

REMOTE ALASKAN WATERS CHARTED

Coast Survey Steamer Carefully Mapping Out Little Known Section

SEWARD, Alaska, June 26.—(AP)—Sea lions, whose jaws are deadly as those of crocodiles, and heavy seas swinging from across the Pacific, are among the hazards encountered by scientists aboard the United States geodetic survey steamer Surveyor, commanded by Captain R. R. Lukens, who are bringing up to date the charts of remote Alaska waters, it was learned today.

The party aboard the Surveyor are mapping the largest area of Alaskan salt water ever to be attempted. A portion of the waters are at present charted only by inaccurate maps based upon antique Russian charts dating back to the time when Russia owned Alaska. It is proposed to carry the line of soundings 60 miles off shore, covering all the fishing banks in the region of Prince William sound to Kodiak island. The heavy seas have frequently capsized working boats, and one landing party was chased from the beach by a gigantic sea lion.

SEATTLE BOARD FLAYED

Action to Curb School Teachers' Union Hit Severely

CHICAGO, June 26.—(AP)—Commending the "ruthless, un-American conduct of the Seattle board of education," the American Federation of Teachers today unanimously adopted a resolution pledging its fullest moral and financial support to the teachers of Seattle, in their effort to force the Seattle schools to employ members of the teachers' federation.

The teachers indicated that when the special resolution on the influence of the power trust in the schools comes before the convention, more evidence of its connection with the Seattle school comes before the convention, more evidence of its connection with the Seattle contract would be offered.

FOUR YEARS OF RESEARCH INTO HITITE RUINS

Ruins of the lost Hitites in Turkey are carefully uncovered by the University of Chicago's expedition which discovered them. At the start of the stratigraphic study (upper left) an area is sectioned in horizontal layers of uniform thickness, in order to determine the sequence of the cultural periods. Then (lower left) the soil is removed by means of trowels, lost fragments of pottery, the principal guide for determining the age of the period, are lost. At the finish (right) the diggers have reached a structure dating from approximately 2,500 B. C.

COOLIDGE HAVING TIME OF HIS LIFE

Few Details of National Administration Allowed to Bother Him

SUPERIOR, Wis., June 26.—(AP)—With a visit from Secretary Work of the interior department, next week as his only definite engagement, President Coolidge is devoting all his time to the full enjoyment of his vacation with little thought of his future activities, either near or far.

A call from Secretary of State Kellogg is also expected by Mr. Coolidge in July, when the former will pay his annual visit to St. Paul, Minn., his home. No direct word has reached the chief executive, however from Secretary Hoover as to the visit which it was announced the republican nominee for president would make here on his way to Palo Alto Cal., early in July.

So little thought has Mr. Coolidge given to the future that he has not even made any plans for the Fourth of July, his birthday. He has limited himself with hoping that Mrs. Coolidge would produce on that day, as on all previous ones, a cake in his honor. John Coolidge, his son, is expected to reach Cedar Island lodge next Saturday or Sunday, and Mr. Coolidge wants nothing more than happy anniversary surrounded by his family.

AUTO MECHANIC COURSE DECISION AGAIN DELAYED

Knowledge of the principles of the auto through the assembly and disassembly of standard units secured from wrecked machines.

Purpose: To give practical instruction and not a trade course to turn out mechanics to compete with the commercial shop. The student will not be permitted to run in his own car as he may please, though when he becomes proficient, there will be no objection to work on his own machine. Outside work will not be solicited, though occasionally the students may handle it.

The course's credit will apply as one unit of the college entrance electives at both the state institutions of higher learning as well as at Willamette.

Mr. Bergman also outlined a training course suggested by Ray F. Koons, principal of the auto trade school at Cincinnati and editor of the Automotive Digest which called for a study of the whole car, much as does the plan proposed for here.

It was pointed out that, though the course would be conducted entirely separate from the machine shop, the two shops would practically be under one roof, thus making machinery of the present shop available for the new course and eliminating duplication of equipment.

