IN SPRING

Poets' hearts would break if they could not eject
The burden of their rapture so;
But we, the timid circumpect,
Find beauty far too poignant to be borne.
Overwhelmed with longing and regret
We find in it a personal disaster,
Knowing we must admit our spendthrift selves forlorn
Before what we have never learned to master.

Love, let us, clinging closer, faster,
Help one another try to be content
With constancy of purpose and a wise intent,
That—leaving beauty, which is vaster—
We may at last so strengthened be
That we have fortitude to endure ecstasy.

Charming Affairs at Goulet Home Entertain Salem Society on Friday

The most prominent of Salem's society maids and matrons were included in the guests lists for the charmingly smart affair of Friday afternoon at which Mrs. Homer Goulet and Mrs. Romeo Goulet were joint hostesses at the beautiful country place of the Homer Goulets, north of Salem.

The eventful afternoon opened with a beautifully appointed one o'clock luncheon with covers arranged for 44. From four to six o'clock a group of 75 additional guests called for tea.

The group especially honored at this time included a number of out-of-town visitors. Among these were: Mrs. S. G. Sargent of San Francisco, who is a house guest at the home of Mayor and Mrs. T. A. Livesley; Mrs. J. D. Sutherland, also here from San Francisco; Miss Nean West and Mrs. Ralph Watson, both of Portland; Mrs. Charles G. Robertson (Mildred Apperson), who will soon go to San Diego to live, and Mrs. John Cranfill Watson, of Portland.

Miss Katherine Goulet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Romeo Goulet, greeted the guests at the door. The hostesses were assisted in the living rooms by Mrs. W. Al Jones, Mrs. Alton D. Hurley, and Mrs. William Bell.

The dining room, which was a veritable bower of garden flowers, was presided over by Mrs. T. A. Livesley and Mrs. B. O. Schucking, who poured during the first hour and by Mrs. J. D. Sutherland and Miss Mabel Creighton, who took their places from 5 to 7.

Seven charming girls assisted in the dining room. These included: Miss Dorothy Livesley, Miss Maxine Myers, Miss Rowena Eyre, Miss Rosaline Jones, Miss Katherine Hartley, Miss Ruth Pick, Miss Maxine Myers and Miss Katherine Goulet.

Columbine, roses, delphinium, and larkspur combined in profuse clusters throughout the house. Brimming baskets of vivid garden beauty transformed the hall, living rooms, and dining room into an exceedingly colorful and fragrant setting for the brilliant assemblage of guests.

A scene that will live in the memory of each guest was that of the exquisitely appointed tea table. Chinese blue candles in silver holders burned around a basket of Ophelia roses and delicate columbine. A lace tea-cloth and ich silver completed the effect. Art baskets of asure, and deeper, blue delphinium, with an intermingling of columbine and roses, stood at either side of the picturesque dining room windows. Pastel colored tapers harmonized with the baskets of varied blossoms arranged on the outfit.

The guest group for both affairs included: Mrs. Fritz Slade, Mrs. Harry Hawkins, Mrs. T. A. Roberts, Mrs. P. D. Quisenberry, Mrs. A. C. Boff, Mrs. Ted Mesch, Mrs. William McGiechrist, Mrs. F. E. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Weller Open Their Home for Delightful Reunion

One of the most thoroughly delightful affairs of all last week was the reception at which Mr. and Mrs. Charles Weller were hosts at their home on Fairmount hill.

More than a hundred friends, many of whom have had widely divergent careers in half a century's time, were reunited through the hospitality of the Wellers.

Formal calling hours were arranged from 2 to 4 o'clock and from 4 to 6 o'clock, but the pleasure of the occasion made it necessary to open the evening hours, too.

Honor guests of the occasion were Mrs. Weller's four sisters and her sister-in-law. In this nucleus, were Miss E. J. Chamberlin of Portland; Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Moores of Portland; Mrs. J. L. Schultz, and Mrs. George W. Belt, both also of Portland, and Mrs. Rose W. Chamberlin of Salem.

Miss Chamberlin has the distinction of having graduated from Willamette University with the class of 1863, while Mrs. C. B. Moores graduated in 1873. Mr. C. B. Moores, having served for half a century, has the distinction of being the dean of Willamette's trustees, in point of service. Miss Chamberlin was at one time a student of Mrs. F. H. Grubbs, daughter of Jason Lee.

A group of friends who assisted Mr. and Mrs. Weller in receiving included: Mrs. C. S. Hamilton, Mrs. Rose Chamberlin, and Miss Oda Chapman.

Mrs. L. H. McMahan and Mrs. Joseph Baumgartner presided in the dining room during the first hour, while, at the second hour, their places were taken by Mrs. A. N. Moores and Miss Bertha Moore.

Interesting Musicals Presented at T. S. Roberts' Studio Friday Evening

One of the most interesting recitals of the season was presented Friday evening at the attractive residence-studio of Professor and Mrs. T. S. Roberts on North Summer street.

Lovely baskets of ocean spray, pink rambler roses, and delphinium were arranged about the concert hall. A profusion of crimson roses and ocean spray decorated the living rooms on the lower floor.

Mrs. Nelle Ramp, soprano, sang two solos, the beauty of which was greatly enhanced by the organ and violin obligatos played by Professor Roberts and Leonard Chadwick.

The concluding number of the program "Fantasia" (Demarest) played as a piano and organ duet by Miss Doris Ross and Professor Roberts so pleased the audience that the two artists were obliged to repeat the composition in part.

The complete program follows: Spinning Song from "The Flying Dutchman" — Wagner-Liszt, Doris Ross;
The Little Old Garden—Hewitt; Into the Dawn with You—Mrs. Ramp, Violin obligato, Mr. Chadwick.

Marriage of Miss Wilson and Emerson Black Solemnized at Willamette Chapel

The marriage of Miss Gladys Wilson, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Wilson; and Emerson P. Black son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Black of Oregon City, was solemnized at four o'clock Thursday afternoon in the chapel of Willamette University.

Dr. Carl Gregg Doney, president of the University, read the service, assisted by Rev. Fred C. Taylor, before the chapel altar which was banked with delphinium, gladioli, canterbury bells, snapdragons, and fern.

Eighty relatives and friends were present.

The bride was lovely in her wedding gown of cream-colored silk crepe and tulle-veil caught with a cluster of orange blossoms. She carried a shower of Ophelia roses, white sweet peas, and orchids.

Miss Carolyn Wilson, as her sister's only attendant, wore a frock of maize georgette with a horsehair hat of the same shade. She carried an arm bouquet of lavender and pink sweet peas.
