Belcrest Memorial park has secured the services of John Clemenson in the capacity of director of public relations. Mr. Clemenson, a native Oregonian, has had long experience on the Pacific Coast in publicity work and is regarded as an interesting and entertaining public speaker. Previous to his connection with Belcrest he has been engaged in developing public interest and patronage for various air transport companies on the coast.

Mr. Clemenson is much enthused with the possibilities of Belcrest Memorial park from a standpoint of civic pride. When asked about the project he said in part: "Belcrest Memorial park is, in my mind, a project in which every citizen of Salem should show a tremendous interest from a standpoint of civic pride. It is the development of a wondrous and beautiful asset to Salem, a city known the length and breadth of the Pacific Coast for its civic beauty. It is certainly a great pleasure to me to become associated with this project not only from the standpoint of the development itself, but from the character and integrity of the men behind it. "Every resident of Salem should make it a point to see Belcrest and find out for themselves the tremendous importance of this project from a civic standpoint."

TOO HOT FOR GAME

BOYS AT 14TH STREET WOULD RATHER SWIM

When it's too hot to get a bunch of boys interested in a game of baseball, it is pretty hot. It was that way yesterday afternoon. Lincoln grounds had a team all ready to play 14th street, but the 14th streeters decided that the swimming pool was more comfortable than a baseball game. So yesterday's games will be played tomorrow or Friday.

Seven girls and 13 boys who didn't know how to swim started learning yesterday in the beginning of the "Learn to Swim" campaign. Children may receive instruction any afternoon, and adults any evening between six and eight o'clock.

Yew Park boys will have their wood-carving contest on Saturday while the boys at 14th street have their archery contest.

This afternoon at 2 o'clock the first story hour will be held at the 14th street grounds.

IRRIGATING LABISH WALNUT ACRES

Former Teacher Perkins-Maplewood District Visiting in District

LAKE LABISH, July 24.—(Special).—The Frank Matthes family and the Clyde Harris family are expected home from the coast on Tuesday, July 24. They have been gone over a week.

Martin Holmes, with a large crew is baling hay in this vicinity. Some of the hay has a dark appearance but analysis proves that it is thoroughly cured and fully up to the standard in point of nutrition.

Guy Shaw of Brooks is caring for the Matthes premises during their absence at the coast. Some anxiety has been felt here in regard to walnut acreage. One 10 acre planting is being thoroughly watered and has apparently nothing else the matter except lack of moisture.

The irrigating was accomplished by means of a water wagon. The 10 acre planting is the property of Walter Gerner and the trees are young walnuts set between prune trees and designed to ultimately displace the prunes.

The Walter Gerner family returned this week from a several weeks' automobile trip which carried them to Chicago where they visited Mr. Gerner's parents. En route home they stopped at many points in the middle west visiting friends. "No place looks quite as good as Oregon," says Mr. Gerner.

Miss Ina Delle Koon visited friends here during the week. Miss Koon taught Perkins-Maplewood school successfully for two years but has now retired from teaching under the retiring and pensioning system of Illinois. Miss Koon has spent 30 years in the school room.

Iowans Visit Beresford Family of Lake Labish

LAKE LABISH, July 24.—(Special).—Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Beresford of Benton county, Iowa, arrived here this week. The Beresfords are accompanied by their daughter, Miss Helen Beresford and Miss Francis Seeds.

These two young women are teachers at Hood college, Frederick, Maryland. The party made the trip by automobile and are delighted with the Oregon country.

On the journey west the party visited A. M. Beresford, an attorney of Boulder, Colorado. The Beresfords also visited Prof. Herbert Beresford of the University of Idaho, at Moscow, Idaho.

The party are the guests of the D. C. Seborn family of Salem and will spend this week visiting the Oregon coast before beginning their long motor-journey eastward.

A carload of Hollywood visitors stopped in Hermiston the other day to ask if the spot of Hickman's capture was marked. It is not, California would have marked the spot and earned the maximum advertising possible on such an event. We'll learn.—Hermiston Herald.
