PLAN TO START GOP CAMPAIGN SLIGHTLY LATE

Hoover Will Receive Formal Notification of Nomination August 11

COOLIDGE VISITED FIRST

Organization Plans Nevertheless Going Forward Steadily as Chairman Hubert Work Completes Details

WASHINGTON, July 9.—(AP)—Having fixed August 11 as the date for receiving notification of his nomination for president, Herbert Hoover, apparently is planning a late campaign.

Definite plans for the notification were arranged today by Mr. Hoover. He will receive formal notification at Leland Stanford University in Palo Alto, Cal., his residence, August 11, leaving Washington for California next Saturday night.

The republican nominee will go first to the summer residence of President Coolidge on the Brule river in northern Wisconsin, reaching there next Monday morning. A day will be spent with Mr. Coolidge and then he will proceed to the Pacific coast, reaching San Francisco about Friday. A celebration has been planned in that city.

Date Slightly Late

The August date is a little later than originally planned for the notification exercises, which usually are regarded as the formal opening of the campaign. The nominee then setting forth his views in a speech of acceptance. President Coolidge was not notified until the middle of August four years ago but then the date was delayed because of the death of his son, Calvin, in July.

Meanwhile organization plans for the republicans went forward here today under the direction of Chairman Work of the national committee. He called another conference of committeemen for next Monday in New York. Mr. Work said he would attend the conference, indicating that he intended to keep in close touch with the

OFFICIALS PAY FINAL TRIBUTE

MOURN DEATH OF EX-SENATOR GEO. E. CHAMBERLAIN

Long Career in Oregon and National Public Life Reviewed in Respects

State and federal officials joined in paying tribute to ex-Senator George E. Chamberlain, who died at his home in Washington early Monday.

"As chairman of the military affairs committee of the senate ex-Senator Chamberlain made a great record during the World war," said Senator C. L. McNary. "He was beloved by his fellow members of the senate. He was faithful, diligent in his work and ranked high among the members of that body during his 13 years of service."

Governor Patterson said: "The state of Oregon has lost a distinguished citizen in the passing of George E. Chamberlain. He gave able and devoted service as governor and his statesmanship in the United States senate won him a national reputation. Oregon owes a great debt to his loyalty and his outstanding ability."

"I became acquainted with ex-Senator Chamberlain shortly after he came to Oregon and later that acquaintance ripened into a close friendship," said Justice Thomas A. McBride of the state supreme court. "Looking back over his career as district attorney, attorney general, governor and United States senator I can recall no instance of duty unperformed or not well performed. He was not a spectacular career, but one distinguished by steadfast intelligence and effective effort. Ex-Senator Chamberlain was preeminently a gentleman and man of the people."

"I personally mourn his loss and all Oregon will honor his memory."

Mr. R. E. Lee Steiner, superintendent of the Oregon state hospital said: "I was acquainted with ex-Senator Chamberlain for 21 years. He was a man of loving character and an outstanding official and statesman. In his death the people of Oregon have lost a man whose worldly achievements will ever stand as a monument to his memory."

AL MAKES BID FOR FARM VOTE

BECOMES HIGHLY SYMPATHETIC WITH AGRICULTURE

Democratic Nominee Outlines Plans in Telegram to Head of Indiana Group.

NEW YORK, July 9.—(AP)—Governor Alfred E. Smith announced today that if he is elected president in November he will call a conference for the study of the farm problem at once, without waiting for his inauguration, so that he would be ready to transmit to congress at its opening session a definite program of farm relief. "As to agriculture," he telegraphed W. H. Settle, president of the Indiana Farm Bureau Federation, who had wired for the governor's "personal" position on the agricultural plank in the democratic platform, "I stand squarely on the pledges given by the democratic party at Houston. I understand and sympathize with the objects which organized agriculture in struggling to attain and which our party has promised to help them secure.

"If the election returns disclose that I have been chosen president, I will not wait until I am inaugurated before acting on this problem. I will, immediately after the election, call a conference of leaders to commence at once and continue to work to assist me to develop a concrete plan embodying the principles of the Houston platform, so that I may transmit to congress at its opening session a definite program accompanied by suggestions for the necessary legislation to make it effective."

ALBANY, July 9.—(AP)—The ground work of the democratic presidential campaign was laid here today by the two men who will carry forward the fight—Governor Smith and Senator Robinson. It was their first meeting since they were selected as the party's standard bearers at Houston.

