(Editor's Note: In our last article we reviewed two of Gluck's operas, and in this article we will review one more, Iphigenie en Tauride, but before doing so let us hesitate for a moment and review this great reformer as to the part he played as well as a little of his life's history).

CHAPTER ELEVEN

Christoph Willibald Gluck was born in 1714 and died in 1787, and was the son of a game keeper who was continually moving from place to place. At the early age of twelve he was studying the organ as well as the violin, cello and clavier and singing. This study took place at a town called Komotau. At the age of twenty-two he met Count Melzi, who took a great interest in him and introduced him to Sammartini in Milan, whom he studied with for four years, and it was in 1741 that he produced his first opera at Milan. Finally, making his home in Vienna, in 1784, he was introduced into the best society.

Gluck was sixty-five when he appeared with the opera that we are about to review, and it was produced after many difficulties through the intervention of Marie Antoinette, who had been a pupil of Gluck.

Gluck wrote about thirty operas in all, and history tells us that he was strong willed and a great hater of men.

IPHIGENIE EN TAURIDE

Characters

Iphigenie, priestess of Diana Soprano
Orestes, her brother Baritone
Pylades, his friend Tenor
Theos, King of Scythia Bass
Diana Soprano
Time: After the Trojan war.
Place: Tauris.
Agamemnon, King of Mycenae, has been slain by his wife, who was also killed by her son, Orestes. Iphigenie, who is the daughter of Agamemnon, does not know of these murders and has not seen her brother, Orestes, for a number of years.

Act One

We find Iphigenie in front of the Temple of Diana telling Greek had about a calamity that has happened to her family in the land of her birth. She desires a human sacrifice to alleviate a danger that has been prophesied to him. A number of people enter at this time and bring with them Orestes and Pylades in captivity, and they say that Orestes is constantly speaking of a crime that he has committed, and of being followed by Furies.

Act Two

Temple of Diana. Pylades sings of his great friendship for Orestes, but after they are separated, Orestes goes temporarily insane, at the same time coming under the influence of insanity, but does not disclose his identity, but he does tell her that her father has been slain by his wife and that, for revenge, Orestes, son of Clytemnestra, has killed her and he himself is dead, so that only a daughter remains.

Act Three

In this act Iphigenie notices the striking resemblance between the stranger and her brother, and desires to save him from Theos, who has demanded him in sacrifice, and she asks him to take a letter to her father, but he will not leave Pylades. But at this point Pylades takes the letter in order to save Orestes.

Act Four

This act opens with the scene of the sacrifice. Iphigenie is about to make the fatal thrust when she recognizes Orestes as her brother, but Theos enters and demands the sacrifice, and here Iphigenie offers to share her brother's fate. Pylades enters at the head of a rescue party, and during the combat that follows, Theos is killed. Diana appears, pardons Orestes, and gives back to the Greeks her image which had been stolen from the Scythians, and which was the direct cause for the building of the Temple.

It is a note-worthy fact that the second act which embodies the mad scene for Orestes, historians claim to contain Gluck's greatest achievement. This now leads us to another great man in the writing of operas, Mozart. Full name, Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart. In next Sunday's article we will review his life as well as several of his operas, namely, The Marriage of Figaro, Don Giovanni, The Magic Flute. Mozart was very much like Gluck in style and was thoroughly acquainted with the Italian, Austrian and French operatic styles, and as there are so many interesting things to be written of this great composer, we feel sure that our readers can greatly enhance their musical education by a perusal of this man's life and his achievements.

REUNION OF ALUMNI WILL BE AT DALLAS

Lafayette Seminary, La-Creole Academy and Dallas College Grads to Meet

(BY E. G.)

A forthcoming event of more than ordinary interest, not only to local but to Northwest educational and religious circles as well, is the one-day reunion of the Alumni Association of Lafayette Seminary, La-Creole Academy and Dallas College, to be held Wednesday, July 11th, 1928, at the Dallas (Tex.) city park.

Particular interest attaches to the event by reason of the meritorious work of this pioneer educational institution which had its inception in 1889, when Dr. C. C. Poling (who had been assigned from a Pennsylvania pastorate to evangelical work in Oregon), founded Lafayette Seminary, at Lafayette, Oregon, of which Dr. C. W. Kantner of this city was the first president, and Dr. Poling, chairman of the first Board of Trustees—1889 to 1893. When Dr. Kantner was called to other activities, after serving as president and working indefatigably on behalf of the Seminary for three years, he was succeeded by Rev. C. A. Bowman, who served for two years.

