

Directors of Salem Senators Ball Club Decide to Disband at Once

EDWARDS TO FILL PRESENT SCHEDULE

The Salem Senators baseball club was officially disbanded last night, insofar as the business organization was concerned, and it was voted that the team be disbanded and the remaining games in the Willamette Valley league season forfeited. This action was taken because the club's treasury was empty, a condition which came about because the league games have not been adequately supported by the public.

However, Leo "Frisco" Edwards, manager heretofore under the direction of the club directors, announced after the meeting that he would personally take over the team for the three remaining games of the first half of the league season, and that the full strength of the Senators would be on hand to play Cottage Grove here Sunday.

This will necessitate two trips away from home, to Bend and Wendling, without any income for the team, so it is plainly evident that the prospect for Edwards' venture is not rosy. However, by playing these three games the club's $150 fund deposited with the league will not be forfeited.

It is a bitter indictment against the lack of public spirit displayed in Salem insofar as baseball is concerned, that the baseball club was forced to disband. To some extent this may be mitigated if Sunday's game is supported sufficiently so that the team may be taken to Bend and Wendling without too great a loss.

Wetzel will complete his trials Thursday. He is forced to count 7,000 points in the 10 events of the decathlon to qualify for the final Olympic tryouts to be held in Philadelphia July 3 and 4. Cold weather and threatening storm hampered Wetzel.

ONE HOUR FROM SUVA

The goal one hour away.... about an hour's supply of gasoline. Storm blown course changes and forced climbs in attempts to avoid thunderstorms depleted the narrow margin of safety in the fuel supply of the Southern Cross on its magnificent trans-pacific flight. This was the one point in the flight when the great land plane sent no word messages. Just the steady buzz of a tied down radio key told the world they were still in the air. This audible silence was broken by, "We're going to make it," followed by, "We didn't send because we didn't want to worry anybody." Behind this dramatic scene is a performance story for the fuel they used. We are glad Union Aviation Gasoline met this crisis well... with 23 gallons to spare.

Mickey Walker to Fight Against Hudkins Tonight

CHARLES W. DUNKLEY Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO, June 20.—(AP)—The bull dog and the wild cat of the ring—Mickey Walker, defending world's middleweight champion, and Ace Hudkins, the challenger,—will battle for the title here tomorrow night with the prospects that the fight will be the most sensational middleweight engagement since the stirring encounters between Billy Papke and Stanley Ketchel 20 years ago.

Walker and Hudkins are slated to fight 10 rounds in Comisky park, the home of the Chicago White Sox, to a judges' decision with Walker's crown as the prize. The bout will be under the direction of Promoter Jim Mullen. If weather conditions are favorable, Mullen anticipates a gate of $140,000 to $200,000, a record for the middleweight division, with an attendance of 30,000 to 40,000.

The fight will be Walker's first real defense of the title since he acquired the championship from the late Tiger Flowers here a year and a half ago.

Although Walker is a 7 to 5 favorite in the wagering, the general opinion is that he must dispose of the Nebraska wild cat within four or five rounds or find himself subjected to a lacing and perhaps a knockout. Endurance is Hudkins' chief asset and if he survives the storm of leather the first half the bout, he may make the situation very unpleasant for the New Jersey bull dog.

Despite the betting odds and the opinion of boxing authorities, Hudkins is confident of defeating the middleweight titleholder. He promised today to tear after Walker from the start, predicting he would whip between the sixth and ninth rounds.

"I'll wear him down in five rounds and knock him out before the other half of the fight is finished," Hudkins said.

Walker was not disturbed by the challenger's supreme confidence, the champion said little, but he displayed that Irish smile in revealing that he is confident of victory. Jack Kearns, his manager, predicted a knockout for Walker within six rounds.

The champion, he said, was in the best of condition since his reigning days as welterweight champion.

Hudkins was reported today as weighing around 155 pounds with prospects he would scale 154 at weighing-in time, 3 p. m. tomorrow. He will face a weight disadvantage of probably five or six pounds as the champion figures to scale about 159 pounds.
