Try This In Your "Daily Dozen"

No, the caption of this picture isn't "On the Bidge at Midnight," but maybe it will help you to take your mind off the hot weather. If you think Barbara Vernon, petite musical comedy star, is doing what she appears to be doing on the big Dumbarton bridge at San Francisco, you can do so, too. If you don't believe it, that's all right, too.

Another high wind developing in the vicinity of the Cayman Islands passed by in the night without doing damage.

Dr. C. H. Myers of Cornell university says farmers are wrong in trying to produce enormous cabbages, and that the smaller types are more desirable. Judging from the size of the modern apartment, the tenants don't eat anything larger than peas, anyway.

Kiwanians To Make Bid For Convention

Signs made of Salem linen and badges with strands of Marion county flax attached to them, will be part of the propaganda carried by Salem Kiwanians to the northwest convention in Aberdeen next week, with the purpose of securing the 1929 convention for this city, it was announced at yesterday's Kiwanian luncheon by President Charles Wiper.

Wives of Salem Kiwanian members have a task ahead of them for the next few days, the sewing of flax strands to the badges, it was stated. They will have a "sewing bee" at the chamber of commerce rooms.

Art Kirkham, of Corvallis, who will lead the Salem delegation in song at the convention, introduced a group of songs to the club members at the meeting Tuesday. These songs all have a local slant and the intention is to win the convention in a musical attack supplemented by the banners and badges.

The competition will be keen, as Victoria, B. C., will be on hand with a kiltie band and other attractions.

Pretty Girl Has Smile For Kind Police Officer

Officer Kuykendall, day patrolman, had charge of a prisoner Tuesday just before noon, having escorted him to a restaurant for refreshments.

A young woman with a pleasant smile entered and trained the aforesaid smile on Kuykendall. Immediately, according to the statement of Sergeant Walt Thompson, Kuykendall turned his prisoner over to the young woman.

No investigation of the patrolman's apparent laxity in the discharge of his duty is contemplated, according to Chief Minto, because it happened that the young woman was the proper person to whom the prisoner should have been released she being his daughter.

It seems that the prisoner, Mels Anderson of Portland, was not being held for any serious crime. He is an aged man who had wandered away from his Portland home, and the police there asked that he be held until his daughter could come to Salem and accompany him back home.

"THERE is nothing that has ever taken the place of Bayer Aspirin as an antidote for pain. Safe, or physicians wouldn't use it, and endorse its use by others. Sure, or several million users would have turned to something else. But get real Bayer Aspirin (at any drugstore) with Bayer on the box, and the word genuine printed in red.

HUBBARD PLANS "BIG DOINGS"

Marion and Clackamas County Community Clubs to Picnic August 17

HUBBARD, Ore., Aug. 14.—(Special.) August 17, afternoon evening will be a "red letter day" in the history of Clackamas and Marion county Community clubs at Playmore park here. Games, sports and races of all kinds will be featured; and the big swimming pool, merry-go-round and dance will be free to all. The piece de resistance will be the championship baseball game between the officials of both counties.

A glance at the following list will readily convince the most ardent fan that a real treat is in store for the "rooters." Here is the possible lineup for Marion county: Henry Crawford, Judge McMahon, Sam Koser, Tom Kay, Earl Brownlee, Carl Logan, Senator Reynolds, Grant Boyer, Sheriff Oscar Bower, Charlie Wilson, Dr. Morris, John Hunt of Woodburn, Sam Brown of Gervais, Romeo Goulet, "Jim" Feller of Donah, L. A. Beckman of Hubbard, County Commissioner "Jim" Smith and 30 or 40 substitutes, all stars in their respective positions.

Clackamas Lineup

The lineup of Clackamas county players is quite imposing containing as it does such "league" stars as Judge C. W. Kruse, Sheriff E. T. Mass, Representative Herman Chindgren, Senator Linn E. Jones, County Clerk Donald J. Ryan, Banker H. C. Stephens of Estacada, Editor Gordon J. Taylor of Molalla, Herman Lafky, Al Livingston, M. G. Ellis, Hal Hoss, E. A. Koen, Dr. H. W. Freese and others. Yes, these men have signed up to play and they think they will win from their opponents who are to be men in like positions in Marion county. Circuit Judge Harry Belt, an old time league umpire has signified his willingness to risk his life and time in arbitrating the affair which will be for five or six many innings as the players last time if one doesn't get to bat all the time.

Watermelon Prize
 There will be a prize of watermelon to the winning side and a consolation prize of a bottle of orange liniment to the loser. It is anticipated that this feature will draw a capacity throng to the park.

Frank Thompson, manager of the Hubbard baseball team, will alternate with Judge Belt as umpire and both will be dressed in suits of "pop bottle" proof material.

