Interesting Meeting of Ladies Aid and Missionary Societies

An interesting meeting of the Ladies Aid and Missionary societies of Leslie Methodist church was held Wednesday afternoon in the church parlors.

A feature of the afternoon, which was spent with sewing, was the presentation of a large birthday cake decorated with lavender sweet peas, to Mrs. E. C. Ware who observed her eightieth birthday anniversary Tuesday, July 10.

Mrs. W. J. Linfoot presided at the business meeting of the Aid society, and Mrs. E. A. Rhoten was in charge of the missionary meeting.

A profusion of summer flowers—hydrangeas, snapdragons, lilies and sweet peas from the Bateham floral gardens, decorated the church rooms.

A lovely basket of flowers was sent by the group to Mrs. J. A. Bishop who is seriously ill at her home on South Commercial street.

The following members of the Aid society will serve on the hostess committee for the next meeting which will be held August first: Mrs. E. T. Barkus, Mrs. Charles Lucas, Mrs. F. A. Parkhill, Mrs. Frank Rock, Mrs. V. Ohmart, Mrs. Tucker and Mrs. Teeple.

The missionary society will meet August eighth at the home of Mrs. S. Darlow Johnson.

Those present Wednesday afternoon were: Rev. and Mrs. S. Darlow Johnson, Miss Leona Johansen, Mrs. Alma Thompson, Mrs. Josephine Vass, Mrs. E. C. Ware, Mrs. Charles Vleck, Mrs. C. Buchner, Mrs. E. T. Barkus, Mrs. John Bertelson, Mrs. E. Montgomerie, Mrs. J. S. Murray, Lila, Janice and Elaine Murray, Mrs. Clara Lucas, Mrs. Adelaide Henderson, Mrs. A. C. Bohrnstedt, Mrs. L. C. McShane, Mrs. W. J. LEAGUE MAY INVITE U. S. TO FIGHT OPIUM

Discussion Rife as to Best Way to Obtain American Cooperation

GENEVA, July 12.—(AP)—The question has arisen whether to ask the United States to sit on the league's new anti-opium commission or wait for America's voluntary cooperation.

Now that the opium convention is assured and the world fight on habit-forming drugs can begin, the eyes of the world are turning expectantly to see what the Washington government will do.

The American delegation walked out of the last opium conference before the convention was concluded because other delegates declined to accept the American principle that the production of opium should be restricted to medical and scientific needs. The United States has not signed the convention, but nothing precludes the designation of an American expert on the central board.

This will consist of eight persons chosen from producing and consuming countries. The experts must represent neither governments or opium interests. They will compile and publish statistics concerning the opium traffic.

Recently several states, including Canada, announced ratification of the convention, which will probably become legally operative by the end of the year, as the necessary number of states will have ratified.

The assembly of the League of Nations must, however, make a budget allowance for the board, the amount being estimated at from $30,000 to $50,000. The board members are appointed by the League Council.

PORTLAND DEMANDS CUT IN GRAIN RATES

Fifty Per Cent Request Dwindles Down to 20 Per Cent at Hearing

PORTLAND, July 12.—(AP)—Interstate Commerce Commissioner Meyer and Examiners Hall and Mackley today heard Portland ask for approximately a 50 per cent reduction in grain rates from the Inland Empire territory. The public service commission of Oregon, at the opening of the hearing here this week, had gone on record as seeking a blanket reduction of 50 per cent, but W. P. Ellis, attorney for the state body, said today that the commission would accept "any reduction consistent with the lowest possible rate authorized by the Hoch-Smith resolutions."

W. A. Curtin, manager of the Portland traffic and transportation association made the proposal for a 20 per cent reduction in the course of his testimony. He was on the stand all day, and was subject to constant questioning by Examiners Hall and Mackley and Samuel J. Wetrick, attorney for Puget Sound interests.

Asked by Wetrick if he thought removal of the Columbia basin differential would benefit the producer, Curtin said it would not. Because there the Seattle rate would be too low for a fair return to the carriers, and the Portland rate would have to be correspondingly high to make the correspond.

Wetrick admitted that Puget Sound millers actually have a two cent advantage per hundred in existing through rates but declared they were forced to pay wheat than Portland millers, thus leaving the two groups on an equal competitive basis.

R. J. Hageman, St. Paul, attorney for the Great Northern and other roads, asked Curtin if he believed the rate to Seattle should be reduced an approximate 20 per cent. Curtin answered with a smile that he thought Seattle interests ought to take the initiative on that question.

It probably will be a year before a decision is handed down by the I. C. C. on the present hearing, according to Examiner Mackley. Both sides will be given two or three months to file briefs after the hearing is closed because of the amount of testimony offered. Examiners Mackley and Hall will then submit a tentative report and arguments will then be heard on suggested modifications. The amended report will then be submitted to the I. C. C. as a whole for final decision.

