for opening next week. Most of the work at the 14th street playgrounds is complete except for the erection of a temporary dam. Water in the creek is not deep enough, and considerable work has been necessary to make a safe place for swimming and diving. As soon as the work here is complete, workmen will prepare the grounds at Yew Park and Lincoln schools. Work here has been put last because less work was necessary to fit them for use.

Boys' Chorus Banquets—Last night the Salem boys' chorus held its annual banquet in the banquet room of the YMCA. A large crowd of the boys was present and declared this year's banquet the best ever.

Big Sale On All Hats—Friday and Saturday, Larson's Millinery. Next to Dixie Bakery.

Jailed for Moonshining—R. E. Goodell and Leon Wagner were brought to Salem from Stayton by deputy sheriffs yesterday afternoon charged with unlawful possession of a still. The arrests followed a raid earlier in the week during the process of which two men, said to be the same two, escaped by running off through the woods. They were identified, however, and the arrests made when they were seen in Stayton yesterday. Goodell entered a plea of guilty and had his case continued for sentence. Wagner was given time to consult an attorney. Both are being held in the Marion county jail under $1000 bail.

Divorce Suits Begun—Suits for divorce were instituted in circuit court here yesterday by Harry R. Minto against Ada M. Minto, alleging desertion, and by E. R. Sheldon against Geraldine Sheldon, alleging that she "stepped out on him" and did other things of which he did not approve, one of these being returning home drunk late in the morning. Sheldon mentions the name of Glenn Burright as another man in the case.

date vicinity. Brock and Foy Islands are near that place, 20 miles north of Cape Leigh Smith, Foy being only 10 to 15 miles west of the position.

Dutch and Swedish whalers visited this neighborhood as early as the latter part of the eighteenth century. Their descriptions, however, were rather vague and not until the second half of the nineteenth century were there any definite and reliable reports concerning the islands in that section. Generally the islets are mountainous, rising from 800 to 1900 feet above the sea, but many of them are mere craggy rocks of 400 feet or less elevation.

Leigh Smith, after whom the cape at the northeast extremity of the main island was named, visited the region in 1871 and 1873. He made a large and accurate map of the islands and vegetation virtually unknown in this section of the archipelago.

The retiring members—Admiral W. S. Benson of Washington, former chairman and the last member appointed by President Wilson on the board, and Philip S. Teller of San Francisco—have opposed certain sales of government ships to private interests.

They will be succeeded tomorrow by Rear Admiral Hutch L. Cone, retired, of Florida, replacing Benson, and Samuel S. Sandberg, of Los Angeles in Teller's post, both of the new members, together with the other remaining five members, are understood to be in accord with the administration's policy of private shipping ownership.

The two new members are both seafaring men. Admiral Cone retired from the navy after two score years of service and formerly was connected with the emergency fleet corporation. Sandberg who has been manager of the Los Angeles harbor for the past five years saw 40 years of seafaring as a seaman and ship officer and later as superintendent of the Pacific Mail Steamship company and the Luckenbach Steamship company of New York.

Recapitulating the benefits which he said have been received by railroads, banks, laborers and industries during the past eight years, the Washington senator added:

"In the face of such facts, those in control of the government have done nothing to give the farmer a square deal. . . . The farmers should be treated as 'thoroughbreds,' but instead they are being treated as mules."

"Since they are being treated as mules, there is only one thing for them to do, and that is to use the same method of defense the mule uses against those who mistreat him, namely, lay back your ears, refuse to listen to any further explanations, and kick the public devil out of every man in the office who has refused or failed to give the farmers a square deal by legislation that will place them on a basis of equality with those engaged in other industries."

WASHINGTON, June 8.—(AP)—The American farmer is being treated like a mule by "those in charge of the government," and his only salvation is to imitate the methods of defense used by that lowly beast, Senator C. C. Dill declared here tonight in an address before eastern Washington farmers gathered for the "mule day show."

WASHINGTON, June 8.—(AP)—Production of 512,252,000 bushels of winter wheat this year is indicated by the condition of the crop on June 1, which was 73.6 per cent of a normal, the department of agriculture announced today.

The condition of the spring wheat crop on June 1 was 79.0 per cent of a normal, compared with 86.8 per cent last year and 88.4, the ten year June 1 average. A month ago, 479,086,000 bushels of winter wheat were indicated from the condition of the crop on May 1 which was 73.8 per cent of a normal. Last year's production was 552,000,000 bushels and the June 1 condition 72.2. This year's acreage is 35,858,000 or 5.3 per cent less than last year.

Production of winter wheat in the north central states, the principal producing region, was placed June 1 condition in those states at 71.7 per cent of a normal. A month ago the indicated production was placed at 246,060,000 bushels, and the condition at 70.2. The 1927 harvest in those states was 319,442,000 bushels and the five year average 321,111,000 bushels.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—(AP)—The students of the American conservatory here, in appreciation of the opportunities afforded them, presented five superb swans to the establishment, with surprising and embarrassing results. The graceful birds soon became aware that tourists were in the habit of throwing bread to the fat, century-old carp for which Fontainebleau lake is famed. They began taking it out of the fishes' mouths. Then, not content to live by bread alone, they caught and ate the carp.

Torn between claims of gratitude and international friendship and the clamors of tourists threatened with the loss of a favorite diversion, the authorities were at a loss to know what to do and consulted the Ministry of Public Instruction. It decided to banish the swans.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—(AP)—The possibility of a third party in the coming presidential campaign was declared today by Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, to be strengthened by the pocket veto by President Coolidge of the Muscle Shoals bill.

The failure of the legislator "may drive from the administration candidate a large number of progressive thinking citizens," the Nebraskan said in a statement. He charged that "power interests may have had something to do with the failure of the president to sign the measure because it would have been a terrible slap at the power trust."

The president's action not only "may disappoint the American farmers interested in cheap fertilizer," Norris said, "but it may be the last straw that will bring a third party into the field."

Senator Norris continued that to have "offended this great (muscle) trust by approving the Muscle Shoals bill would have dried up sources of revenue" that the republican party "must have in the great campaign just ahead. It will give us money in unlimited profusion and enable us to win the election by controlling the political machine and sources of publicity," he added.

COOLIDGE GETS RID OF ALL OPPOSITION

Members of Shipping Board Not in Sympathy See Last Day Yesterday

WASHINGTON, June 8.—(AP)—Two members, who retire tonight at midnight from the shipping board, remove from that body the last of the opposition to the administration's policy of placing the shipping business into private hands.
