Baseball fans who have been planning to show their loyalty to the Salem Senators by attending tonight's baseball benefit dance at the Mellow Moon, received an added incentive Sunday when the team defeated Eugene decisively and thus practically assured that it will be in the running for the second half championship and stand a good chance of taking the final title in the play-off.

The weather isn't altogether conducive to dancing, but it will be cooler at the Mellow Moon, where the benefit dance is to be held, than anywhere else in or near Salem. The pavilion is close to the river and has plenty of ventilation, so the crowds can enjoy themselves despite the high temperature elsewhere.

Another great feat that is drawing the attention of the baseball fans, even though it is still three weeks in the distance, is the game which the Senators have signed with the University of Illinois here. Graduates of that school and local business men in general are planning to appear in person at the entertainment for the college boys when they arrive here, and the prospects are that the whole town will turn out to see the team from the school that produced Red Grange and other nationally famous athletes.

These corporations in virtue of the charters issued to them in mortality obligated to its citizens to give them proper protection to insure that the businesses will be sound, well managed and safe for the public to deal with. I hope the committee will consider the whole subject as representatives of the people.

"I presume that through investigation will be given by the committee of the laws of other states and the concerns sought to be regulated will probably be given an opportunity to come before the committee and discuss these proposed measures from their point of view.

"It seems to me that if we had had proper regulations for the past few years several millions of dollars would have been saved to the people of Oregon. As you are aware, the corporation commissioner has had no authority to make examination and check many of the concerns doing financial business in Oregon.

"You may call upon Mark McCallister, state corporation commissioner for any information. The state superintendent of banking, banking board and executive office, will cooperate in any way they can to assist the committee. They all regard the work of the committee as important."

"An occasional Leopold-Loeb case shows us the futility of an education without a spiritual training."

HOOPER TALKS WITH JOHNSON, CALIFORNIA
chat with him.

"I am for the republican candidate for president, I am a republican candidate for the senate."

Senator Johnson said California would go republican beyond any doubt but he declined to predict by what majority, saying that it would be "historic" for any one to do that this early in the campaign.

It was apparent that in his conversation with the senator Mr. Hoover had outlined his acceptance speech in some detail. The presidential nominee did more to have it ready for the printer within a few days, after which he will make the final revision.

Good Reports Received
Albert Ottinger, attorney general of New York state, and probable republican candidate for governor, also called on Mr. Hoover during the day.

"There is no doubt that Mr. Hoover will carry New York state," he said. "Not only does the state vote preponderantly republican in presidential years, but New York city itself, the democratic stronghold, does. With the exception of 1912, when the republican party was split, that has been the case for many years.

"It's true that Governor Smith went to Albany in a presidential year, but his majority was only 115,000 as compared with a majority of 780,000 for president Coolidge.

Party Tie Held Strong
The republicans who voted for Smith then can be depended upon to stand by the party in the campaign this year.

"Hoover will pile up a good majority in New York. His human side presents a strong appeal to the voters. He will receive a heavy ballot from voters of foreign extraction because of his great constructive and humanitarian work during and after the world war."

Ottinger has been traveling over the west since the Kansas City convention and he said that wherever he went he found public sentiment favorable to Hoover.

A similar view was expressed by Mrs. Worthington Scranton, republican national committee woman for Pennsylvania, who is to call on Mr. Hoover tomorrow. She said Washington and Oregon were strong for the republican nominee and predicted that her own state would "again demonstrate its loyal republicanism."

DEDICATE NEW CHURCH OVER 600 AT SERVICE

Ordinary education was all that was needed, and showed that a spiritualizing force is necessary to the life of man.