The vice presidential nominee stopped off on his way to New York City, where the democratic national committee holds an organization meeting Wednesday. He was met at the station by the governor, who took him to the executive mansion, where for an hour they discussed campaign plans. Neither would disclose later the details of their conversation, except to say that it had to do with the situation in a general way.

With Robinson, when he de-livered here was Jesse H. Jones Houston millionaire, who has been a leader in democratic party councils. When they again boarded Jones' special car late in the day for the remainder of their journey, they took with them Norman E. Mack, national committee man from New York, who had dropped in on Gov. Smith earlier in the day for a chat.

Robinson, pursuing the same course that Gov. Smith has been following since the Houston convention, refused to make campaign forecasts or to indulge in any discussion of issues. He said he would keep mum until after the official notification.

EX-CONGRESSMAN HERE

E. A. Hayes Actively Interested in Lake Labish Property

Former Congressman E. A. Hayes of California, who is associated with his brother, J. O. Hayes, as publisher of the San Jose Mercury, regarded as the most prosperous daily newspaper in any small city in the United States, was a visitor in Salem yesterday and called on Congressman W. C. Hawley.

Mr. Hayes and his brother are also owners of 800 acres acres in the Lake Labish region north of Salem, some of the most fertile farming land in Oregon. He reported that last year, 65 carloads of onion sets were sold as part of the product of this land, and that an equal amount has been contracted for this year at a higher price. This land raises practically all of the onion sets for the entire Pacific coast.

3 MINERS DIE IN BLAST

Probable Death Foreseen of Trio Entombed in East

POTTSVILLE, Pa., July 9.—(AP)—Little hope was held out tonight for the rescue alive of three miners entombed in the Lytle Coal company colliery at Lytle, near here, by an explosion of gas today.

Seven men were caught in the explosion. Four were brought out safely and uninjured. The men still in the mine are Charles Beva, John O'Palko and Matthew Besek.

Renominated by the largest majority the republican party in this district has given him for many terms, Congressman Hawley is assured of reelection, and will expend his energies in the interests of the party rather than his own, he stated. He will make his customary visit to all parts of the district, and will also visit eastern Oregon with a view of doing anything in his power to aid the cam-

50 CATHOLICS ARRESTED

Secret Worship Declared Cause of Mexican Prosecutions

MEXICO CITY, July 9.—(AP)—Secret police arrested fifty Roman Catholics, including Jose Revales Rodarte, a priest, in a private residence which the police say was fitted with an altar and all necessary vessels for conducting mass. The prisoners were charged with violating the religious law.

The police confiscated a quantity of literature which is being examined to determine whether it is seditious.

UTILITIES DON'T FOOL TEACHERS

HIDDEN ADVERTISING DISCOVERED EARLY IN OREGON

Howard States Few Monographs Used in State Schools; Freeman Correct

Oregon school superintendents and principals were provided with sample copies of monographs of industrial material for use in the school rooms, but because some of this was found to contain hidden advertisements for the company under study, the monographs were later withdrawn, according to a statement yesterday from C. A. Howard, state superintendent of public instruction. Questions raised during the public utilities probe promoted his statement.

Following is the state superintendent's complete statement: "The inquiry into the activities of public utilities being conducted by the Federal Trade commission has resulted in a number of inquiries as to the extent to which material provided by the utilities has been used by the schools of Oregon. There has also been some publicity concerning the issuance and subsequent withdrawal of a booklet on the light and power industry in Oregon. These situations seem to make it desirable that I make the following statement.

"Sample copies of a monograph on the light and power industry were sent to a number of Oregon superintendents and principals, along with samples of other industrial material, by Mrs. Clare Ketchum Tripp of the Industrial Education bureau of Seattle in the fall of 1927. Considerable numbers of the light and power booklet were sent to city and county superintendents in March of this year, but when certain objections were pointed out, were immediately recalled by Mrs. Tripp before any general distribution had been made. Except for a difference in names and statistics this monograph was practically identical with one covering the Puget Sound Power and Light company which carried on its title page the names of those who had passed on the material contained in it. This list included the names of instructors in each of the three Washington normal schools and the Washington state director of vocational education.