STOCK MART AGAIN SHOWS REAL DROP

Prices Follow Line of Least Resistance, Yesterday's Report Says

NEW YORK, July 12.—(AP)—The line of least resistance in today's stock market was again downward. Marking up of the call money rate from the renewal figure of 7 to 8 per cent brought a flood of offerings into the market, sending many issues down 1 to 12 points. Several attempts were made during the course of the day to rally the general list but most of them fell flat, although U. S. Steel Common, General Electric and a few other industrial favorites showed stubborn resistance to selling pressure.

General Motors again bore the brunt of the selling pressure. Closing 6 points lower at 184 1/2 after having fluctuated between 182 3/4 and 191 on total sales of nearly half a million shares. National Tea broke 12 points, Adams Express and American Linsseed preferred 10 each and American Bank Note, Case Threshing, Dupont, Kelly-Springfield 5 per cent preferred, Rossia Insurance and Wright Aeronautical 5 to 8 points. Radio sold down to 162 1/2 and rallied to 166 1/2, up 1 1/2.

American Tobacco issues ran up 4 points on talk of a 2 for 1 stock split-up. Manhattan Electrical Supply recorded a similar gain. U. S. Steel common met good support throughout the session, closing fractionally higher at 135.

Except for a break of 7 points in "Nickel Plate" common and 5 points in Lehigh Valley, most of the rails received fairly good support.

WASHINGTON MAN LEAPS IN SEA AS "FOOL STUNT"

Swimming to be Confined to Safer and More Restricted Areas Next Time

WASHINGTON, July 12.—(AP)—Morton Hoyt, 29 year old society man of this city, realizes it was a "fool stunt" to jump into the sea from the French liner Rochambeau last Friday and hopes people but not his friends, will forget the incident.

Tired but not ill from his experience, Hoyt told newspapermen here today that he dived overboard from the ship, not as the result of a dare from Miss Elsie

SCIENTISTS STUDY AFRICAN ICE FIELD

Five Americans and One Englishman Start Exploration Tour

By ANDRUE BERDING Associated Press Staff Writer. LONDON, July 12.—(AP)—Six scientists and explorers, five of them Americans, have set out to study the ice and snow fields in the heart of Africa's heat belt. The party includes Dr. S. A. Barrett, director of the Milwaukee, Wis., public museum; John Cudahy and Osborn Goodrich, wealthy Milwaukeeans; Irving Perkins and Owen Gromme, museum taxidermists, and Careth Wells, British explorer.

The party will venture into the high tablelands and swamps around Lake Victoria Nyanza from Mombasa in British East Africa, under the banner of the Explorers' Club of America.

At Nairobi the explorers will meet Pat Ayre, the hunter who conducted the Duke of York's party in Africa. The expedition will remain in Africa nearly a year.

STUDIES GENEALOGY OF AMERICAN BUGS

LAWRENCE, Kas., July 12.—(AP)—The genealogy of American bugs is being studied in Europe by Prof. Herbert Hungerford of the University of Kansas.

Hungerford is on a tour of eight countries, taking along 8,000 specimens of North and South American insects for comparison with those abroad. The purpose of his research is to determine whether species to which American zoologists apply certain names are really related to "families" bearing the same names in Europe. No such comparison has even been made.

The 8,000 "companions" on Hungerford's trip are from the museums of the University of Kansas and the Smithsonian Institute. The professor will study entomological inhabitants of England, Scotland, Germany, Sweden, Holland, France, Austria and Czechoslovakia.

PORTLAND WANTS CUT IN PHONE RATE

More Stringent Franchise to be Offered Company, Council's Plan

PORTLAND, July 12.—(AP)—The city council today started on its way to the November ballot a proposed telephone franchise providing for a 25 per cent cut in rates. Other provisions of the franchise, which is to run for five years, include: One per cent of gross receipts to be paid to city.

Prohibition on collection of charges in advance, on report charges and on installation charges unless service has been rendered.

Franchise cannot be sold without consent of the council and voters.

Rates may not be changed during period of franchise, and if any appeal is taken, franchise is void.

Trimming of trees for wires must be done by city and not by company employes.

Test of the power of the city council to establish rates through a franchise is expected to be the outcome of the matter if the voters approve the measure.

Mayor Baker declared the franchise would be put on the ballot; and after popular action, if the company wants to go into court and challenge the city's right to act, then the basic issues to be fought out will be settled.

Attorneys for the company told the council that the proposed reduction in rates would wipe out all profits of the concern here, which amount to about $1,000,000 per year in Portland and which mean a return of about 7 per cent on the company's local investment.

RUM NOW HELD DEAD QUESTION

HEAD OF ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE ISSUES STATEMENT

Revival of Liquor Issue in Campaign Decried by F. Scott McBride

WASHINGTON, July 12.—(AP)—The American people have settled prohibition as a political issue, F. Scott McBride, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league, said in a statement today that "man who seeks to revive the liquor issue today is as unwise politically as he would be if he fought to resuscitate slavery."

More than 70 per cent of the democrats and republicans in congress are dry, Mr. McBride declared. He indicated that this represented the prevailing sentiment of their constituencies.

"Prohibition rests on the overwhelming majority of the voters of the land," he said, "who know full well that promises of repeal, or modification of the law made by any candidate cannot be kept."

He indicated that this represented the prevailing sentiment of their constituencies.
