NUMEROUS PRIZES AWAITING VICTORS

Today is the big day of the season at the city playgrounds. Everybody will have a chance to be in movies, and that isn't all! There will be lots of contests, and lots of prizes for the winners.

girls 12 and over, free style, first prize is a swimming bag from Shipley's, and second, scented rose petals from Olson's Florist shop. Winners in the chariot race, also a swimming contest, will receive boxes of stationery from Fry's Drug store, Nettie's Drug store and the Commercial Book store.

First and second prizes in the doll dressing for girls 11 and over will be an embroidery package from Miller's and a beauty box from the Red Cross Drug store. The grand prize for the girls under 11 will be a doll from Hamilton's, prizes for the other two prizes will be candy from the Sp and the Graybelle. The prizes for the three second places will be novelty jewelry from Woolworth's. The girls from all grounds compete in this contest.

The winner of the footrace for girls 8 and under will get a purse and handkerchiefs from Ka-fourty's; the winner in the race for girls 9-12 will receive needlework from Penney's; the girl from 12-15 winning the race for that class will receive a jar of bath salts from the Capital Drug store.

Several of the men's stores also have offered prizes to boys who win in their contests. The Brown sporting goods store has given an indoor baseball and pocketknife; Anderson's has given a Doodad and an airplane; Carl and Bowersox have offered a box of candy. Other prizes, and their donors are: a scout knife, scout matchbox and tennis ball from Ray L. Farmer's hardware store; a belt and necktie from Cooley's clothing store; two knives from Allen's hardware store; two bicycle pedals from the A. H. Moore bicycle shop; and two bicycle bells from Harry Scott's bicycle shop. This is a fine list of prizes, and all the boys from all the playgrounds ought to be at the 14th street grounds to try for them.

Youngsters should be on hand by 1:45 this afternoon. Every boy and girl in town knows where the circus grounds are; the playground is at the south end of the circus ground—over by the creek.

Boys who have made boats must remember to take them, for the finals of the boat contest will be this afternoon; movies will be made of this contest and of every boy and his boat. There will be swimming races, bicycle races and foot races for big boys, small boys and in-betweeners, and baseball games between the three playgrounds. Exhibition boxing matches and tumbling stunts will be performed and there will be practice for the badge tests, finals of which will be Saturday.

Pictures of the Yew Park and Lincoln grounds will be taken on Friday, but the children of these grounds are to be at the circus grounds this afternoon. Dr. David Bennett Hill will take the pictures with his motor-driven Eastman cine-Kodak. Many of the regular playground activities will be carried on in addition to the special features given above, so that the pictures may record the normal work of the playgrounds.

LEWIS KEEPS TITLE
MINNEAPOLIS, July 10.—(AP)—Strangler Lewis of Kansas City retained his title of world's heavyweight champion wrestler by defeating Marlin Plestina of Chicago in a grueling three fall match last night.

The bridge expert has it all over the political expert because it is very seldom anyone has the nerve to contradict him.

SALEM, OREGON

Northwest Conference To Stage Fast Football

It won't be long now—two months and a few days—until the thud of the inflated pigskin will be heard again in the land, and more particularly for the purpose of this discussion, on Sweetland field and the gridirons of other Northwest conference colleges.

Willamette university's football prospects will be just so-so, according to such information as is available at present, or even perhaps a little more than so-so. But however Willamette fares, the Northwest conference will put on an even faster brand of football this year than it did last year, even though at that time it vied with the Pacific Coast conference in quality of football and some Northwest conference teams won from Coast conference teams and others tied with them.

College of Idaho, last year's Northwest conference champion, will not lose any of its regular players through graduation. This was the only team that defeated Willamette in Salem, and it is expected to prove even more formidable this fall, with an extra year's experience for all of Coach Cronin's men and undoubtedly a crop of speedy freshmen from the Idaho high schools, which play real football.