"In the fall of 1927, Mrs. Tripp had called at my office and had proposed that she prepare mon-

PASTOR REMAINS IN JAIL

Squabble Continues in Dallas, Texas, Over Tabernacle

DALLAS, Texas, July 9.—(AP)—The Rev. Earl Anderson, pastor of the Fundamental Baptist church here, prepared to spend his fifth night in jail after his attorney, Henry G. Willis, failed to secure a writ of habeas corpus from the state supreme court at Austin.

The pastor was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to jail for contempt of court for refusing to obey a temporary restraining order against construction of a tabernacle in a Dallas residential section. District Judge Towne Young expressed determination not to release him until he posts $1,000 bond as a guaranty that the injunction will not be again violated.

Wednesday Judge Young is expected to decide whether the injunction shall be made permanent.

MINOR PARTIES IN CONVENTION CHICAGO TODAY

Prohibition and Farmer-Labor Groups Meet to Draw Up Tickets

HOOVER SUPPORT LOOMS

Strong Opposition to Al Smith Voiced on Eve of Dry Gathering; G. O. P. Chief Not Entirely Satisfactory

CHICAGO, July 9.—(AP)—Two minority parties, the prohibition and farmer-labor, meet here tomorrow to name candidates and adopt platforms for the national election this fall.

While neither Gov. Alfred E. Smith, the democratic presidential nominee, nor Herbert Hoover, republican standard bearer, suit the prohibitionists, the party may endorse Hoover to defeat Smith, said Dr. D. Leigh Colvin, chairman of the national committee. Otherwise it will select candidates from the democratic south hoping to reduce the New York governor's strength, or choose its ticket without regard to the majority parties' selections.

Farmers Have Own Ticket The farmer-labor group will prepare its own slate without consideration of Smith or Hoover. Its aim is to name men whom labor and agriculture consider satisfactory, said J. Edwin Spur of El Reno, Okla., chairman of the national committee.

Should the prohibition party decide to support the republican can-

CALLS TO OPPOSE SMITH

New York Head of W. C. T. U. Asks for Masculine Votes

NEW YORK, July 9.—(AP)—Mrs. D. Leigh Colvin, president of the New York State Women's Christian Temperance union, today issued a call to the 45,000 members in this state to help defeat Governor Alfred E. Smith for president on his record as being "on the side of the saloon."

"As a member of the legislature, as speaker of the assembly and as governor of the state," she said, "he has always worked for and with the saloon crowd."

In her appeal urging support of Herbert Hoover, Mrs. Colvin said the fall election would give the opportunity for a "real national referendum on the wet and dry issue."

NEW YORK, July 9.—(AP)—The New York Times will say tomorrow that wireless messages have been received stating the schooner yacht Rofa, smallest of the four boats which left New York June 30 on the race to Santander, Spain, has sunk and members of her crew have been rescued by an oil tank steamer.

BIBLE OF 1773 WILL BE SHOWN

WENT INTO BOSTON BAY AT FAMOUS "TEA PARTY"

Loaned to D. A. R. by Charles A. Muths; Also Has Crimean War Sword

When bold Bostonians on December 16, 1773, boarded a British ship and threw dozens of cases of tea into the bay, they also, unintentionally, threw overboard a case of bibles.

One of those bibles, rescued from the briny, is now the property of Charles A. Muths of Salem, and it will soon be on display at the Oregon state capitol in an exhibit sponsored by the Daughters of the American Revolution.

This information was secured last night from Mrs. B. L. Steeves, who has charge of the exhibit as chairman of the state committee on revolutionary relics for the D. A. R.

The rare bible was the property of Mr. Muths' first wife, who was Anna Grouvenor, a descendant of a family which lived in Boston in the revolutionary period.

In the exhibit there is also a sword which was the property of Mr. Muths' father, carried by him in the Crimean war. In this connection Mr. Muths recalls a visit of Queen Victoria to her home at Shorncliffe, England, when he was a small boy, living with his parents at the military camp. The queen paid particular attention to the sword, and Mr. Muths also recalls that she reassured his mother, who was worried at the presence of the royal visitor because Mrs. Muths was German and spoke little if any English. The queen assured her that she was "just a woman."

Directors of League Against Prohibition Not Unanimous

BALTIMORE, July 9.—(AP)—The Baltimore Sun tomorrow will say that although the association against the prohibition amendment exists for the sole purpose of effecting a change in the government's prohibition policy, not all its directors will vote for Governor Smith. The forty directors were asked by the Sun whether they would vote for him. Of 11 replies to date four were for Smith, three for Hoover and four were in doubt.

