

TIGER'S CLAWS DO NOT STOP MENJOU

Adolphe Menjou is a great actor. We have seen him demonstrate his ability to portray suave and sophisticated roles in such pictures as "Serenade," and "A Gentleman of Paris," he has been seen as a convincing dramatic artist in "A Night of Mystery," his most recent, but in "His Tiger Lady," Menjou turns to light, satirical comedy.

"His Tiger Lady" is Paramount's newest production starring the dashing Menjou, and it will be on the screen at the Elsinore theater today and tomorrow.

This picture is Ernest Vajda's adaptation of the Alfred Savoir play, "Super of the Gaiety," and shows Menjou in the role of an extra man of the Folies Bergere, who becomes interested in and ultimately wins the hand of the wealthy Tiger Lady. Her particular form of diversion is to test the love of her admirers through the medium of a ferocious tiger.

Menjou's only suit is ruined through a practical joke performed by the others in the cast, and he is forced to take, to the street in his stage clothes, the apparel of a maharajah. How the Tiger Princess tries the love with the gay impostor, and the manner by which Menjou proves his valor form an entertaining climax to this most attractive picture.

PORTLAND BANKS PUSH TAX ACTION

Long Procession of Those Interested Pass Across Witness Stand

PORTLAND, Ore., May 29.—(AP)—A procession of investment bankers, pawnbrokers, building and loan brokers and mortgage and loan dealers passed across the witness stand today in the suit of seven national banks of Portland against the sheriff of Multnomah as tax collector.

The suit, brought by the banks as at protest against the high tax on their capital stock, is based on the contention that other capital in the state, similarly employed, goes untaxed.

A pile of tax returns was on the table before Deputy District Attorney George Mowry who compared statements by witnesses to statements made to assessors.

Albrecht, manager of the Northwest Credit company told on the stand of his company's possession of $250,000 in automobile "paper" on March 1, 1926.

Members of the firm, according to Albrecht, had no capital invested in the company on March 1, 1926, but had arranged with Portland banks to borrow capital as needed. They borrowed as high as $250,000 at one time he said.

Motor Buying Forces Stock Prices Skyward

NEW YORK, May 29.—(AP)—Heavy buying of the motor shares based in part on expectations of favorable second quarter earnings statements, turned the course of stock prices upward today after an early period of irregularity. Early declines of 1 to 5 points in many instances were cut down, or wiped out, and more than two score issues were marked up 1 to nearly 15 points. Trading was fairly heavy for a pre-holiday session crossing the 2,000,000 share mark before the end of the third hour.

The closing was firm. Attempts to cash in some of the paper profits accruing from the spurt in motors and other industries brought a decline running from 2 to 3 points in many instances. Several pools, however, stuck to their tasks. Remington Rand rising to a new high at 35 1/2, with a block of 12,000 shares at 35. Radio crossed 206, while International Harvester touched 230. Total sales approximated 3,300,000 shares.

POACHER SUSPECT TELLS NEAT STORY

Was Fishing for Pickle, Not Pickerel, Declares Robert F. Tubbs

PORTLAND, May 29.—(AP)—It was a pickle, not a pickerel, that Robert F. Tubbs was fishing for out in Johnson creek when he was arrested last year by Charles J. Bellarts, special deputy game warden, the game commission learned at its fish poaching hearing today. The commission thought Bellarts said "pickerel" yesterday.

"Some kids were fishing for a cucumber," Tubbs told the commission. "I took the pole to try my luck. Mr. Bellarts arrested me," the commission thought that explained why Tubbs had not been prosecuted.

Elmer Albee, of Heppner, former deputy game warden, testified today that Ed H. Clark, a deputy when placed in charge of the salmon patrol in 1927, issued orders that the Willamette be patrolled above the reef just below the Abernathy on odd dates, and below the reef on nights of even dates. On odd nights operations of fish poachers below the reef could plainly be heard, the witness said, but the poachers were not molested.

Clark, on the stand denied other testimony of Albee that he was drunk on two nights in 1925 and spoiled raids which officers had planned against poachers.

He added that this is the first of several upstate banks which are expected to become affiliated with the holding corporation.

STATE COURT SAYS MONEY NO QUESTION

Reverses Circuit Opinion for No Case Against Both Defendants

Holding that punitive damages should not have been a question for the jury, the Oregon supreme court Tuesday failed to hold with the lower court's verdict in the damage action of Ruby S. Gill against Drs. Laurence Selling and M. L. Margason. The case will be retried. Judge Lewis P. Hewitt of the Multnomah circuit court heard the original case, in which plaintiff was awarded $6,250.

Plaintiff charged that she was a patient of Dr. Selling, who referred her to his assistant, Dr. Margason for an examination. She alleged that a part of the examination to which she was subjected by Dr. Margason was intended for another patient.