Whitman too, will have all but one of last year's regulars, including Holmgren, all-conference end, and Meckelson, all-conference halfback.

College of Puget Sound loses several men, but Cac Hubbard will make up for that by having several men eligible who were transfers last year and unable to play on that account.

Pacific lost Emerson, scintillating quarterback, but otherwise will have just about the same crew as last year.

Linfield, with a new coach and lacking a considerable number of the players that held University of Oregon scoreless at the opening of last season, is the only school that does not promise to be up in the race, and even there somebody may be surprised.

Coach Spec Keene of Willamette has his worries, but not so many as he had at the opening of either of the past two seasons. Willamette will start the practice season with several serious problems, particularly in the line. Woodworth, veteran tackle, has played his allotted four years; McKenzie, all-conference guard two years ago, has left school; so has Reggie DePoe, end and kicking artist. In the backfield, Zeller has graduated, Winslow has played four years and so has Waddill, and one or two other stars may be ineligible.

The brighter side of the picture may be found in a glance back at the Armistice day game a year ago, when the crippled Willamette team, with a backfield averaging approximately 130 pounds, overcame Linfield, one of its most dangerous opponents, in an exhibition of fight that hadn't been equaled in six years at Willamette.

That backfield included Cranor, later selected all-conference halfback; Eaton and Deetz, tiny but flashing fullbacks; and Winslow, Winslow cannot play this year, but the others will be on the job, and with French, hard luck champion who showed so brilliantly against College of Idaho and University of Washington, would make one last backfield. There are also Charles DePoe and Hauck to be considered, and McMullin from the 1926 team.

PORTLAND FIGHT ENDS IN DRAW

PORTLAND, July 10.—(AP)—Ignacio Fernandez, Filipino flash, tonight got a draw in his fight with Ritchie King, "blood tiger of the navy," according to the referee and two judges. Ringside critics saw the battle otherwise and declared King won eight rounds by the widest of margins. King used a straight left and a left hook freely and rocked the Filipino often. Fernandez supposed to be a long range fighter, did most of his damage at fighting.

ADD PORTLAND—5.....VC. King entered the ring at 129½ and the Islander at 126½.
Austin Rosander, welterweight, knocked out Johnny La Rose in the fourth round of a scheduled six round bout. A right to the jaw and a left to the midriff did the business. Both are local lads.
Other results: Jack Ryan, Denver, decision over Robby Vernon, Vancouver, Wash., four rounds, 160 pounds.

PARIS Chief of Police Extending Reform Drive

PARIS July 10.—(AP)—Jean Chiappe, the energetic police chief who launched the reform wave against Paris theaters and public licentiousness, has just issued an order greatly restricting the traditional Paris street fair.

He has decreed that the fair block traffic and in general interfere with the march of progress. Chief Chiappe's famous purification squadrons of police continue their nightly cruises through the boulevards and tributary streets arresting girls, male dancing partners and others who cannot explain what they are doing among the bright lights.

He has even attempted to abolish jay-walking.

TEACHERS TOUR U. S.
HAVANA, Cuba, July 10.—(AP)—Three parties of Cuban public school teachers will depart next month for the United States on an instructional tour of eastern schools. One group will go to Niagara Falls and the New England states. The second group, members of the School of Pedagogy, will go to Washington, and the third, formed by 366 teachers, will visit Key West, Palm Beach, Miami, Daytona, Tampa and Ybor City.

ROD AND GUN CLUB HOLDS BIG BANQUET
The Salem Rod and Gun club banquet, held yesterday evening at the Salem Elks club, turned out to be rather a celebration of the sportsmen's recent victory in securing a sufficient number of signatures to place the initiative petitions placing a measure to close four Oregon streams to further power development on the ballot next November.

In a short talk outlining the high spots of the campaign, R. J. Kirkwood, editor of Western-Out-of-Doors, explained the various difficulties encountered in securing the measure and expressed his appreciation of the manner in which the various sportsmen throughout the state had cooperated with him in putting the measure across.