Jugo Slav Minister to Germany Called Back by King

BELGRADE, July 9.—(AP)—King Alexander tonight ordered Sefirovic, Belagitchich, Jugoslavian minister to Germany, to return to Belgrade and form a cabinet.

The summoning of M. Balugitchich to form a new cabinet in Jugoslavia is likely to prove satisfactory to the disaffected Croatian peasant element in the tripartite kingdom. The new prime minister represented his country at Athens and Rome before being sent to Berlin.

ASK GRAIN RATE BE CUT IN HALF

PUBLIC HEARING OPENS AT PORTLAND YESTERDAY

Members of Interstate Commerce Commission Gasp at Request Voiced by Salemite

PORTLAND, July 9.—(AP)—Request for a 50 per cent reduction in grain rates to Portland brought gasps from railroad representatives attending the I. C. C. hearing which opened here today. The request was voiced by W. P. Ellis, attorney for the Oregon public service commission, when during a lull in technical testimony by J. P. Newell, consulting engineer of the state commission, E. J. Hagen, of St. Paul, representing the Great Northern, Northern Pacific and Milwaukee roads, asked what Newell's testimony was supposed to show.

"We want a substantial reduction in rates on all grain and grain products in the northwest," answered Ellis. "We want a general reduction of substantially fifty per cent. We intend to show that grain has been bearing more than its share in both interstate and intrastate commerce. We are making no suggestions as to whom should absorb the loss in revenue, but regardless of the financial condition of the carriers we insist rates should be reduced."

Mr. Ellis also intimated that the Oregon public service commission would ask for an extension of territory in which the present Columbia basin differential is effective.

RIVER VETERANS HAVE BIG MEET

MANY STEAMBOAT MEN ATTEND ANNUAL PICNIC

Recall Days of Early Navigation in Full and Interesting Program

Nearly 3,000 people gathered at Champeog on the banks of the Willamette Sunday to celebrate the third annual picnic of the Veteran Steamboat Men's association and those days when "the ship was the thing." Some 350 ex-boatmen went to Champeog on the "Beaver," which runs between Portland and The Dalles, while hundreds of cars parked there for the day attested interest of those who could not come on the excursion ship.

Master of ceremonies for the day was Judge Wilson of The Dalles. A feature of the program was the address given in Chinook tongue by Captain Charles Jennings, with Captain Troup acting as interpreter. Jennings is a veteran of 1871. Another feature was also the hoisting of the stars and stripes on the new flagpole which Mrs. Ames W. Shaver had donated.

The flag was given by Captain William Patterson. Captain Arthur Riggs donated a small vault which was buried at the foot of the pole after names of the veterans present were placed in it. Captain Riggs is president of the association.

The steamboat days of the period around 1870 were recalled by Captain J. W. Troup, manager of the Canadian Pacific steamship lines in Vancouver, B. C.

Marshall H. Dana of Portland told of the burning of the "Telephone" in 1877, and how, through the quick action and coolness of the captain, H. P. Scott, every one of the 500 passengers was saved. The ship was destroyed.

Captain Billie Patterson, as he is affectionately known, Captain John T. Gray, J. C. Alsworth, president of the U. S. National bank of Portland all had a word to say on early transportation and its various phases, as also did the "last of the Hudson bay boys," Joseph Ryan of Butteville; William R. Scheurer, George Sheppard, Russell Sewell, Sam Gill, and Captain Patterson's mother, who two years ago was queen mother at

TWICE MAY BE CHARM

Married Two Times, Now Seek Second Divorce

Married, divorced, married and then divorced again will be the story of Clarence Myers and Inga Myers if suit for separation filed in circuit court here yesterday is prosecuted to a successful conclusion.

The two were first married in Chehalis, Washington, on November 23, 1902. They remained together until May 24 of last year when a decree of divorce was allowed.

They remained separated only four months, however, marrying again on October 24.

Yesterday he filed suit for divorce, alleging that she has called him names and conducted herself in other ways which constitute cruel and inhuman treatment toward him.

There have been a number of children born to Mr. and Mrs. Myers.

154 AT BANQUET HERE

Registration on First Day Heavy; President in Address Emphasizes Need of Honesty in Merchandising

The Oregon State Pharmaceutical association is making commendable progress and keeping pace with its sister organizations in the east and elsewhere in the general program for raising the standards of the drug business, declared Dr. E. F. Kelly of Baltimore, Md., secretary of the American Pharmaceutical association, in his address at the banquet of the state association here last night.