In 1895 Dr. C. C. Poling was elected president, serving as such until 1900, when Lafayette Seminary was merged with La-Creole Academy of Dallas, Oregon, and "Dallas College" was thereupon added to the name of the institution, of which Dr. Poling was president for the succeeding six years, when he accepted the call, in 1904, as president of the Western Union College at Le Mars, Iowa, and was succeeded at the Dallas institution by Dr. Charles A. Mock.

Due to the severity of mid-western winters, after two years Dr. Poling resigned the presidency of Western Union College, and returned to Oregon, accepting a pastorate in Portland and later one at Corvallis. Upon our entry into the World War, he was called to Pittsburgh as pastor of Grace Church in that city, where he also was elected presiding elder of the district, where he continued his activities for two and a half years. He then became pastor of the First Evangelical Church in this city, where, in 1884, he had preached his first sermon west of the Rocky Mountains.

Meantime, in 1912, the standardization law of colleges having become effective, Dr. Winter thereafter directed the further activities and extension work of the college.

Attending the high quality and work of these joint institutions, the alumni association of more than two hundred, numbers among its members, many prominent educators, lawyers, ministers, doctors, etc., among them being Dr. Daniel A. Poling, (oldest son of Rev. and Mrs. C. C. Poling), now pastor of the famous Marble Collegiate Church of New York City, president of the international society of Christian Endeavor, also author, lecturer, world-traveler and editor-in-chief of the Christian Herald; Bert E. Haney, former chairman of the U. S. Shipping Board, and leading Portland attorney; Prof. W. C. Kantner, prominent in northwest music circles, and who was the institutions first instructor in music; Dean Collins, well known literary and newspaper man; Rev. C. P. Gates, pastor of the East Side Evangelical Church of Portland; Dr. and Mrs. Harry W. Barendrick of McMinnville; Judge Alexander Van Orsdal of Lincoln, Neb.; Judges A. L. Vesale and E. V. Littlefield, and Mr. W. E. Critchlow, prominent Portland attorney; Prof. W. I. Ford and Prof. L. H. Baker, Portland educators; and Prof. E. E. Teats of the Sheridan, Ore., schools, whose sister was one of the early instructors of the institution.

Among the graduates of the music department of the college are three daughters of Dr. and Mrs. C. C. Poling: Laura, wife of Herbert H. Good, assistant commissioner of public utilities of Portland; Mabel, wife of Prof. W. H. Wood of Jefferson, Ore.; Ethel, the city for some time. Part of the time has been spent in the "wilds" of the Pendleton region. Probably he will know something about Pendleton's aspirations for the state convention upon his return.

District No. 2 will hold a pre-convention conference at Salem as guests of Capital Post No. 9 on the evening of July 13. Every post in the five counties will probably have delegates here for that session as several important resolutions, which will be brought before the state convention, will be discussed.

Commander "Fod" Mason, who has been herding "rookies" around by the sea, is expected to return to Salem on June 29. He has enough members of Capital Post with him to hold a miniature meeting if need be.

Comrade Frank Moore of Capital Post No. 9 chairman of the World War Veterans State Bonus commission, has been absent from the city for some time. Part of the time has been spent in the "wilds" of the Pendleton region. Probably he will know something about Pendleton's aspirations for the state convention upon his return.

the inception of the work, as well as throughout the years of their connection with the same, after the organizations consolidated.

About a year ago Dr. Poling was elected presiding elder of the northwest district of the Evangelical denomination, but some months ago critical illness necessitated giving up active work for the present, and the family is again residing in Salem, as is also Dr. Kantner.

GET RID OF YOUR FAT

Thousands of others have gotten rid of theirs by my simple and efficient method of fat reduction without starvation diet or burdensome exercise, often at a very rapid rate and WITHOUT PAYMENT until reduction has taken place.

I am a licensed practicing physician and have made a careful study of the physiological requirements of the human body. This has enabled me to select such ingredients and in such proportion as in my opinion will produce not only a loss of weight without harm and an improvement in health, but with it an alleviation of all of the troublesome symptoms which frequently accompany and often are a direct result of overeating, such as shortness of breath on slight exertion, palpitation of the heart, etc., not to speak of the relief from the embarrassment of being too stout. Stout persons suffering from such diseases as Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Eczema, Asthma and high blood pressure are greatly relieved by a reduction of their superfluous fat.

My treatment will relieve that depressed, tired, sleepy feeling, giving you the renewed energy and vigor which come as a result of the loss of superfluous fat. If you are over stout do not postpone but sit down right now and send for my FREE TRIAL TREATMENT and my plan whereby I am to be PAID ONLY AFTER REDUCTION HAS TAKEN PLACE if you so desire.

