Graduating Class of Willamette University Will Present Beautiful Gift

Members of the graduating class of Willamette University will present reproductions of John W. Alexander's famous interpretations of "The Evolution of the Book" as their gift to the University. The six pictures are: "The Cairo," "Oral Tradition," "Egyptian Hieroglyphics," "Picture Writing," "Manuscript Book" and "The Printing Press."

The rare beauty of these pictures which have been obtained from the Gilbert Arts and Crafts shop of Salem is greatly enhanced by original frames of unusual charm which Mr. Gilbert has designed for them. The oblong frames for the pictures which are semi-circular in shape, are made of wood, toned in gold and gray-green. The design is etched in gold. These architectural frames were made entirely in the Gilbert's shop.

Mr. Alexander, president of the national academy of art, is an American artist of prominence. The original of the "Evolution of the Book" hangs in the Congressional library in Washington, D. C.

Paul Trueblood, president of the senior class, will make presentation.

ANNUAL GATHERING OF ALDERMAN CLAN

Residents of Spring Valley Entertain Many Other Visitors

SPRING VALLEY, May 31.—

(Special).—Following the custom of many years, the members of the Alderman family met Sunday at the H. N. Alderman home located on the Orlando Alderman homestead and spent the day together. The members of the family meet here each year on the Sunday before Memorial day and spend the day beautifying the family cemetery which lies on one of the highest knolls on the Alderman property.

Those who were present Sunday were: Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Alderman and their son Glen, Mr. and Mrs. John Wesley, Dr. and Mrs. Evaris of Salem, Charles Alderman and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Harris and their son Niles of Dallas, Mr. and Mrs. Orval Alderman of Portland and Mr. and Mrs. George Alderman of Amity. Other guests present during the afternoon were Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Sohn and family who spent the morning at the Earnest cemetery on the Jennings' farm, adjoining the Alderman property. Mr. Sohn is a nephew of Mrs. H. N. Alderman.

Dr. A. C. Stratton of Treko, South Dakota arrived last week for a two weeks' visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Stratton and brother and sister, Julian Stratton and Mrs. Fred Owen. Jasper Gray of La Center, Wash., called Sunday at the Philip Damm home. Mr. Gray sold his farm to Mr. Damm about 23 years ago and moved to Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Versteeg, their son Kenneth and granddaughter, Ila Marie, spent Sunday in Salem as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Strickland.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hains and small son Floyd of Salem spent Sunday with Mrs. Hains' parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Schubert. Mr. and Mrs. Hains just returned from a two weeks' visit with relatives at Pasadena, California.

Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Teeple entertained as their guests Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Branchflower of Newberg, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brownlee and son Harry, Mrs. Brown and son Kenneth of Salem. Billy Price and Howard Cross of Salem spent Saturday with Howard Teeple at his home here. The boys are all students at Park Junior high in Salem.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Alderman and small son Junior, were Sunday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Crawford.

SEED MEN MEET

PORTLAND, Ore., May 31.—(AP)—Members of the Pacific Coast Seed Men's association convened here today for their third annual convention. Delegates come from Washington, California, Utah, Nevada, Arizona, Idaho, Montana and Oregon.

The world may be strong for peace but most of the nations seem to want it on their own terms.

Many Varieties Fruits Arriving Local Market

With the advent of warmer days and springtime, fresh fruits in a good variety are adding themselves to the number of fresh vegetables that have been upon the local markets throughout the late winter and early spring months.

Pineapples right from the tree have been available for over a week now, and already a decline in price is noticeable. Yesterday they were quoted at from $6 to $7 depending upon size. Retail merchants are selling them out at around 15 cents and 20 cents apiece, with occasionally a higher figure on extra choice fruit. Imperial valley cantaloupes, another comparatively recent addition, are coming north in larger quantities, which is forcing the price down this early. Quotations wholesale range from $3.50 to $4.75 per crate, according to size. The staple bananas has advanced to 5 cents per pound, wholesale, the highest figure at which it has been quoted for nearly two months. This price is for the fancy selected stock.

The first shipments of California Royal Anne cherries reached the local markets the past few days. The first Bing cherries from the southern state were on the market here just a week ago. Both varieties are coming in in good quantities, with the Annes quoted at $1.25 per box and Bings at $2.25 per 12-pound box. Changes in the vegetable situation noted this week.