Particularly valuable work has been done in raising the standards for certifying pharmacists and in insisting on the best quality of drugs, Dr. Kelly said.

Banquet Biggest Ever The banquet was the biggest that the association has ever held. It was stated by Frank Ward, secretary. There were 154 persons seated. Judge Peter H. D'Arcy of Salem, as toastmaster, recalled a meeting of the association held here 27 years ago, then mayor of Salem, being toastmaster on that occasion also.

Only three other persons who were at that meeting attended the banquet last night: Dan J. Fry, Sr., Dr. R. E. Lee Steiner, and A. E. Crosby of The Dalles. These three were among those who spoke briefly last night. Others were Dr. J. A. Linville, assisting prohibition administrator; John F. Allen of Oregon state college; F. C. Felter, president of the traveling men's auxiliary; Frank R. Peterson, past president of the National Retail Druggists association, and S. A. Marthlen, Portland druggist who was previously a state representative from Multnomah county.

Registration Heavy The convention opened Monday morning and by late afternoon over 150 persons had registered, indicating that the expected registration of 300 would be reached before the three days are ended.

In the absence of the mayor, City Attorney Fred Williams de-

MARS MESSAGE COMING TONIGHT

EXCEPTIONAL PLAY ON CHAUTAUQUA PROGRAM

Juniors' Pageant Also Postponed Until Today; Last of Attractions

The 1928 Chautauqua season in Salem will come to an end tonight, with the most spectacular event of the whole brimming week of songs, music, lectures and plays promised.

The century's comedy-drama, "A Message From Mars," is on the schedule for tonight. The thunder, lightning and scenic effects which accompany this chautauqua offering are said to be seldom outdone on the legitimate stage. The play conveys an inspirational message and story.

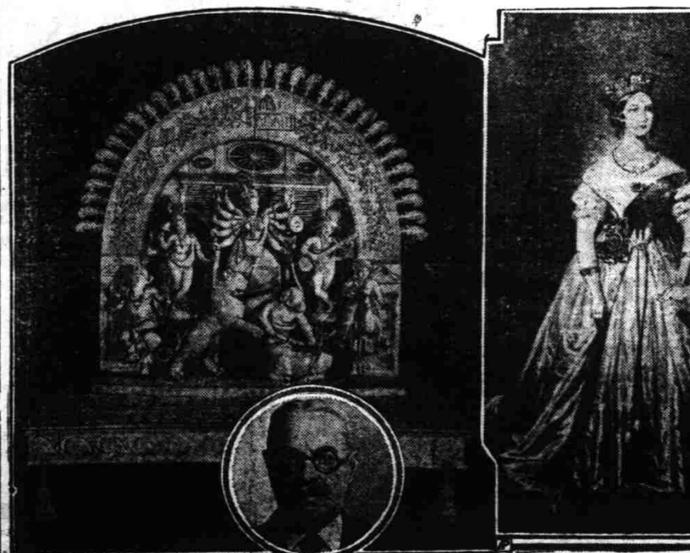

"A Message From Mars" was first produced in London, meeting success there and later being enthusiastically received in the principal American dramatic centers. At the head of the chautauqua cast is Arthur MacMurray, nationally known artist and producer, and every member of the cast was carefully selected to portray his or her part with the utmost suitability. Of course there is a love theme; but the message from Mars, is said to be potent.

This afternoon Mr. MacMurray will give his famous "Cogitations of a Luncheon"; a comedy program will be given by the MacMurray cast, and by no means least, the junior Chautauqua pageant is to be given. The children's pageant was first announced for yesterday, but due to the illness of the junior director, postponement was inevitable. All children should report at the tent this morning at 9 o'clock for their final session.

Last night Vierra's Hawaiians presented "A Night in Hawaii," with a Hawaiian stage setting that added greatly to the charm of the music of the six stringed instruments.

The sextet's program contained variety, ranging from the pathetic

VICTORIA'S CORONATION GIFT COMES TO U. S.

British art treasures have come to the United States in increasing numbers in recent years, and now Richard Briggs (inset), Boston collector, says he has acquired a coronation gift from the Maharajah of Bengal to Queen Victoria—the group of Hindu deities at the left, sculptured in ivory. At the right is Queen Victoria at her coronation in 1837. The sculpture bears a Windsor Castle label.
