

RESOLUTION PASSED WITHOUT ARGUMENT

Champoeg Memorial Plan Approved by Senate; D'Arcy Sketch Read

Senator Charles L. McNary's resolution providing for appropriation of $125,000 for the construction of a memorial building at Champoeg, passed the senate without a discussion at the time, although previously the historical sketch written by Judge Peter H. D'Arcy of Salem relating the occurrence which the building is planned to commemorate, had been read by Senator McNary before the assembled senators, copies of the congressional record received here reveal.

Following is the full text of the resolution:

Whereas the region west of the Rocky mountains known as the Oregon country, including the territory of the states of Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana, and part of the state of Wyoming, was settled principally by English fur traders, who laid claim to the whole of this vast territory of nearly 300,000 square miles as a part of the British Empire; and

Whereas after much controversy this great empire was held in joint occupancy by the United States and England; and

Whereas in 1843, 102 men assembled at Champoeg, in what is now Marion county, Oregon, and after deliberation decided by the narrow margin of two voices that the Oregon country should become a part of the United States; and

Whereas James K. Polk was elected president in 1844 on a platform demanding the recognition of the title of the United States to this territory; and

Whereas after a long controversy and contention this vast territory was ceded to the United States by England, without war or bloodshed, under a treaty signed in June, 1846; Therefore be it

Resolved, etc., That the Secretary of War is authorized and directed (1) with the approval of the board of control of the state of Oregon, to select a site on lands owned by the state of Oregon, in Champoeg, Oregon, and

(2) to construct thereon a permanent memorial building to commemorate the deeds and achievements of the early patriots whose efforts were responsible for the establishment of the title of the United States to the Oregon country; but such memorial building shall not be constructed until the state of Oregon shall have made such provision for its care and maintenance as the secretary of war deems adequate nor until the sum of $125,000 has been made available by the state of Oregon and/or any political subdivision thereof and/or from any other source, to be used by the secretary of war in the construction of such building; Provided, however, That from this contribution the state shall be credited with such sum as it has heretofore expended in the acquisition of lands and the construction of improvements.

Sec. 2. The plans for such building shall be subject to the approval of the National Commission of Fine Arts.

Sec. 3. There is hereby authorized to be appropriated, out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated, the sum of $125,000, or so much thereof as may be necessary, to carry out the provisions of this act.

MEN EARN $49,855 AND GO TO SCHOOL

Employment Secretary at UO Lauds Students Earning Way

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, June 4.—(Special).—An increase of $3750 over last year has been earned by working students of the University of Oregon this year, the official statement issued by Mrs. C. R. Donnelly, secretary of student housing and men's employment, shows.

Last year the total earned by men registered with the bureau was $46,065, and this year's total reached $49,855 not including the amounts earned on odd jobs. There were not many more men working this year than last, but the jobs available were more plentiful. This makes up the bulk of increased earnings.

Besides the men who are registered with the bureau, odd jobs are given out to between two and three hundred men during the year. The earnings from these are not included in the above figures.

At times, according to Mrs. Donnelly, it is hard to find men to fill all the jobs on hand, not because there are not enough men who need work, but because their schedules are such that the time required for the work in question conflicts.

"Give me the man who is working his way through college," said the employment secretary. "They are the men who keep up their grade average. A few may fall down on the job, but it is not due to laziness or too many so-called cial activities, but rather because they try to carry too many hours of credit besides earning money. A man who has to work and go to school at the same time should take under 18 hours."

"The man who has to work," continued Mrs. Donnelly, "does not squander his time nor his money. He budgets his time, as he has to budget his money. Such men make the finest types our universities produce. They have partly solved the problem of life."

STATE UNIVERSITY TO GRADUATE 550

Four Salem Students and One From Silverton Included

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, June 4.—(Special).—Approximately 550 students will be graduated from the University of Oregon at what will be one of Oregon's most attractive commencement week-end programs, June 8 to 11. The number receiving degrees from the university this year is the largest ever, surpassing comfortably the 481 granted last year. The number includes the 422 undergraduate and graduate degrees, the 78 degrees granted in January and the 50 M. D. degrees to be granted at the Portland medical school.

Among those to receive degrees this year are Harold and Herbert Scofield, Florence Jones, and Dorothy May Deissell, all of Salem. They will all receive Bachelor of Arts degrees. Richard Herman Spring, of Silverton, will receive the degree of Bachelor of Science.

The program for the commencement week-end will begin with a presentation of Shakespeare's "Midsummer Night's Dream" that will surpass any production of amateur groups in the universities of the northwest in its audacious and tremendous production. Over 100 persons will be engaged in the presentation, which will be staged on a specially constructed platform over the waters of the mill race bordering the campus. Music for it will be furnished by the 60-piece university orchestra under the direction of Rex Underwood.

Saturday, June 9, will be Alumni day. The morning will be taken up by the annual meeting and breakfast of the state association of university women at 9 o'clock at the Oebarn hotel, the semi-annual meeting of the alumni association at 11 o'clock in Guild hall, and the University luncheon for seniors, alumni, faculty and University guests in the men's gym. President Arnold Bennett Hall's reception for the graduating class and alumni will be held in Alumni hall from 3 to 5 o'clock in the afternoon, and at 5:30 the various classes will hold their reunion dinners.

