Gold Fish New Shipment—Flake's Petland 273 State.

Weeds Bother Low—Weeds which grow so luxuriantly in vacant lots, particularly, are a problem with which Walter Low, street commissioner, is having to contend. In addition to his other duties, Commissioner Low is supposed to keep the city free of weeds, or see that it is kept free. Because there are no funds for this work, he finds it hard to enforce the law on property the owners of which do not live in Salem, and who therefore neglect this compliance with the city ordinances. Low is empowered to put a lien on the land, but this procedure seldom nets the city anything.

Summer Jewelry, Beads, Etc.—In a large selection at Pomeroy & Keene's.

New School, Rock Point—The Rock Point school, district No. 29, on the Silver Creek Falls road above Shaw, will build a new $4,000 one room, one story structure, the board of directors yesterday reported to County Superintendent Fulkerson. HIGHEST TRIBUTE GIVEN CARRANZA

HONOR PAID REMAINS OF MEXICAN FLIER

Body Placed on Famous Old Artillery Calson as Entire Division Forms

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., July 20. (AP)—The skies, which a week ago dashed Captain Emilio Carranza to the earth and to death, today wept flowers on his funeral cortege as his body passed in San Antonio to receive the final gesture of friendship and sympathy which this country will offer before the funeral train reaches the Mexican border.

A flying guard of honor composed of 100 of the army's fighting airplanes met the train at New Braunfels, Texas, 30 miles north of here and escorted it to San Antonio. At the city limits the last flight of the formation swept down in a long graceful curve to shower the coach in which the body rested, with masses of native Texas flowers. An eleven gun salute, accorded brigadier-generals, was fired by the fifteenth field artillery as the train entered the depot. The Mexican government gave Captain Carranza the rank of brigadier after his death. At the depot the flier was among his own people again for the first time since he crossed the border on his ill-fated good-will flight to this country, for the International and Great Northern depot here is in the heart of the Mexican district. Thousands of Mexicans were gathered about the train-shed and lined in solid ranks all along the route of march.

The entire second division, with detachments of the Texas national guard, was drawn up as the body was carried to the famous old calson which for 50 years has been used in military funerals here. The casket was lashed to the gun carriage with the same heavy straps that were used to fasten General Frederick Funston's casket when he died here in 1917.

As the calson moved out toward the municipal auditorium Mexican women from second floor balconies along the route of march showered it with branches of crepe myrtle lilies and other flowers. Six coal black horses drew the gun carriage and a seventh black horse saddled and with empty officers' boots reversed in the stirrups followed the calson while the ninth infantry band played Chopin's funeral march, Massenet's Elegy and other funeral marches.

3 RANCHERS DENY SEATTLE'S CLAIMS

Parity of Rates Between Portland and Puget Sound Not Favored

PORTLAND, Ore., July 20. (AP)—Three veteran wheat growers of Umatilla county testified at today's session of the interstate commerce commission hearing on grain rates here, and added their denials to assertions of Puget sound interests that a majority of farmers in the Columbia basin differential territory favored a parity of rates between Seattle and Portland.

The witnesses were Thomas R. Hampton, Thomas Thompson and I. A. Christopher. A parity of rates would perhaps be satisfactory, they testified in effect, but they did not see how it could be accomplished without paying a higher rate to Portland than was justified. "It would be all right if they didn't rob Peter to pay Paul," Thompson said. It was indicated that at least another week and perhaps more would be required to complete the no session tomorrow, and the

Obregon's Slayer Gets Three Day Court Respite

MEXICO CITY, July 20. (AP)—Police and military authorities of Mexico were restrained by the district court today from taking action against Jose De Leon Torral, slayer of General Alvaro Obregon, for 72 hours.

This action came simultaneously with an official announcement that the youthful art student would be given a public civil trial. Taken together the two developments mean that the assassin has at least three days to live. They meant, too, that there will be no summary execution.

Temporary heads of the police department appointed from among Obregon's close associates in order that they might have a free hand in running down backers of De Leon Torral, had indicated before the court acted that they would favor civil rather than military law procedure.

The newspaper El Sol declares that terror prevails in Catholic circles, especially in Guadalupe where is situated the shrine of our Lady of Guadalupe, Mexico's Patron Saint. Catholic priests of the shrine who since the religious laws became effective performed no services but, dressed as laymen, continued to live in the vicinity, are said to have gone into hiding. Some members of the Knights of Columbus, a number of priests and the Sacristans of the shrine are known to have been questioned by police, but no report of their examination has been made public.

Newspapers declare that all information they can gain points to Torral being a religious fanatic. In certain quarters it is thought his fanaticism might have been played upon by political enemies of General Obregon with the idea of making it appear that the slaying of the president-elect had a religious motivation. This suggestion was persistent today, but was not confirmed in any responsible quarter.

The application for an injunction restraining the authorities from taking action against Torral was dropped in a mail box by an unidentified person. It was automatically granted when the court decided to "officially relieve" it. The court's action, it was learned had the approval of the officials in charge of the case, who were anxious to avoid any hasty action.

hearing adjourned until Monday. Railroads will have a chance to present their side of the issues during the latter part of the hearing, and to cross-examine J. P. Newell, consulting engineer for the public service commission of Portland hearing. There will be Obregon. Newell previously submitted a voluminous exhibit dealing with a general investigation of rate structures in Oregon, with operating costs in the northwest.

PORTLAND MANHUNT PROVES FRUITLESS

Police Fail to Find William Herder Despite Numerous Rumors

PORTLAND, Ore., July 20. (AP)—Police searching for William Herder, 24, wanted in connection with the holdup of the Willow Creek, Calif., postoffice on July 13, and the killing of a deputy sheriff in a running gun battle, continued today to draw their net closer on the man, thought to be hiding here.

Several reports were received that the hunted man was seen in Portland today, but police were unable to trace his movements. Definite information was received, however, that Herder was seen here last Saturday, and on Sunday, Monday and Wednesday of this week.

One informant said Herder's mother, Mrs. John B. Herder of Portland, was picking berries in a field 12 miles from here last Saturday, when Herder came to the field and sought out his mother. After a brief consultation, the mother is said to have told the foreman she would have to leave her job and go to southern California.

The mother did not go to southern California, police found today, and she denied that she had seen her son since he left here with Peter Stroff, captured, and John W. Bishop, killed in the gun battle. "Other information, police said, was that Herder was seen riding around Portland Sunday in his small roadster with red wire wheels. He was said also to have been seen by friends Monday and again Wednesday night.

VICTORY SAID NEAR FOR MARINE FORCE

More Than 500 Native Nicaraguans Surrender to American Army

WASHINGTON, July 20. (AP)—The Nicaraguan job of the Marines is believed to be nearing a close.

The surrender of more than 500 natives to Marine troops within the past two weeks has wiped out all organized bands in the interior of the Central American Republic, in the opinion of the Marine corps headquarters here. The only force at large is believed to be that of General Sandino who with approximately 150 men has fled to the mountainous jungle between the Coco and Boco rivers in Jinotega province in northern Nicaragua.

Sandino and his band are being slowly "pocketed" by large Marine forces operating in that region, according to the latest reports, although the operations of the marines are difficult on account of the inaccessibility of the jungle section and the rainy season, it is thought that within a few months
