan. Clever caricatures, drawn by A. A. Graber, occasioned much merriment.

A mock wedding took place later in the evening, with Grace Crater as the bride; Stella Bridges, the groom, and Mollie Pearline, the minister. Lily Chambers and Ora McKinsey were the bride's parents. The three bridesmaids were Anna Kiggins, Mrs. Erickson, and Anna Wilcox. Lucy Mills was best man, and Arlene Brown, the flower girl. Miss Erma Papentus played the wedding march as the bridal party assembled.

An amusing dialogue of newspaper headlines was given by Byron Lieualen and Fred Duncan.

The feature of the evening, however, was the one-act play, "The Club Women," presented by a well-selected cast which included Mrs. Sauter, Marie Jorgenson, Amanda Schwabauer, Mrs. Miltonberger, and Prudence Brunk.

The elaborate stage effects and scenery were arranged by Byron Lieualen.

These delightful gatherings are held each month. Thursday's affair was the last auditorium meeting of the season. The June meetings will be in the form of a picnic held in the country near Salem.

Daughters of the Nile Club Entertained With Attractive Luncheon