In the evening at 7:30 o'clock the annual Flower and Fern Procession will be staged in the women's quadrangle, followed immediately by a twilight concert to be given by the school of music. At 8:45 p. m. the Flower and Fern Banquet, an oratorical contest for seniors will be held in the auditorium of the music building.

The baccalaureate sermon will be preached on Sunday by Reverend Herbert Johnson, '87, son of John W. Johnson, the first president of the University of Oregon. Reverend Johnson is now pastor of the Warren Avenue Baptist church of Boston, and the topic of his sermon will be "Why the Princes of God Walk With a Limp." The school of music will give a special commencement vespers service at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon in the music building auditorium.

The final event of the week-end schedule will be the official commencement exercises Monday morning at 10 o'clock in McArthur court. Dr. Jesse R. Kellems, prominent alumnus of the class of 1914, will deliver the principal address. Since his graduation he has won distinction for scholarly work and received a Ph. D. degree from the University of Edinburgh, Scotland. His voice has literally been heard around the world in evangelistic campaigns, which have taken him to Australia, South Africa, and practically all the English speaking countries.

ANNUALS OUT THURSDAY

Student Year Book Distribution That Day at High School

The Clarion, high school annual, will be ready for distribution at the high school building at 1:00 o'clock Thursday, Isabel Childs, editor, announced last night.

Students who ordered a copy of the book are asked to come to the high school at that time Thursday to get their annual. Although students were disappointed at not getting the books before school closed last Friday, members of the staff are confident that no one will be displeased with the 1928 yearbook.

BOARD PRESCRIBES RABIES TREATMENT

Dog Should Be Looked up and Watched for Symptoms

With approaching warm weather the Oregon state board of health has begun sending out the annual precautions for men's protection against "mad dogs." Such injuries were first successfully treated by Pasteur, and his treatments have been used against the dread rabies in thousands of cases. The value of such treatments, however, are often dependent upon a prompt diagnosis of disease.

Following are the instructions which should be followed by persons bit by a dog, as sent by the board:

Report at once to the health department. Do not kill the dog unless this is necessary. Lock him up and examine him daily for symptoms of rabies. If the dog that has bitten a person cannot be found, and the circumstances of the biting warrant the assumption that the dog was probably rabid, apply to a physician for the Pasteur treatment. If the dog remains well for a period of 10 days after the bite, the Pasteur treatment is not needed.

If the dog develops rabies, begin treatment at once. Report stray dogs to the city. Anti-rabic vaccination for dogs is not yet a sure preventive. Pending further experiments the only safe measures for controlling the disease are universal muzzling of dogs at large or else their prompt removal. See that your dog pound has funds sufficient for its work.

SPANIARDS PREPARE SAINT'S FESTIVITY

MADRID, Spain.—(AP)—With the advent of spring nearly every small town in Spain is preparing its festival in honor of its patron saint with floral games, poetical competitions and a pageant. The first proceeding is the convocation of the celebrities of the town when the mayor makes a solemn speech urging them to do their utmost to maintain the reputation of the town in matters of culture. The municipal council offers money prizes for the best party celebrating the occasion and for the finest decorations. A committee is then selected to draft a program for submission to the provincial governor.

An honorary president of the floral games is found among the affluent citizens desirous of figuring in the post, which gives an opportunity for oratory. The most difficult task is the selection of the queen of the pageant and her maids of honor. Jealousies are rife, but eventually difficulties overcome, and her majesty is proclaimed.

On the day of the celebration all the town turns out. The pageant is formed and marches through the town to the music of the local band. When the town hall is reached, speeches are delivered by the mayor and by the honorary president, the poems recited and the prizes awarded. Then the population gives itself over to gaiety for the rest of the day, during which the money prizes are spent, jealousies are forgotten, and all join in praise of the brilliance of the festivity, always boasting of it as better than any held in neighboring towns.

Oporto's Ox Carts YIELD TO PROGRESS

Oporto, Portugal.—(AP)—The spirit of hustle is, indeed, threatening the end of the slow Moorish traditions of Portugal. There have already been changes at the expense of old customs, but now the picturesque ox cart, relic of the chariot, no longer creaks through the streets of Oporto. It has been forbidden to mingle with the traffic of the modern day.

The motorist is now able to rush with increasing recklessness through the cobbled thoroughfares which visitors will find have lost much of their picturesque appeal. The oxen laboriously pulling the rough hewn wooden cart rolling on its axle were a source of great interest to the tourists. From the wain of the cart protruded a number of inelegant poles, while the shaft was merely a continuation of the main part. The "canga" or yoke placed

Back of your Telephone

TELEPHONE service is essentially a community enterprise backed by national experience.

Almost every community on the Pacific Coast has at least one telephone exchange. And each exchange has its staff of home town folks—men and women who are your neighbors, who attend the same clubs and social gatherings, patronize the same stores and daily assume their responsibilities as interested citizens of the place where they live and serve.

Back of your telephone too is the cumulative experience of half a century of research and development—continuous and concentrated effort to improve the telephone art. Thus from the Bell Laboratories and all of the twenty-four operating companies of the Bell System, telephone service in every community benefits by new inventions and the discovery of better ways to do things—all making for the highest standards in telephony now known.
