"The House That Service Built"

In cash in her pocketbook and who was injected by a mysterious telegram into the investigation of the Myrtle Mellus murder, tonight proved to be just a bride-to-be enroute to Paris to buy her trousseau.

The telegram was signed "St. S. Sullivan" and had been sent to the Los Angeles police from Chicago but officers in that city declared he was unknown there.

The identity of the young woman named in the telegram, Virginia Grove, was cleared when the man she is engaged to marry, a doctor employed by Los Angeles county, hurried to the police headquarters with witnesses who declared she was out of Los Angeles at the time Mrs. Mellus was slain and Leo P. Kelly, Mrs. Mellus' butcherboy lover, was found in a closet of the Mellus home. Her fiancé said she knew neither Mrs. Mellus or Kelly.

The doctor said that Miss Grove was a daughter of wealthy residents of Tacoma, Wash., and that her mother had given her the $5,000 to purchase wedding finery. The physician was unable to offer any theory as to the source of the Chicago telegram.

Kelly was arraigned today on charges of murdering the wealthy society woman in a battle climaxing a five year romance. He pleaded not guilty and trial was set for August 27.

This hard gritty carbon that causes wear

There's an oil now that forms none of it!

You likely think of carbon as it forms in hard layers on piston and cylinder heads—removed only by expensive scraping.

But the tiny abrasive chips of flint carbon that constantly "sandpaper" your bearings, your cylinder walls—every moving engine part—they'll wear your motor out before its time!

And you may be blaming hard carbon on something other than its real cause. It comes from burned motor oil. It causes knocking, you may know. Flakes chip off and get under valves, holding them open to waste power, to burn and warp.

Strangely enough, even the costliest oils often form the most carbon—three to five times as much. And the carbon they form is hard, flint-like—the sort that causes serious damage.

So you can't judge motor oils on "lubricating value" alone. A vital point is the carbon they form—How much? What kind? There is one oil you should know about in this connection.

Soft carbon—and only a little of it

Shell Motor Oil, made by a new refining process, forms less carbon than any oil you can buy. What little it does form is soft, sooty—blows away through the exhaust.

Pour waste oil on a pan of glass—you'll see bits of metal "flings" from your motor's moving parts. And "dirt"—gritty black carbon that causes wear!

Shell Motor Oil forms only 1/3 to 1/5 the carbon of even the costliest oils—and soft, soot-like carbon that easily blows away through the exhaust

It has a remarkably high heat resistance, holds its sturdy lubricant body under heat that would ruin ordinary oils.

In every way it is a smoother, finer lubricant; you are fully justified in saying that it "adds thousands of miles to the life of your car."

Insist that Shell Motor Oil be put into your car when you refill, when you buy extra oil. You are sure then not only of good lubrication—but freedom from gritty carbon.

SHELL MOTOR OIL

Shell 400, the new "dry" gas that explodes cleanly and keeps out of the crankcase, is the ideal running mate for Shell Motor Oil. Even Shell Motor Oil can be ruined by "thinning" with a "wet" gas