The Mt. Angel boys' band of 58 pieces will be in attendance and well known vocalists and instrumentalists will take part. Governor Patterson and B. F. Irvine, editor of the Oregon Journal will be the speakers. Greetings from Marion county will be given by Senator Lloyd Reynolds and the response by Howard Belton of Clackamas. The presidents of the two clubs, Dr. P. O. Riley and Merton G. Ellis will be in charge with Percy Canfield of Oregon City who has arranged the Clackamas county program.

This is the annual meeting of the clubs and over 1500 are expected. Dinner will be served at 6:30 at 50 cents per plate. This meeting promises to be a most extraordinary affair.

Wealthy Society Youth Acts As Coolidge Guide

SUPERIOR, Wis., Aug. 14.—(AP)—"Hello, Grant," said a voice over the telephone. "Say can you take my father out fishing today?"

Not much of a request, that, on the face of it, but young Grant McDougall, of Duluth and Detroit shivered and hesitated.

Consider it further, the voice at the other end of the line was that of John Coolidge, trying to help the president out of a jam. He wanted the son of the wealthy McDougall family of shipbuilders to take the place of skilled John Larock, Chippewa guide who was temporarily disabled.

Of course, Grant knew the Brule almost as well as Larock, for the McDougalls have long had a cottage on the river, but paddling oneself among the rocks of the treacherous stream is one matter and having the president of the United States in a prow of the canoe another.

"Well, why, I, uh, uh," stilled young McDougall, who is spending his summer vacation in the north woods, his father, A. T. McDougall, having recently moved to Detroit.

"He doesn't want to miss any fishing," continued John, who met Grant at gatherings of the younger set of Duluth and Superior. It was President Coolidge's idea that the young man might wish to act as his guide for a day.

"Yes, I'll take him," acquiesced McDougall weakly. And he did.

President Coolidge was most talkative during the trip, and he remarked later to John, "makes a good guide."

"Good fisherman," the McDougall family was later informed by Grant as he told them of his experience.

The Flapper Says

UNIVERSITY HERE HAS ANNIVERSARY

Willamette University was 84 years old yesterday. With a deserted summer campus she did not realize the fact.

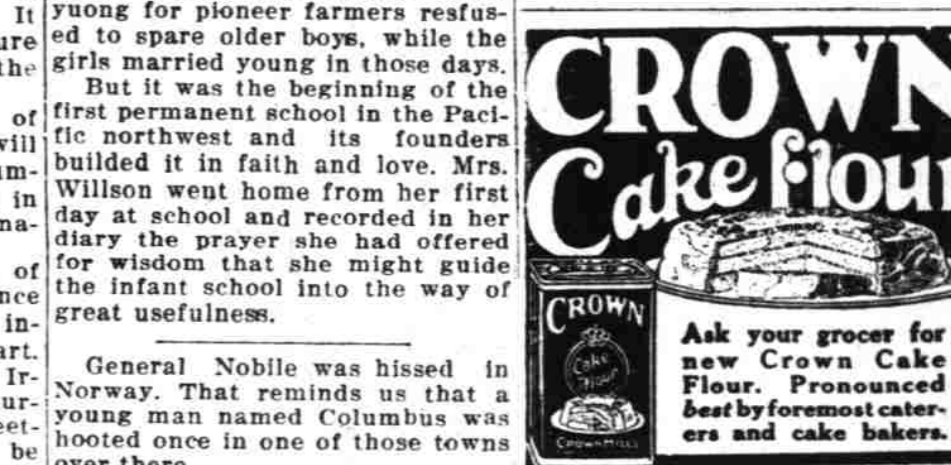

On Tuesday, August 13, 1844, Mrs. Chloe Clarke Wilson opened the first session of the Oregon Institute. (Willamette University after 1853) in the three story frame building purchased from the Missionary Society of the Methodist church. The building stood on the present campus near where the gymnasium now is and had been built under direction of Jason Lee for an Indian school.

The Indians of the valley were a dying race and his fearful frequency with which death visited the school determined Lee's successor, Dr. Gary, to close it and he sold the building to the Oregon Institute for $4,000.

The new school had six pupils registered on the opening day. The country was new with only a small scattered pioneer settlement to be served. The pupils were young for pioneer farmers refused to spare older boys, while the girls married young in those days.

But it was the beginning of the first permanent school in the Pacific northwest and its founders built it in faith and love. Mrs. Wilson went home from her first day at school and recorded in her diary the prayer she had offered for wisdom that she might guide the infant school into the way of great usefulness.

General Noble was hissed in Norway. That reminds us that a young man named Columbus was booed once in one of those towns over there.