Veterans' Column

Capital Post No. 9 of the American Legion will hold the second meeting of June on Tuesday evening in the regular meeting hall. Probably the most important item of business will be the reconsideration of the action relative to the 1929 convention. The motion to reconsider was laid on the table at the last meeting of the Post and it is understood that those favoring the motion feel they have mustered enough votes to obtain at least a recognition.

Many members of Capital Post feel that 1939 is the logical time for the convention to be held in Salem in as much as the 1927 meet was in the eastern part of the state and the 1928 gathering will be in the extreme south. Therefore a central location is to be desired for the next convention. The financing of the convention seems to be the main problem which is causing worry; however, a number of business institutions in the city have signified their willingness to lend assistance in this matter if it is necessary.

A special attraction at the meeting of Capital Post No. 9 on Tuesday evening will be the appearance of the Auxiliary Glee club. This club has been practicing for some time and will enter the contest at the state convention in Medford this year.

The membership of Capital Post No. 9 has passed the 1100 mark and continues to grow steadily. There is a possibility of securing one more delegate to the state convention, giving 14 in place of 13.

Dallas, (Special)—The Legion picnic for members of the local post and Auxiliary, will be held on Thursday night, June 28, at the Dallas city park at 6:30. The arrangements are in charge of the entertainment committee.

The Twilight League ball game, scheduled between the Professional Men and the Firemen for that night, will be played on the previous evening, Wednesday, June 27, and there will be no game Thursday.

The dance committee of Capital Post No. 9 has scheduled two dances for the evening of July 3. One will be held at the Mellow Moon and the other at the Crystal Gardens. The funds derived from these dances will be used to send the drum corps to the state convention at Medford on August 2, 3, 4, at which time it is hoped that the corps will again win the state prize.

McMinnville (Special)—Mrs. R. E. Seibert and Mrs. T. K. Cinnamon were elected delegates to the state American Legion Auxiliary session which will meet in August at Medford. The alternates are Mrs. Effie M. Newton and Miss Emma Hauser.

Comrades Brasier Small and Irl S. McSherry of Capital Post No. 9 attended the pre-convention conference of District No. 3 at Albany on Wednesday evening. The political post appears to be boiling from the heated arguments started there, according to reports of the two attending.

Among the major issues discussed, pro and con, were the election and installation of post officers, giving a vote on the executive floor to the district executive committeemen and the department publication.

District No. 3 voted to support the candidacy of Comrade Cameron of Cottage Grove for department chaplain.

"Blue" Goodell, past department commander of the American Legion of Oregon, was an interested visitor at the conference of District No. 3 in Albany, Wednesday evening. He was one of the speakers. Others to speak were comrade Cameron of Cottage Grove and Irl S. McSherry, department vice-commander, of Salem.

Ray Bassett, adjutant of Capital Post No. 9 was a business visitor at the Department headquarters in Portland Thursday and he reports that they have some very nice officers there now in the Pittcock Block.

Commander "Fod" Mason, who has been herding "rookies" around by the sea, is expected to return to Salem on June 29. He has enough members of Capital Post with him to hold a miniature meeting if need be.

Comrade Frank Moore of Capital Post No. 9 chairman of the World War Veterans State Bonus commission, has been absent from the city for some time. Part of the time has been spent in the "wilds" of the Pendleton region. Probably he will know something about Pendleton's aspirations for the state convention upon his return.

District No. 2 will hold a pre-convention conference at Salem as guests of Capital Post No. 9 on the evening of July 13. Every post in the five counties will probably have delegates here for that session as several important resolutions, which will be brought before the state convention, will be discussed.

This Picture Is Not Complete!

The 1928 Bride knows exactly what she expects to find in her new home after she returns from the honeymoon.

You can't fool her, and if she doesn't find the new love-nest fully equipped with modern electrical appliances and devices that will make her domestic tasks a pleasure, she is going to be a badly-disappointed young matron.

So, of course, there will be all these attractive and practical things there waiting for her.

But, if you want to give her a real surprise, a real unexpected treat—just complete the above picture by placing on her dressing table a certificate for a few shares of $6.00 First Preferred Stock in the Portland Electric Power Company. She will be delighted, and she will have something to remind her of your practical thoughtfulness through all the years to come—a constant reminder, every three months, when the quarterly dividend check is delivered to her at her door.

Good suggestion, isn't it?

Come in some time and we'll tell you more about it.