A number of other problems were presented last night, mostly with a similar result or reference to committees.

The remodeling of the senior high school to provide more necessary room for typing students and also greater seating capacity of the auditorium were reported upon, and both matters held over until the special meeting when plans and estimates will be submitted.

Superintendent Hug reported that Lyle Bartholomew, school architect, had looked the situation over and found two rooms could be constructed out of a portion of the attic at a cost of about $600 and that the auditorium capacity could be increased from the present 973 seats to 1266—or about a third—through alterations to the stage, eliminating the center aisle and leaving but two, placing the rows two and a half inches closer together, and other minor changes. Auditorium changes would cost in the neighborhood of $1,200, the architect had roughly estimated.

Both the typing rooms and assembly changes are not only desirable but are almost a necessity and, if not a handicap the coming year, failure to make the changes will be keenly felt the following year, the superintendent feels.

The matter of exchanging some of the present typewriters and purchasing seven new ones was also held over, as being contingent upon sanction of a new teacher for the commercial department, a move upon which no action was taken last night.

Purchase of 40 voices for the manual training rooms in the Junior high schools was sanctioned at a figure of $5 per vice, FOB Chicago.

Bids for painting parts of the Richmond, Highland and Senior high schools were opened and action delayed until the next meeting.

The clerk was instructed to advertise for bids on 35 or 40 tons of stoker coal for the Leslie Junior high.

A report of the various high school club and class funds was made, and also of an accumulated science fund showing a balance of $795.85.

Clover Given by Admirer Put in Lapel of Smith's Coat

ALBANY, N. Y., June 26.—(AP)—Wearing a bunch of four leaved clover in his coat lapel, Governor Alfred E. Smith went about his state duties today, paying but occasional attention to the Texas convention considering his suitability as the democratic candidate for the presidency.

The governor showed impartiality even toward omens, for though he wore the boutonniere of four leaved clover presented him by a woman in the state department purchase, he also accepted a string of 13 brown trout from John J. Burns of Monticello.

When the convention opened he was attending a meeting of the state building sites commission and he shut the door of the conference room so that he would not be disturbed by the report of the convention coming in on an emergency radio set in the executive offices.

The new set was installed after a particularly fancy outfit especially put in his office for the convention refused to receive anything more distant than the rumbling of the capitol elevators.

Profit of $13,000,000 Laid to Banking Firm

NEW YORK, June 26.—(AP)—Charges that Dillon, Read and company, investment bankers, would make a profit of $13,000,000 in a merger of Dodge Brothers, Inc., and the Chrysler corporation, were made today in the supreme court by attorneys seeking an injunction to prevent the proposed $250,000,000 combination.

Decision on the application was reserved by Justice Mulligan who said that the suit probably should have been brought in Maryland where the Dodge company is incorporated. He ordered attorneys for both sides to file briefs on this point tomorrow.

Henry P. Holtzhusen, attorney for Colonel Calvin H. Goddard of Richmond, Va., and New York, the minority stockholders seeking the injunction, charged the banking firm realized a profit of $32,000,000 when they purchased the Dodge company in 1925. Under the present merger plan, he said, Dillon, Read and company would profit to the extent of $13,000,000.

Over Three and Half Million Dollars Asked

LOS ANGELES, June 26.—(AP)—Mrs. Irene Barrymore, wife of Lionel Barrymore, motion picture actor, was made defendant in a suit for $3,641,452.29 filed in federal court here today as a continuation of a mortgage foreclosure action started against her in New York in 1912.

That year trustees of the estate of Henry Hilton, deceased, sued to foreclose a mortgage bond and were given a judgment of $3,828,924.13 against Mrs. Barrymore, then Mrs. Felix Isman.

Under court order a real estate sale was held but only $2,365,824.91 was realized. In 1926 the plaintiffs obtained another judgment in New York for the amount owed plus interest since 1912, which brought the present figure.
