Attractive Gardens Have Summer Opening

FLOWER lovers not only from Salem but also from out of town gathered in large numbers yesterday afternoon and evening between the hours of three and nine o'clock at the attractive grounds surrounding the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Homer H. Smith and Mr. and Mrs. William McGilchrist, Jr., on North Summer street for the first garden "at home" of the summer, arranged under the direction of the Salem Garden club.

The Smith and McGilchrist gardens which cover jointly five large lots, are at the height of their mid-summer beauty at the present time.

The borders which surround the grassy expanses are a blaze of color, brilliant yet never clashing. Phlox, sinias, argeretum, monte brecla, golden glow, marigolds, and petunias are the predominant flowers. A few stadioli, lilacs, hollyhocks are arranged behind the lower-growing varieties against a lavish background of shrubs.
