

VAUDEVILLE BILL ON VITAPHONE FINE

A very interesting vitaphone vaudeville bill has been arranged for the Capitol theatre today and tomorrow, which includes some real stars. This bill includes the following:

One of the many groups of entertainers in Florida, last year, was the organization known as the Yacht Club Boys. This quartet, in conjunction with many similar organizations, was thrown out of work when the hurricane so disrupted Miami and the country hereabouts. But the Yacht Club Boys went back to New York and made a Vitaphone number some time later, which will be seen and heard here.

Blossom Seeley and Bennie Fields, vaudeville syncopators, ran up against a new problem when they were married. Miss Seeley had obtained the greater reputation and Mr. Fields did not like asking her to assume his name. So they compromised and wherever they register at a hotel one finds them listed as "Mr. and Mrs. Blossom Seeley Fields."

The second number to be made at the new West Coast studio is entitled "A Night at Coffee Dan's." It was directed by Bryan Foy and features William Demarest. "A Night at Coffee Dan's" will be shown here on the Vitaphone presentation program.

Eugene and Willie Howard are now Vitaphone stars. They have been headliners in vaudeville and featured in musical comedy and they jumped at this opportunity to further their fame. It is worth a trip to the Capitol to see and hear them.

D'AUTREMONTS END THEIR FIRST YEAR

The prison routine, and that they apparently were well satisfied with the food provided by the state. Hugh has gained approximately 20 pounds in weight, and was said to be the picture of health. Roy and Ray are cellmates, but seldom see each other while employed in the prison yards.

Ray D'Autremont, who was married more than a year before he was arrested with his twin brother, Roy, at Steubenville, Ohio, speaks of his wife, prison officials said. He has two children, one of whom was born since he entered the institution. Ray is permitted to write his wife one letter each month. All letters written by Ray and those received from his wife are read and censored by prison officials. Mrs. D'Autremont now lives at Hanging Rock, Ohio, with her two children.

Hugh D'Autremont was arrested in the Philippine Islands, where he was serving as a private in the United States Army. Ray and Roy were taken in custody at Steubenville, where they were employed in the steel mills.

They were tried in the state courts in Jackson county.

SELECTION CONCEDED TO GOVERNOR SMITH

up won't be determined definitely until last minute delegation caucuses are held.

Favorite Sons Many

There are seven favorite son states—Georgia, Indiana, Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska, Ohio and Tennessee—and Smith's foes are counting on all of the votes from these states, 202 in all, being held away from him at the outset. In addition there are seven southern states with uncommitted delegates totalling 156 which are not in the Smith column, and from which, on the first ballot, the New Yorker's managers expect to get few, if any, votes. These are Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Mississippi, South Carolina, Texas and Virginia.

Besides this "block of states," which if held together against Smith would still fall about a dozen votes short of furnishing a voting one third, the governor's political enemies look to such states as Illinois, North Carolina, Pennsylvania, Utah and West Virginia for aid from part of the delegations. It is on such a set-up, which Smith's friends insist can never be perfected, that their hopes of stopping the leading contender for the nomination are based.

By BYRON PRICE

Associated Press Staff Writer

HOUSTON, Texas, June 23—

(AP)—Seeking new leadership after eight years of turmoil and two overwhelming defeats, the democrats are mustering in this democratic city of the solid south, far from the beaten track of national politics, to sign and seal a party bid for a return to power in 1928.

As the delegates come together in increasing numbers today and tonight to talk it over before Tuesday's opening convention session, the name of Smith of New York was more than ever the magic word about which revolved every conference on candidates and prohibition was the issue that overshadowed all discussions of a party platform.

Strength Conceded

Even the opponents of the New York governor conceded that a heaping majority of the convention is pledged to him for the presidency. His friends said with a great appearance of quiet confidence, that they could give him the two-thirds needed to nominate on any ballot they chose, and that they expected to have it over with early in the voting.

The group of candidates against him, with Reed of Missouri standing defiantly in their midst, insisted, they will stop the New Yorker, and, almost forgetting their own rivalries, made an industrious attempt to organize a block of delegates large enough to exercise a veto.