Local peas are making their presence felt upon the market.

With a consequent decline during the week. The local crop is fine, with pods large and well filled. Wholesalers quoted them at 3 cents per pound. New potatoes, the California Garnet variety, is weaker at 3 1/2 cents per pound at the jobbers. Asparagus grown about Salem has taken an upward trend the past few days, due to the high waters of the Columbia flooding the fields in the northern part of the state. Quotations yesterday was $1.40 per dozen. Quality of the local crop is exceptionally fine, and distributors report no hesitancy on the part of consumers to buy even at the higher figure.

Mexican tomatoes have shown a firmer tone this week, with prices advanced 75 cents per crate, or now at $4.75 for the repacked lugs. Tomatoes as is are billed at $3.50. Extra fancy hot house tomatoes are handled by the wholesalers at 35 cents per pound. Texas Crystal Wax onions are $1.60 per 50-pound crate, with No. 1 local onion quoted at $3.75 per hundred pounds. Local cabbage, the first of the season, came on the market this week, and is selling readily at 5 cents per pound. California Windings is considerably lower, at 4 cents per pound, due, largely, to the arrival of the local crop. An exceptionally fine shipment of California cauliflower, billed at $2 per crate, is reported by the jobbers. Fancy Venice celery, of extra good quality, is quoted at $2 per dozen.

PICNIC MARKS CLOSE OF ROBERTS SCHOOL

Community Club's Final Meeting June 9; Report Improvements

ROBERTS, May 31.—(Special).—A program of unusual interest was presented here by the Sherman Clay players of Salem last Tuesday evening at the community club. The last meeting of the club will be held on June 9, at which time a program of home talent will be presented. A pot-luck supper will be served and great plans are being made to have this the biggest and best meeting of the year.

School closed Friday with a picnic on the banks of the Willamette. Parents, pupils and friends, responded to the invitation from the teachers, Mrs. Blanche Albright and Mrs. G. Hilfficker, and spent an enjoyable day with games, stunts and a big picnic dinner, with plenty of ice cream.

Frank Borgelt put in a new septic tank last week. This completes a number of modern improvements that have been added to his home. Mr. Borgelt has had spring water piped to his house for a number of years. Recently he has had electric lights installed, purchased a radio, and has re-arranged his yard so that there is a beautiful sloping lawn with shrubbery and flowers in suitable places.

Mr. Borgelt usually has one of the finest and earliest gardens in the neighborhood and this year is no exception. Mrs. E. A. Goodrich recently held a family reunion at her home. Mrs. R. L. Redman of Aumsville, W. H. Redman of Walla Walla, and C. V. Redman of Eugene were among those present.

William Bolin and family who have been living on the Winnie Pettyjohn farm have moved into the empty store owned by Noble Henningsen. Henry Henningsen of California arrived here Saturday to visit relatives. Mrs. E. Williams of Liberty spent the week end with her daughter, Mrs. Raphael Bettin-court.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gritton of Salem spent last Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Blankenship. Mr. and Mrs. G. V. Anderson

This is the fourth consecutive year in which Boyd Claggett has had perfect attendance.

MUSSOLINI CENSORS PHOTOS OF HIMSELF

ROME (AP)—Mussolini is his own censor on news photographs of himself. Whenever he appears in public it is all arranged beforehand that none but reliable Fascist photographers will do the picture taking. Once they "shoot," they are in honor bound to submit the proofs to the Duce before sending them to the papers. And Mussolini, knowing his people as have few Italian premiers in history, realizes their yearning for the dramatic and proves an excellent picker of pictures.

In this fashion, he always appears at his best. Mr. Dooley's remark that crowned heads began to lose their importance with the invention of the camera does not apply to him. He runs no risk of being pictured in the act of laughing in the middle of a military cemetery, and having political capital made of it, a misadventure that befell Premier Poincare of France some six years ago.

Mrs. Naylor—Your Uncle Eli has quaint, old-fashioned ways, hasn't he?
Mrs. Hays—Yes, he persists in spitting in the kitchen stove.
Mrs. Naylor—But that's far better than spitting on the floor.
Mrs. Hays—Oh, yes—but mine is an electric stove, you know.—The Pathfinder.