"Viewing the evidence in the light most favorable to plaintiff and measuring the conduct of defendants by the standard of law," read the supreme court opinion, "we reach the conclusion that the question of punitive damages should have been withdrawn from consideration of the jury.

"Even though it were conceded that there was sufficient evidence to go to the jury on the question of punitive damages as to the defendant, Margason, it is certain that the other defendant, Dr. Selling, could not be held for such damages. A failure to establish a case against both defendants on this issue amounts to waiver of punitive damages."

The opinion was written by Justice Bell.

Other opinions handed down by the supreme court today follow: Santiam Reclamation company and Western Oregon Development company, appellants, vs. Henry C. Porter, trustee; appeal from Marion county; appeal from judgment of circuit court dismissing appeal from order of state engineer. Opinion by Justice Rossmann. Judge L. H. McMahan affirmed.

W. T. Wright vs. Morton & Sons, appellants; appeal from Jackson county; suit to recover money. Opinion by Justice Rossmann. Judge C. M. Thomas affirmed.

Coco county vs. L. A. Elrod and Neils Osmundson, appellants; appeal from Coco county; suit to cancel deed. Opinion by Justice Rossmann. Judge J. W. Hamilton affirmed.

M. D. Malcolm and Agnes H. Malcolm, appellants, vs. W. B. Tate and Lola Marie Tate, W. B. Lane and A. C. Parker, doing business as Parker Realty company; appeal from Marion county; suit to recover interest and attorneys fees. Opinion by Justice Brown. Judge L. H. McMahan reversed.

Robert Twentyman and Mable Twentyman vs. W. S. Nichol, defendant, and National Surety company, appellant; appeal from Multnomah county; suit to recover on real estate brokers bond. Opinion by Justice McBride. Judge Robert Tucker affirmed.

Petitions for rehearing denied in Sandgren vs. Austin, French vs. C. E. & T. company, Shaver vs. Watts Express company, and in State vs. Hazelbacher.

Motion for affirmance of judgment allowed in Spaulding Logging company vs. Follis and in Spaulding Logging company vs. Pinder.

Appeal dismissed in Randles vs. Carstens Packing company.

Petition in matter of reinstatement of George Estes as attorney of supreme court referred to grievance of state bar association. Rehearing ordered in Imel Trustee vs. Albany Iron Works.

'TENDERLOIN' STARS REAL FILM BEAUTY

The local presentation by Warner Bros. of Dolores Costello in "Tenderloin," which is showing at the Capitol this week, takes on an importance that is all its own. Since "Tenderloin" is the first of the "talking movies," its introduction is being awaited with a tremendous amount of interest.

During the action of the picture, and particularly in its dramatic scenes, the voices of the players are heard through the medium of Vitaphone.

In selecting "Tenderloin" as the first of the full-length feature pictures to have spoken dialogue in it the Warners were influenced by two facts. One was that the story contained a number of highly melodramatic scenes and the other was that in depicting the heroine Miss Costello would have abundant opportunity to bring into play not only her beauty and emotional talents, but her delightful speaking voice!

OFFICERS DEFEND BANCORPORATION

Insist Organization Takes Place of Individual Liability

PORTLAND, May 29.—(AP)—Officials of West Coast Bancorporation and Oregon Bancorporation, both of Portland, stated today that they were not perturbed over a reported move intended to show that holding corporations legally belong under supervision of the state banking department.

Any argument pertaining to double liability of bank stockholders would be won by corporations of bank holding corporations, the officials believed, adding that investigation along this line would show the superiority of corporation liability as compared with the existing individual liability of stockholders.

Frank C. Bramwell, former state superintendent of banks, and now president of Oregon Bancorporation, said: "There is no law governing the manner in which a corporation shall invest its funds so long as it invests for the benefit of its stockholders.

"As to the double liability, when a bank's stock is held by a corporation this provides a much better guarantee and insurance for depositors than ever has prevailed under individual liability of stockholders."

WASHINGTON, May 29.—(AP)—Renewal of a nation's vow that "vain" will be made in solemn public observance of Memorial Day all over the country May 30.

Gettysburg, Pa., where 65 years ago Lincoln's immortal words called a war-torn nation to its duty of carrying on, will be the scene of the chief ceremony this year.

President Coolidge, as spokesman for the people of the United States, will make the principal address at a simple service on the scene of the national soldiers' burial ground.

The president is making his first trip to Gettysburg to deliver a Memorial Day address, having gone to Arlington national cemetery heretofore.

The vine-covered brick rostrum from which the president will speak is directly in front of the monument erected over the spot where a rough wooden platform was built for President Lincoln when he went to Gettysburg, November 19, 1863, to dedicate the cemetery.

Lincoln's Gettysburg address the first memorial speech ever delivered on the battlefield where 43,000 Union and Confederate soldiers were killed and wounded, will be read by Dr. A. E.
