LAD SELECTEDEugene Boy Loses Out In Contest To Accompany
Byrd On Flight

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Paul A. Siple, 19-year-old Eagle scout of Erie, Pa., today was selected as the boy scout to accompany the Byrd Antarctic expedition. He will be special assistant and orderly to Commander Richard E. Byrd.

Siple stood out at the head of a list of six scouts who had been chosen from eight recommended by local scout councils from thousands of scouts eager to qualify for the position. The entire scout field had been given an opportunity to nominate scouts between 17 and 20 years of age who had certain specified qualifications and experience.

A special committee of boy scout officials reviewed the applications of the 88 boys and selected 17. These were rated by another committee and six were chosen for the final competition.

In announcing Siple's selection, James E. West, chief scout executive, said that any one of the six boys would have made a creditable representative of the boy scout movement. He said that on the basis of ratings, taking into consideration physical fitness, adaptability, courage, stamina, skill, hobbies, initiative, resourcefulness, character and record of outdoor experience, Siple stood out at the head of the list. Mr. West also said that in addition to the ratings by the different groups of scout officials, Siple was the choice of the group of boys themselves.

Siple spent last year as a freshman at Alleghany college, Meadville, Pa., and is an assistant scoutmaster in that city, although his own troop is in Erie. He is a member of the sea scout division and has had some sailing experience. He became a scout in 1921 and has earned 59 scout merit badges.

NEW YORK STOCKS
NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—(AP).—Speculators for the advance, who have been endeavoring to bring about a general rally in the stock market on the strength of improving business conditions, encountered strong resistance again today as a result of another flurry in call money rates. Final quotations were irregular but disclosed a preponderance of gains. More than a score issues were elevated to new high levels for the year, or longer, despite persistent selling of some of the recent industrial favorites. Call money renewed at 6 per cent and advanced, in easy stages, to 7½ in the late afternoon. Banks called $35,000,000 in loans, presumably to strengthen their positions at the Federal Reserve bank, and replacements were slow in making their appearance. The U. S. treasury called for the withdrawal of nearly $20,000,000 in deposits tomorrow, of which more than one-fifth will be from the New York Federal Reserve bank. Pools having become accustomed to violent fluctuations in call money rates, were active in a number of assorted issues. New peak prices for the year, or longer, were reached in many cases. MRS. AGNES LYNE

G. D. SEYMOUR

The greatest metropolis in the world as it is today will be reflected daily in this Associated Press member newspaper through Seymour's "A New Yorker At Large."

EVERY mother and father will follow these daily articles by this recognized authority on children. A graduate of Columbia University, Mrs. Lyne also studied mental hygiene at the New York School of Social Work and obtained her training in psychiatric case work with maladjusted children under famous specialists. Her experience with the normal child came from years as a special teacher of young children, including the position as director of the Drake University Elementary School. As a mother, Mrs. Lyne brings to her scientific attitude a real sympathy and understanding of other mothers and their children.

These are not all! "Screen Life in Hollywood," Wade Werner's accounts of what is happening in the movie capital, will appear daily. Once a week will come "The Broadway Stage," reviewing the latest productions; "A Yankee Abroad," DeWitt Mackenzie's vivid impressions and experiences as a traveling journalist, and "The Literary Lantern," Richard G. Massock's book news reviews. Do not miss a single issue.