According to Mr. Kirkwood the opposite to the measure came principally from the power companies throughout the state and from various irrigation projects. Other than from these interests there was practically no resistance to the sportsmen's work.

To quote Mr. Kirkwood, "It was more of a thrill than any fish I ever caught when I found out that we were over the top."

Other speakers who commented on the recent campaign were Dr. G. E. Prime of Salem, Ed Paeski of Dallas, president of the state organization, and Everett Johnson, prominent Portland attorney, who drafted the measure.

In his address Mr. Johnson recognized that the work in this respect was still far from complete as the measure is now only on the ballot and will come up for a vote of the people next November. Mr. Johnson summed up the situation saying, "We have a hard fight day,

LOCAL BOY SCOUTS AT SUMMER CAMP

Last Saturday a contingent of Salem Boy Scouts went to their new campsite for the first two weeks period of the summer camping season. The following interesting letter was received yesterday from Camp Chewaukun, and was written by Lewis Campbell, Jr.:

"The annual camp of the Boy Scouts of America was officially opened Monday morning when reveille was blown and the scout with various exclamations of disgust got out of bed for setting up exercises.

"The camp is situated 18 miles from Selo on Neil Creek, where the water makes swimming very unenjoyable.

"The camp quarters consists of nine tents and two officers' tents. The camp duties are carried on by details assigned to different tents each day. A short synopsis of the daily program is:

6:30, Setting up exercises; 6:45, Wash for breakfast; 7:15, Breakfast; 8:00, Assembly, police duty; 9:00, Scoutcraft instruction; 11:00, Tent inspection; 11:15, Swim.

"12:15, Dinner; 1:00, Rest period; 2:00, Games; 4:00, Swim; 5:30, Retreat ceremonies; 6:15, Supper; 7:00, Games or study; 8:00, Campfire; 9:30, Taps.

"The court of honor will be held next Sunday, which is also Visitors' day, for the advancement of any scout who has earned honors."

Coleman, of course, will be all set to bear down in an effort to repeat his last shutout here, but on the other hand, the Senators will face him with something akin to murder on their minds, so that evens that situation nicely.

But as far as that's concerned, very game from now on in the Willamette Valley league is going to be a real ball game, with no foolishness about it. The fans are sure in for some big times.

The scores were: Albany 13, Wendling 0; Albany 6, Salem 0; Albany 5, Eugene 4; Albany 5, Wendling 0; Albany 7, Cottage Grove 1.

ECONOMY TO RULE HIGHWAY POLICIES

PORTLAND, July 10.—(AP)—Members of the Oregon state highway commission, meeting here today, declared for more than strict economy. The financial situation has been so jeopardized by the filing of the Dunne initiative measure, the commissioners said that curtailments must be made whenever possible. Joe Dunne state senator, who sponsored the measure to reduce auto license fees, appeared before the commission and gave an analysis of his bill.

Snow clearing and oiling of state highways must be reduced, the commission declared, and requests for surveys will be refused. Only one piece of new work developed out of the meeting—an agreement to surface the Sand creek section at the east entrance to Crater Lake park. Four miles of surfacing will be done, with government aid, to go away with the dust from the present volcanic ash.

Contract was awarded Henry C. Boyer for grading 11 miles of the Fremont highway in Lake county for $40,320.

Hearing on a franchise application for a private toll road between Umatilla and Wallula was set for August 14.

Request for a survey of a road to be known as the Cascade highway, on the east side of the Willamette valley between Oregon City and Springfield, touching Molalla, Silverton, Selo and other towns, was denied at this time.

Dr. L. L. Hewes, regional director of the U. S. bureau of public roads asked the commission how it felt toward helping build a road from Klamath Falls to Weed, Cal., commissioners replied that Oregon had built several roads to the California line, and received no cooperation from California on the other side, and that they were not taken with the Klamath Falls-Weed proposal.