Much of the talk about prohibition also revolved around the candidacy of Smith, but the division of opinion on this issue found some of the anti-Smith delegates in one camp, and some in another. As the debate stood tonight, the fighting point was a proposal of some of the dries to put into the platform a plank endorsing, not law enforcement merely, but the soundness and desirability of the prohibition statutes themselves.

There is every indication that the Smith managers are quite willing to accept a plank specifically declaring for federal enforcement of prohibition, now that it is a law, and will make no serious attempt to include in the platform a dry expression of Governor Smith's recently repeated opinion that the law should be modified.

Harmony Desired

Thus far, in all of these discussions, both sides have expressed an underlying hope for a harmonious convention and a horror of any approach to the disastrous three weeks that was written in party history at the last convention at Madison Square Garden. So universal seems the desire to avoid an open breach that some leaders even hope to settle all disagreements behind the doors of committee and conference rooms and everybody expects that the convention itself will be finally over by Friday night.

In many respects this meeting of the democratic hosts will be unlike any that has gone before. The convention is the party's first in the solid south since it emerged from the Civil war. It meets in a state and section where opposition to the leading candidate has been militant and persistent.

Texas Leads Opposition

Texas herself probably will lead the platform fight for a dry plank directly at odds with the opinions of the New York governor. Most of the other states of the south are sending delegations who oppose Smith for various reasons—some on account of his prohibition views some because of his Tammany connections, and some, like the Hefflin wing, from Alabama, because of his membership in the Roman Catholic church.

In its own make up, the convention is an almost complete reversal of recent party history. Those whose voices have been heard of tenest have almost all passed from the picture. Bryan, a factor in every convention from 1896 to 1924, has left behind no designated heir to his mantle. The Wilson leadership, which appeared to have descended in some degree four years ago to the shoulders of William G. McAdoo, has become a debatable quantity and McAdoo himself will be absent from the convention and from the list of candidates. James M. Cox, the standard bearer eight years ago against Harding does not plan to come, and although John W. Davis, nominated in the break-up of the long 1924 deadlock, will be present at the convention sessions, it was believed as a delegate pledged to the leadership of Smith.

Proud of her sole as hostess the city of Houston bustled with the manifold functions of southern hospitality tonight as her streets began to fill with the convention crowds. Tomorrow her citizens and such visitors as have arrived on structure specially built to will gather to formally dedicate

Sam Houston hall, the great wood-house sessions of the convention. It seats some 17,000 and is built for comfort. Wide and flat, its sides stand open to such breezes as may choose to blow to relieve the force of the semi-tropical sun, and all about are great electric fans guaranteed to set up agreeable breezes of their own.

Dr. Caldwell's 3 Rules Keep You Healthy

Dr. Caldwell M.D. AT AGE 83

Dr. Caldwell watched the results of constipation for 47 years, and believed that no matter how careful people are of their health, diet and exercise, constipation will occur from time to time regardless of how much one tries to avoid it. Of next importance, then, is how to treat it when it comes. Dr. Caldwell always was in favor of getting as close to nature as possible, hence his remedy for constipation, known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a mild vegetable compound. It can not harm the most delicate system and is not a habit forming preparation. Syrup Pepsin is pleasant-tasting, and youngsters love it. It does not gripe. Thousands of mothers have written us to that effect.

Dr. Caldwell did not approve of drastic physics and purges. He did not believe they were good for human beings to put into their systems. In a practice of 47 years he never saw any reason for their use when a medicine like Syrup Pepsin will empty the bowels just as promptly, more cleanly and gently, without griping and harm to the system.

Keep free from constipation! It robs your strength, hardens your arteries and brings on premature old age. Do not let a day go by without a bowel movement. Do not sit and hope, but go to a druggist and get one of the generous bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Take the proper dose that night and by morning you will feel like a different person.

Use Syrup Pepsin for yourself and members of the family in constipation, biliousness, sour and crampy stomach, bad breath, no appetite, headaches, and to break up fevers and colds. Always have a bottle in the house, and observe these three rules of health: Keep the head cool, the feet warm, the bowels open.

We would be glad to have you prove at our expense how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can mean to you and yours. Just write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, and we will send you prepaid a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE. —Adv.
