BEACHES, RESORTS ATTRACTING MANY

With the closing of school many Salem families are moving to the beach and mountain resorts for the summer. Salem is particularly well located and residents here have easy access to most of the Oregon coast resorts from Seaside on the north to Newport on the south.
From information gathered by a Statesman representative, who has just completed a visit to all the beach resorts from Newport to Seaside, a very good season is being anticipated. With the improvement of the roads and the development of the Roosevelt highway many places that heretofore have been hard to reach are easily accessible and may be reached by automobile in only a very short time. New cabins, new houses, new auto camps, new stores and new places of amusement have sprung up all along the coast making many more comforts and conveniences.

Through careful observation it has been learned that the average people who visit the beaches in the summer time see more of the coast and the coast country than in former years. This is due, of course, to the better roads and the better means of transportation. If fishing and hunting does not prove to be good at one place camp is soon broken and moved to another place.
